Council Acts to Further Urban Renewal

Advisory Group Is Next Step

HardWorkDoesn't Show for All Yet

Recertification of the city's urban renewal project as required by federal regulation was authorized Tuesday night by the Common Council which also was asked to consider a zoning law amendment to facilitate urban renewal procedure, and the request was left with the laws and rules committee.

Mayor Edwin F. Radel, in a letter to the council, said he would soon name a citizens' advisory committee to assist as the program intensifies.

"I cannot speak too highly of the cooperation that has been extended by all departments in making this urban renewal program a success," he said. As of now, he added, "the greater portion of the work and efforts (in city planning and urban renewal) have not materialized for the public, since most of these efforts were concerned specifically with surveying, planning and behind the scenes work."

In the near future, however, he said, "reports and findings of the various groups will begin to fall into position, and we will be called upon to meet more often and do more work than we had ever believed necessary to make this program a success."

To Name Large Group

As an aid in these efforts, he said, "I will, in the near future, appoint a large, but active group of citizens, who shall be termed the Citizens' Advisory Committee for Urban Renewal and City Planning."

The committee, he noted, will be "the sounding board for administration policies on urban renewal as well as a storehouse of ideas to aid in the success of the program as we envison it."

The report "which we are submitting to the federal government," he said, "is a comprehensive review of what we have accomplished since our original application, and what the year 1961 holds in store during the balance of the term of our contract with Raymond & May Associates (planning consultants) for a comprehensive city plan. It also encompasses a section which reports on the amount of permits issued, inspections made, violations detected, violations corrected, and so on."

Entails Much Work

The program has entailed much work by the planners, planning board and the mayor's office, he noted. The planning board, he said, "has worked feverishly, meeting on the average of four to five times a month" to discuss phases of the program, and "to keep pace with the efforts of Raymond & May Associates, and to coordinate the efforts of both groups towards a favorable and reasonable solution."

The over-all program basically, he said, "is concerned with eliminating blight in the structures of our city, and once we have taken a step forward in this, other steps must be taken to assure other neighborhoods

N. Front, High Road Traffic Is Discussed

Travel over the High Road (East Union Street) and on North Front Street figured in Tuesday night's meeting of the Common Council which recessed until April 18 mainly to consider purchase of public works equipment and the High Road problem.

Re-establishment of two-way travel on North Front Street between Fair and Crown streets on a test basis and proposed solution of a dangerous condition on the High Road were left in committee as was a measure dealing with payroll dues deductions for local civil service employes.

A committee was named to study the feasibility of enacting a dog ordinance.

5 Claims Total $281,350

Five claims totaling $281,350 were referred to the corporation counsel, the highest being $175,000 for injuries suffered in a sidewalk fall and the next of $80,000 being for a skating rink mishap.

The alderman, as expected, authorized U. S. Army engineers to make soil tests along the Esopus Creek within city bounds in conjunction with a proposed flood control project, and a New York Central Railroad official notified the council of a change in switching procedure which is less hampering to travel over the Flatbush Avenue crossing.

Asks for Street List

Alderman Joseph F. Carroll Jr., (R) 11th Ward, noted that Mayor Edwin F. Radel, had not, as he had done previously, submitted to the aldermen his request for their preference of streets in their wards to be repaired or rebuilt this year, and he asked that the mayor request the list.

A bid by Fire Chief James M. Brett for $14,077.27 to be used toward modernization of the fire alarm system was left in committee. He listed the total cost at $15,914, but said a department balance of $1,836.73 in the special appropriations account would be contributed.

The chief was authorized to attend the New York State Fire

Katanga Offers No Opposition To Irish Troops

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—An advance guard of a battalion of Irish U.N. troops flew into riot-torn Elisabethville today and immediately occupied the airport. They met with no resistance from Katanga President Moise Tshombe's army or police.

Sent to Hold Airport

A reliable U.N. source said the Irish had been sent to hold the airport until the arrival of Indian Gurkhas in Elisabethville, a move violently opposed by Tshombe.

The airport's guard of Swedish U.N. troops, who were attacked Tuesday by a rampaging mob incited by Tshombe, retired to their camp on the outskirts of Elisabethville.

The Irish vanguard numbered about 150 troops, heavily armed and in full battle dress.

Another 500 were expected in the next few hours.

Aldermen Praise New Brilliance Of Council Room

A Common Council chamber which had become somber with time was a room of new brilliance as aldermen filed in last night for the April council session.

Its repainting, completed in all but minor detail, drew the praise of all who saw it, and aldermen voiced commendation for the record.

Painted for the first time since remodeling of the building after the 1927 fire, it is redone in light beige on the ceiling with gold and red trim. Its walls are in deeper beige with tan panels and base trims of brown. The upper fringe of bas relief murals and radiators are in gold.

The work was by Frederick A. Genther, of 15 DuBois Street, and LeRoy W. VanBuren, of 13 St. Mary's Street, who were commended for the record by aldermen Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward; John P. Heitzman (D) 12 Ward, and Samuel J. Perry (R) Fifth Ward. Others also congratulated the painters and Alderman Frank C. Sass (D) Seventh Ward, building committee chairman, was commended.

GOP Leads Texas, Loses in St. Louis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republicans flexed their muscles in Texas Tuesday, but St. Louis handed the GOP a setback in its drive to woo big city votes.

Republican John G. Tower, a Goldwater-type Republican, led a field of 70 in the Texas special election to fill the Senate seat left vacant when Lyndon B. Johnson resigned to become vice president.

June 3 Runoff

The only major question remaining as the Texas Election Bureau finished counting the votes was who would face Tower, only Republican on the ballot, in the June 3 runoff.

The race for second place was between Sen. William A. Blakley, currently holding the job by temporary appointment, and Rep. Jim Wright.

Latest returns gave Tower 321,686 votes; Blakley 186,666; Wright 166,776.

In St. Louis, Democrat Raymond R. Tucker won a third, four-year term as mayor by a 41,428-vote margin over Republican Ben H. Lindenbusch. Final, unofficial returns gave Tucker 100,899; Lindenbusch 59,471.

The Republicans had hoped this campaign would mark the first success of their drive to revive the party organization in the big cities, where the GOP fared poorly in last fall's presidential election.

Poulson in Early Lead

Lindenbusch had received strong backing from the Republican National Committee, which put St. Louis at the top of a list of big cities scheduled for special attention.

In other elections, Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson jumped into an early lead over his eight rivals in his bid for a third term and Circuit Judge Myron Gordon, a Democrat, pulled away from former State Atty. Gen. Stewart G. Honeck, a Republican, in the race for the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

In Aurora, Ill., life promises to be quieter for the next four years than it has been for the past

Lefkowitz Backs Wiltwyck School In Esopus Shift

NEW YORK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz is supporting Wiltwyck School for Boys in its court suit for permission to move from Esopus, Ulster County, to Yorktown Heights, Westchester County.

The school's appeal is scheduled for hearing Thursday before an appellate division of the state supreme court in Brooklyn.

Has 100 Boys

The school cares for emotionally disturbed children under 12, and now has 100 of them. The children are referred to the school by the children's court here and by the city department of welfare.

In a friend-of-the-court brief filed Tuesday, Lefkowitz asked that a previous court ruling against the school's moving plans be reversed. Lefkowitz contended the school performs a necessary function of the state.

Supreme Court Justice Hugh S. Coyle in Westchester County ruled last year that the school could not move to Yorktown Heights because of a local zoning ordinance excluding it.

Lefkowitz said local ordinances are not permitted to override state policy or function.

May Abandon School

Yorktown Heights contends that moving the school there would cause property values to drop and would endanger residents.

Wiltwyck officials have said that unless they can move the school within easier traveling distance for staff members and parents of the children, the school may have to be abandoned.

Cease-Fire For Laos Top Issue

Congo, Cuba, Red China on Agenda

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Kennedy met today for talks on world problems.

Of foremost concern was the crisis in Laos and prospects for a cease-fire there.

A fleet of limousines brought the British leader and his ranking foreign affairs advisers into the White House three minutes ahead of the scheduled start of three days of intensive policy discussions.

Meet in Cabinet Room

A bright sun poured down, but the air was cool and crisp.

Macmillan went directly into the White House and was ushered to Kennedy's office where he was greeted by the President.

The whole party then was escorted by Kennedy to the White House rose gardens just outside the presidential office, for pictures.

The Cabinet room was chosen for the formal discussions.

Although many problems of cold war strategy were due to be considered, today's conversations were expected to concentrate on the rather complex British proposal for a Laotian cease-fire.

The British have received indications from the Soviets that Russia will accept the British plan for a verified cease-fire before the beginning of 14-nation talks on pacification of the troubled Asian nation.

Kennedy, leaving an administration policy conference at the State Department Tuesday night, said that "the cease-fire is what we are most anxious to have, and we are hopeful that . . . we'll have one."

Only One of Major Issues

But the critical situation in the distant Southeast Asian kingdom was only one of many major issues scheduled for discussion at the White House meeting. Others include the problem of Red China and a growing movement to give it U.N. membership, the Cuban and Congo situations, the prospect of a crisis later this year over Berlin, and the stalemate in negotiations with Moscow for a nuclear weapons test ban treaty.

The President and prime minister have scheduled four meetings before Macmillan leaves next Sunday for Canada. In addition to morning and afternoon sessions today, they will meet again Thursday afternoon and Saturday morning.

Adenauer Due Next Week

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is due here next week for talks with Kennedy. And the President plans to fly to Europe May 31 to confer with French President Charles de Gaulle.

As meetings can be arranged, Kennedy also expects to confer with Italian leaders and those of other Allied countries.

Macmillan arrived here Tuesday night from the British West Indies. He had flown to Key West, Fla., March 26 to discuss the Laotian crisis with Kennedy, at Kennedy's urgent invitation.

Kennedy and his top advisers are said to feel that the face-to-face discussions with British, French, West German and other Allied government chiefs are of vital importance at this time. It appears that despite various friendly gestures from Soviet Premier Khrushchev at the outset of the Kennedy administration,

New York Waterfront Commission Has Approval for Firmer Racketeer Fight

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Waterfront Commission of New York had New York State's permission today to clamp down more firmly on racketeering on the docks.

The legislation also requires approval of New Jersey before the commission can use the new powers.

Among them are wider jurisdiction over dockworkers and authority to bar strikes called to save jobs of workers caught stealing cargo.

Gov. Rockefeller said Tuesday, in announcing he had signed legislation giving New York's approval, that the enlarged powers were designed to help the eight-year-old commission "complete its elimination of the insidious criminal influences exploiting individual waterfront workers and the public."

New York and New Jersey set up the joint commission after disclosures that criminal elements exercised strong control on the docks of the Port of New York, which includes piers in both states.

In action on other measures:

School Overpasses—The governor made an exception to his stand against authorization for school districts to build, buy or lease walkways for pupils over highways and railroads. He authorized Central School District One in the Towns of Dickinson, Fenton, Chenango and Kirkwood in Broome County to build or buy a pedestrian walk over a railroad. The governor said that, while he felt such facilities should be paid for by other agencies of government, the bill he signed had been drafted to meet a particular, local problem.

Farm Implements — Farm-implement dealers were authorized to transport the implements on other vehicles. Until now, the units being sold could be moved only under their own power or towed by other vehicles.

Sanitary Code — A maximum penalty of $250 fine and a year in jail was set, effective July 1, for each of any repeated violations of the state sanitary code, which sets public health regulations, including those for restaurants and barber shops. The penalty now is a maximum $50 fine and six months in jail for each offense.

In signing the waterfront bill, Rockefeller said he hoped affirmative action would be forthcoming shortly from the New Jersey legislature.

The companion bill in New Jersey is in an Assembly committee, under heavy attack by waterfront union groups. No action is scheduled until later this month.

Democratic Gov. Robert Meyner of New Jersey supports the measure. Minority Democrats in the New York Legislature opposed it on the ground it would hamper legitimate unionism.

The Waterfront Commission said in seeking the enlarged powers that, despite its efforts and existing laws, criminals still operated on the docks. The International Longshoremen's Association had done nothing to cooperate in clean-up efforts, the commission complained.

CUBAN REVOLUTIONARY GROUP FORMED—Prime Minister Fidel Castro, left, and President Osvaldo Dorticos of Cuba flank the first two members of newly organized Union of Rebel Pioneers in Havana. The children, Margarita Gomez, left and Julio Fernandez, are dressed in uniform of group, for children from seven to 13 years old. From this group they will graduate into the Association of Rebel Youths, an educational-military organization of youths 14 to 25 years old. (AP Wirephoto)

State Says 217,784 Pupils Attending Crowded Schools

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —Local school taxes increased only slightly between the last school year and the 1960-61 year, apparently because the state paid a larger share, the State Education Department says.

But great variations exist in taxes levied by school districts, from less than $100 per pupil to more than $700.

The department drew the conclusions Tuesday from its annual statistical report, in which it also noted that public schools in the state were short 15,886 classrooms.

As a result, 217,784 pupils, or 8 per cent of the total enrollment, study in overcrowded, makeshift or temporary classrooms, or attend half-day classes, the department said.

A total of 5,573 rooms, or 35 per cent of those needed, are scheduled for completion this school year, the report noted.

The department's survey was taken at the start of the fall term.

Makeshift facilities included church basements, garages and gymnasiums.

Concerning the tax situation, the department noted that state aid averages $389 per pupil.

"The median tax level," it said, "increased very little from 1959-60 to 1960-61, in contrast to the large increase in median state aid.

"Apparently the increase in state aid provided by the Legislature in 1960 enabled school districts to keep their tax levies down."

Council Acts to Further Urban Renewal

HardWorkDoesn't Show for All Yet

Recertification of the city's urban renewal project as required by federal regulation was authorized Tuesday night by the Common Council which also was asked to consider a zoning law amendment to facilitate urban renewal procedure, and the request was left with the laws and rules committee.

Mayor Edwin F. Radel, in a letter to the council, said he would soon name a citizens' advisory committee to assist as the program intensifies.

"I cannot speak too highly of the cooperation that has been extended by all departments in making this urban renewal program a success," he said. As of now, he added, "the greater portion of the work and efforts (in city planning and urban renewal) have not materialized for the public, since most of these efforts were concerned specifically with surveying, planning and behind the scenes work."

In the near future, however, he said, "reports and findings of the various groups will begin to fall into position, and we will be called upon to meet more often and do more work than we had ever believed necessary to make this program a success."

To Name Large Group

As an aid in these efforts, he said, "I will, in the near future, appoint a large, but active group of citizens, who shall be termed the Citizens' Advisory Committee for Urban Renewal and City Planning."

The committee, he noted, will be "the sounding board for administration policies on urban renewal as well as a storehouse of ideas to aid in the success of the program as we envison it."

The report "which we are submitting to the federal government," he said, "is a comprehensive review of what we have accomplished since our original application, and what the year 1961 holds in store during the balance of the term of our contract with Raymond & May Associates (planning consultants) for a comprehensive city plan. It also encompasses a section which reports on the amount of permits issued, inspections made, violations detected, violations corrected, and so on."

Entails Much Work

The program has entailed much work by the planners, planning board and the mayor's office, he noted. The planning board, he said, "has worked feverishly, meeting on the average of four to five times a month" to discuss phases of the program, and "to keep pace with the efforts of Raymond & May Associates, and to coordinate the efforts of both groups towards a favorable and reasonable solution."

The over-all program basically, he said, "is concerned with eliminating blight in the structures of our city, and once we have taken a step forward in this, other steps must be taken to assure other neighborhoods

N. Front, High Road Traffic Is Discussed

Travel over the High Road (East Union Street) and on North Front Street figured in Tuesday night's meeting of the Common Council which recessed until April 18 mainly to consider purchase of public works equipment and the High Road problem.

Re-establishment of two-way travel on North Front Street between Fair and Crown streets on a test basis and proposed solution of a dangerous condition on the High Road were left in committee as was a measure dealing with payroll dues deductions for local civil service employes.

A committee was named to study the feasibility of enacting a dog ordinance.

5 Claims Total $281,350

Five claims totaling $281,350 were referred to the corporation counsel, the highest being $175,000 for injuries suffered in a sidewalk fall and the next of $80,000 being for a skating rink mishap.

The alderman, as expected, authorized U. S. Army engineers to make soil tests along the Esopus Creek within city bounds in conjunction with a proposed flood control project, and a New York Central Railroad official notified the council of a change in switching procedure which is less hampering to travel over the Flatbush Avenue crossing.

Asks for Street List

Alderman Joseph F. Carroll Jr., (R) 11th Ward, noted that Mayor Edwin F. Radel, had not, as he had done previously, submitted to the aldermen his request for their preference of streets in their wards to be repaired or rebuilt this year, and he asked that the mayor request the list.

A bid by Fire Chief James M. Brett for $14,077.27 to be used toward modernization of the fire alarm system was left in committee. He listed the total cost at $15,914, but said a department balance of $1,836.73 in the special appropriations account would be contributed.

The chief was authorized to attend the New York State Fire

Katanga Offers No Opposition To Irish Troops

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—An advance guard of a battalion of Irish U.N. troops flew into riot-torn Elisabethville today and immediately occupied the airport. They met with no resistance from Katanga President Moise Tshombe's army or police.

Sent to Hold Airport

A reliable U.N. source said the Irish had been sent to hold the airport until the arrival of Indian Gurkhas in Elisabethville, a move violently opposed by Tshombe.

The airport's guard of Swedish U.N. troops, who were attacked Tuesday by a rampaging mob incited by Tshombe, retired to their camp on the outskirts of Elisabethville.

The Irish vanguard numbered about 150 troops, heavily armed and in full battle dress.

Another 500 were expected in the next few hours.

Aldermen Praise New Brilliance Of Council Room

A Common Council chamber which had become somber with time was a room of new brilliance as aldermen filed in last night for the April council session.

Its repainting, completed in all but minor detail, drew the praise of all who saw it, and aldermen voiced commendation for the record.

Painted for the first time since remodeling of the building after the 1927 fire, it is redone in light beige on the ceiling with gold and red trim. Its walls are in deeper beige with tan panels and base trims of brown. The upper fringe of bas relief murals and radiators are in gold.

The work was by Frederick A. Genther, of 15 DuBois Street, and LeRoy W. VanBuren, of 13 St. Mary's Street, who were commended for the record by aldermen Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward; John P. GOP Leads Texas, Loses in St. Louis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republicans flexed their muscles in Texas Tuesday, but St. Louis handed the GOP a setback in its drive to woo big city votes.

Republican John G. Tower, a Goldwater-type Republican, led a field of 70 in the Texas special election to fill the Senate seat left vacant when Lyndon B. Johnson resigned to become vice president.

June 3 Runoff

The only major question remaining as the Texas Election Bureau finished counting the votes was who would face Tower, only Republican on the ballot, in the June 3 runoff.

The race for second place was between Sen. William A. Blakley, currently holding the job by temporary appointment, and Rep. Jim Wright.

Latest returns gave Tower 321,686 votes; Blakley 186,666; Wright 166,776.

In St. Louis, Democrat Raymond R. Tucker won a third, four-year term as mayor by a 41,428-vote margin over Republican Ben H. Lindenbusch. Final, unofficial returns gave Tucker 100,899; Lindenbusch 59,471.

The Republicans had hoped this campaign would mark the first success of their drive to revive the party organization in the big cities, where the GOP fared poorly in last fall's presidential election.

Poulson in Early Lead

Lindenbusch had received strong backing from the Republican National Committee, which put St. Louis at the top of a list of big cities scheduled for special attention.

In other elections, Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson jumped into an early lead over his eight rivals in his bid for a third term and Circuit Judge Myron Gordon, a Democrat, pulled away from former State Atty. Gen. Stewart G. Honeck, a Republican, in the race for the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

Lefkowitz Backs Wiltwyck School In Esopus Shift

NEW YORK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz is supporting Wiltwyck School for Boys in its court suit for permission to move from Esopus, Ulster County, to Yorktown Heights, Westchester County.

The school's appeal is scheduled for hearing Thursday before an appellate division of the state supreme court in Brooklyn.

Has 100 Boys

The school cares for emotionally disturbed children under 12, and now has 100 of them. The children are referred to the school by the children's court here and by the city department of welfare.

In a friend-of-the-court brief filed Tuesday, Lefkowitz asked that a previous court ruling against the school's moving plans be reversed. Lefkowitz contended the school performs a necessary function of the state.

Supreme Court Justice Hugh S. Coyle in Westchester County ruled last year that the school could not move to Yorktown Heights because of a local zoning ordinance excluding it.

Lefkowitz said local ordinances are not permitted to override state policy or function.

May Abandon School

Yorktown Heights contends that moving the school there would cause property values to drop and would endanger residents.

Wiltwyck officials have said that unless they can move the school within easier traveling distance for staff members and parents of the children, the school may have to be abandoned.

Cease-Fire For Laos Top Issue

Congo, Cuba, Red China on Agenda

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Kennedy met today for talks on world problems.

Of foremost concern was the crisis in Laos and prospects for a cease-fire there.

A fleet of limousines brought the British leader and his ranking foreign affairs advisers into the White House three minutes ahead of the scheduled start of three days of intensive policy discussions.

Meet in Cabinet Room

A bright sun poured down, but the air was cool and crisp.

Macmillan went directly into the White House and was ushered to Kennedy's office where he was greeted by the President.

The whole party then was escorted by Kennedy to the White House rose gardens just outside the presidential office, for pictures.

The Cabinet room was chosen for the formal discussions.

Although many problems of cold war strategy were due to be considered, today's conversations were expected to concentrate on the rather complex British proposal for a Laotian cease-fire.

The British have received indications from the Soviets that Russia will accept the British plan for a verified cease-fire before the beginning of 14-nation talks on pacification of the troubled Asian nation.

Kennedy, leaving an administration policy conference at the State Department Tuesday night, said that "the cease-fire is what we are most anxious to have, and we are hopeful that . . . we'll have one."

Only One of Major Issues

But the critical situation in the distant Southeast Asian kingdom was only one of many major issues scheduled for discussion at the White House meeting. Others include the problem of Red China and a growing movement to give it U.N. membership, the Cuban and Congo situations, the prospect of a crisis later this year over Berlin, and the stalemate in negotiations with Moscow for a nuclear weapons test ban treaty.

The President and prime minister have scheduled four meetings before Macmillan leaves next Sunday for Canada. In addition to morning and afternoon sessions today, they will meet again Thursday afternoon and Saturday morning.

Adenauer Due Next Week

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is due here next week for talks with Kennedy. And the President plans to fly to Europe May 31 to confer with French President Charles de Gaulle.

As meetings can be arranged, Kennedy also expects to confer with Italian leaders and those of other Allied countries.

Macmillan arrived here Tuesday night from the British West Indies. He had flown to Key West, Fla., March 26 to discuss the Laotian crisis with Kennedy, at Kennedy's urgent invitation.

Kennedy and his top advisers are said to feel that the face-to-face discussions with British, French, West German and other Allied government chiefs are of vital importance at this time. It appears that despite various friendly gestures from Soviet Premier Khrushchev at the outset of the Kennedy administration,

New York Waterfront Commission Has Approval for Firmer Racketeer Fight

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Waterfront Commission of New York had New York State's permission today to clamp down more firmly on racketeering on the docks.

The legislation also requires approval of New Jersey before the commission can use the new powers.

Among them are wider jurisdiction over dockworkers and authority to bar strikes called to save jobs of workers caught stealing cargo.

Gov. Rockefeller said Tuesday, in announcing he had signed legislation giving New York's approval, that the enlarged powers were designed to help the eight-year-old commission "complete its elimination of the insidious criminal influences exploiting individual waterfront workers and the public."

New York and New Jersey set up the joint commission after disclosures that criminal elements exercised strong control on the docks of the Port of New York, which includes piers in both states.

In action on other measures:

School Overpasses—The governor made an exception to his stand against authorization for school districts to build, buy or lease walkways for pupils over highways and railroads. He authorized Central School District One in the Towns of Dickinson, Fenton, Chenango and Kirkwood in Broome County to build or buy a pedestrian walk over a railroad. The governor said that, while he felt such facilities should be paid for by other agencies of government, the bill he signed had been drafted to meet a particular, local problem.

Farm Implements — Farm-implement dealers were authorized to transport the implements on other vehicles. Until now, the units being sold could be moved only under their own power or towed by other vehicles.

Sanitary Code — A maximum penalty of $250 fine and a year in jail was set, effective July 1, for each of any repeated violations of the state sanitary code, which sets public health regulations, including those for restaurants and barber shops. The penalty now is a maximum $50 fine and six months in jail for each offense.

In signing the waterfront bill, Rockefeller said he hoped affirmative action would be forthcoming shortly from the New Jersey legislature.

The companion bill in New Jersey is in an Assembly committee, under heavy attack by waterfront union groups. No action is scheduled until later this month.

Democratic Gov. Robert Meyner of New Jersey supports the measure. Minority Democrats in the New York Legislature opposed it on the ground it would hamper legitimate unionism.

The Waterfront Commission said in seeking the enlarged powers that, despite its efforts and existing laws, criminals still operated on the docks. The International Longshoremen's Association had done nothing to cooperate in clean-up efforts, the commission complained.

CUBAN REVOLUTIONARY GROUP FORMED—Prime Minister Fidel Castro, left, and President Osvaldo Dorticos of Cuba flank the first two members of newly organized Union of Rebel Pioneers in Havana. The children, Margarita Gomez, left and Julio Fernandez, are dressed in uniform of group, for children from seven to 13 years old. From this group they will graduate into the Association of Rebel Youths, an educational-military organization of youths 14 to 25 years old. (AP Wirephoto)

State Says 217,784 Pupils Attending Crowded Schools

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —Local school taxes increased only slightly between the last school year and the 1960-61 year, apparently because the state paid a larger share, the State Education Department says.

But great variations exist in taxes levied by school districts, from less than $100 per pupil to more than $700.

The department drew the conclusions Tuesday from its annual statistical report, in which it also noted that public schools in the state were short 15,886 classrooms.

As a result, 217,784 pupils, or 8 per cent of the total enrollment, study in overcrowded, makeshift or temporary classrooms, or attend half-day classes, the department said.

A total of 5,573 rooms, or 35 per cent of those needed, are scheduled for completion this school year, the report noted.

The department's survey was taken at the start of the fall term.

Makeshift facilities included church basements, garages and gymnasiums.

Concerning the tax situation, the department noted that state aid averages $389 per pupil.

"The median tax level," it said, "increased very little from 1959-60 to 1960-61, in contrast to the large increase in median state aid.

"Apparently the increase in state aid provided by the Legislature in 1960 enabled school districts to keep their tax levies down."

School Officials Urge Early Bond Issue Vote on April 10

Because of the exceptionally high registration, Onteora Central School Districts officials today urged that as many persons as possible vote during the afternoon of April 10, when a total of 3181 eligible voters are scheduled to converge on four polling centers in the district.

At stake is the fate of the $1,016,500 bond issue designed to finance the cost of an 11-room addition at the Woodstock school and a new eight-room school at Phoenicia.

The registration total of 3181 is two and one half times greater than any previous vote recorded in the history of the school district.

"It seems obvious that if all the 3181 eligible voters turn out, there is bound to be late hour congestion," District Principal William H. Deming said. "We are, therefore, urging as many people as possible to cast their votes between 2 p. m. and 6 p. m."

The polls will be open from 2 p. m. to 9 p. m.

Deming said every effort would be made to accommodate all persons wishing to vote.

"The only stipulation is that late comers must be inside the building by 9 p. m.," he said. "All persons in the building by the 9 o'clock deadline will be permitted to vote no matter how long it takes."

H. Schimmerling Views Austrian Political Scene

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a two-part article on observations of the current Austrian political system by Prof. Hanus A. Schimmerling of Woodstock):

The progressiveness of the Socialists (again I would like to call them rather Social-Democrats than Socialists) is admirable. Buildings, such as recreation homes, schools for workers and apprentices, asylums of all kind, union hospitals, chambers for employes and workers, etc. are the most modern and up-to-date, most sanitary and advanced institutions I saw.

I was invited to inspect them, to converse with their directors, medical authorities in charge, their teachers and other officials, and even inmates. I was invited to their classrooms, chorus rehearsals and to have breakfast or lunch with them. I was invited to see and talk to the contractors who build new homes, or converted villas and palaces, formerly owned by rich industrialists, into schools, hospitals, libraries. True, the unions are not one-party institutions, but according to the percentage represented among the members, they are actually Socialist.

Others Indifferent

The other Party did not show me much. Whether they don't care to impress foreigners or whether they don't have much to show is another question. Opponents of thet Socialists explain sluggishness in their own camp by saying: "the others have all the money." So I have to ask: "Why do they have it?" There are a few answers to this question. Anyway, the money seems to be spent reasonably.

On the other hand, the Ministry of Education is controlled by the People's Party and education, as previously reported in this column, is on a very high level in Austria. The same can be said of some other institutions controlled by the People's Party. So it seems that there is a sensible bi-partisan administration that has achieved a lot, especially if one considers that this has been started only a few years ago and was built up out of ruins and destruction, disasters and famine (see the reports of the School Administration of the City of Vienna). This proves again that civilization can be destroyed but culture is immortal. And nobody who knows Austrian history can be doubtful as to her cultural achievements.

P. S. Salzburg, the native town of Mozart, obviously wanted to make up for some crimes committed under the flag of "The Third Reich." The wonderful promenade path up the "Capucine Mountain" is named after one of Austria's great writers, Stefan Zweig, a Jew of world recognition. But who painted in 1960 the Zion star on one of these street signs reading "Stefan Zweig Weg" (weg meaning "way")? H. A. SCHIMMERLING.

Art Historian In Lecture at Albany Hall

The dean of American art historians will speak in Albany on Wednesday, April 12, at 8:30 p. m., at the Albany Institute of History and Art. The program is being opened to the public so that all who wish to hear Dr. Edgar Preston Richardson, Director of the Detroit Insitute of Arts, may do so. Anyone in Albany or surrounding area is welcome.

Dr. Richardson's subject is American painting which he will intersperse with philosophy and comments in the inter-relationship of American novelists and poets especially of the Hudson River Valley. Known the world over in the field of art history, Dr. Richardson is also editor of the Art Quarterly and head of the Archives of American Art, recently granted an award by the Ford Foundation.

The title of his talk will be "The Dream of Antiquity" and one aspect of the illustrated lecture will be to place the kind of portrait style to which Ezra Ames, the Albany painter, belongs in the movement of classicism in America. The historical range of this talk on American painting is from the American attempt to capture Quebec, by Thomas Cole. Dr. Richardson covered these subjects in his book Painting in America—The Story of 450 years, published in 1956 by Crowell, for which Union College gave him an honorary degree. His book is the first comprehensive work of its kind.

Olive Assessors Write a Letter

The following letter has been addressed to this column by three members of the Board of Assessors in the Town of Olive—Homer Markle Jr., chairman; E. Lee Denman and Lorin Barringer.

The letter follows:

"We were a little amused the other day when a madam councilman from Shandaken who runs a local newspaper on the side stated in an editorial that "house-trailers (which families reside in permanently) are not even ASSESSED in the Town of Olive." The editor-councilman then asked, "Who's making up the difference and paying for the education of the children in these trailers, some of which are more costly and more luxurious than highly-as-assessed houses?"

"Quite obviously the madam councilman-editor is neither informed nor has she taken time to check her statements. We're told that a good newspaperman always checks the facts! If she had taken a moment to make one or two telephone calls to any of the three Olive assessors, she would have learned that house-trailers in the Town of Olive ARE ASSESSED. House-trailers in Olive have always been assessed when assessable. May we suggest that the councilman also talk with her own hometown assessors as well as those in Woodstock.

"When a trailer is put on a piece of land, it obviously cannot be on the assessment books between the closing of the books in June and the opening of the assessment books AFTER the tax rolls have been made up. Naturally, these parcels cannot be assessed until the new tax rolls are received by the assessors.

"In the same issue of her newspaper, confusing references and facts are made of a "land-and-homes-developer" who through some sort of a "deal" involving several houses had a "zero" assessment value. Reference in this story was also made to former Onteora Supervising Principal John H. Moehle. As assessors for the Town of Olive, would the editor kindly furnish us with pertinent but clear facts regarding this issue?"

Question Box On Bond Issue

Following is another in a series of questions and answers relating to the forthcoming Onteora Central School District bond issue vote on April 10:

Q. Are bond payments for the Bennett building included in the 1960-61 tax levy?

A. Yes.

Q. Will the 1951-62 tax levy include bond payments for the proposed building program?

A. No. Bond payments will not be included in the tax levy until the 1962-63 school year.

Q. Has the State Education Department approved the plans for the proposed building program?

A. Yes.

Q. What is the date of the special district meeting to vote on the bond issue?

A. The special district meeting to vote on the bond issue will be held on Monday, April 10, from 2 to 9 p. m. at the following polling centers: Town of Shandaken and Lexington at town hall, Shandaken; town of Olive and Marbletown, gymnasium, main building at Boiceville; town of Woodstock, gymnasium, elementary school building; town of Hurley, gymnasium, West Hurley school building.

Phoenicia Hotel Offers Help In Cancer Drive

In order to assist in current Cancer Foundation campaign in Ulster County, Mrs. Louise Cassese, proprietor of the Phoenicia Hotel, has offered to serve a full course roast beef dinner, the price of which will be a contribution in any amount the person wishes to the American Cancer Society.

Servings will be on Saturday, April 8, with dinner between 5 p. m. and 9 p. m. The cost is a tax deductible contribution in your name to the cancer fund.

Mrs. William H. McGrath, chairman of the Town of Shandaken Cancer Committee, points out that doctors and researchers now believe they are on the very brink of discovering a cure for cancer, or possibly even a vaccine to prevent its start. "It may be that the 1961 Cancer Fund drive will raise the necessary funds to make this belief a reality," she said in commending Mrs. Cassese for her generous offer.

Pre-School P-TA Meets on April 11

The Onteora Pre-School section of the P-TA will hold its first meeting of the season on Tuesday, April 11, at 8:15 in the main building at Boiceville.

Dr. Henry Lampl, the school psychologist for the Onteora district, will discuss child psychology and answer questions relating to children.

The meeting is scheduled in in the Home Economics room and all parents are invited. Refreshments will be served.

P-TA Meeting

The Woodstock P-TA's postponed meeting will be held Thursday, April 13 and not Friday, the 14th, as announced yesterday.

Man Who Testified In Murder Trial Is Found Slain

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Police today were investigating the fatal stabbing of a former cab driver who was a prosecution witness in a murder trial here two years ago.

The body of Boris (Tiny) Briskin, 28, of Rochester, was found Tuesday night by his parked automobile on the city's Northwest side. He had been stabbed once, police said.

Briskin testified in Monroe County Court in May 1959 that he saw Eleanor Jo Anne Wilson, 23, leave a downtown tavern with George Fisher, then 46, of North Syracuse on the morning of Dec. 23, 1958.

Fisher, a salesman, later was found unconscious in a motel in suburban Brighton. He died Jan. 13, 1959 of a beating.

Miss Wilson was convicted on a first-degree manslaughter charge and was sentenced to 7 to 15 years in Westfield State Farm at Bedford Hills. Joseph J. Sobb, 22, charged with first-degree murder, was found innocent.

Four Days Lost Because Bolts, Holes Don't Meet

ROUND LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — Those gremlins crept in somewhere along the line between the blueprints and construction of a railroad overpass.

According to the blueprints:

The bolts were embedded correctly in the concrete piers.

The holes were drilled correctly through the eight-inch steel of the two-ton expansion shoes that are to support the beams.

But when they hoisted the shoes into place Tuesday—lo, the gremlins—bolts and holes were off 3 inches.

A tool company was summoned to drill new holes.

The four-hour delay was taken in stride because the contractor had given advance notice that a stretch of Route 9 would be closed for the day's work south of this Saratoga County community.

The State Public Works Department said everything were "normally."

Meat Cutters to Strike Friday Against Upstate Market Chain

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Meat cutters, charging management was out to "destroy our union by refusing to bargain with us," have called a strike Friday against the Loblaw Supermarket chain in much of Upstate New York.

More than 75 stores are affected.

Samuel J. Talarico of Utica, district leader of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters, Butchers, and Affiliated Crafts, announced the decision Tuesday after negotiations broke up between the union and six supermarket chains operating Upstate.

The chains, represented by the Food Employers Association, said the union wanted to "disrupt our solidarity" by insisting on separate negotiations.

Talarico said Loblaw's had rejected a union offer to extend the labor contract for 30 days. Loblaw's contract expired Sunday.

Contracts with the other chains expire between April 9 and 17.

Talarico said the union would decide what action to take against the other chains when their contracts expire.

They are the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., American Stores (Acme), Victory-Johnson, P & C and Harts.

Neither side revealed the wage issues at stake.

A spokesman for the management group accused the union of "repeated refusal to bargain in good faith." He said the management group would file charges of unfair labor pratices with the National Labor Relations Board.

The union previously charged that management was engaging in unfair labor practices by refusing to bargain individually.

"Loblaw's has banded together (with the other chains) to destroy our union by refusing to bargain with us," Talarico said.

Meanwhile, Federal Mediator James J. Carroll, who participated in Tuesday's talks, said another meeting would be arranged by a federal mediation board.

The union claims 2,000 members in Loblaw stores and nearly 9,000 in stores of the six chains. The union represents meat cutters, grocery and produce clerks, and cashiers.

The affected Loblaw stores are distributed between Rochester and Schenectady, including units in Syracuse, Utica, Binghamton, Elmira and Watertown.

Not affected are more than 150 other Loblaw stores from Buffalo south and west into Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Marshack Wins Stay

Herbert Marshack, 45, New Baltimore resident, won a week stay before Greene County Judge Roy C. Moon Monday when his counsel, Michael LeSawyer of Hudson, asked for a postponement of a plea to give time to move for a trial stay before the Appellate Division. LeSawyer asked for three weeks but Judge Moon granted one week. Marshack faces a 10-count morals charge indictment returned last December. Marshack appeared in court for arraignment when his counsel asked for postponement. Greene County District Attorney Alex Wiltse Jr., opposed the requested three week's postponement. It is contended Marshack's constitutional rights have been infringed.

School Officials Urge Early Bond Issue Vote on April 10

Because of the exceptionally high registration, Onteora Central School Districts officials today urged that as many persons as possible vote during the afternoon of April 10, when a total of 3181 eligible voters are scheduled to converge on four polling centers in the district.

At stake is the fate of the $1,016,500 bond issue designed to finance the cost of an 11-room addition at the Woodstock school and a new eight-room school at Phoenicia.

The registration total of 3181 is two and one half times greater than any previous vote recorded in the history of the school district.

"It seems obvious that if all the 3181 eligible voters turn out, there is bound to be late hour congestion," District Principal William H. Deming said. "We are, therefore, urging as many people as possible to cast their votes between 2 p. m. and 6 p. m."

The polls will be open from 2 p. m. to 9 p. m.

Deming said every effort would be made to accommodate all persons wishing to vote.

"The only stipulation is that late comers must be inside the building by 9 p. m.," he said. "All persons in the building by the 9 o'clock deadline will be permitted to vote no matter how long it takes."

H. Schimmerling Views Austrian Political Scene

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a two-part article on observations of the current Austrian political system by Prof. Hanus A. Schimmerling of Woodstock):

The progressiveness of the Socialists (again I would like to call them rather Social-Democrats than Socialists) is admirable. Buildings, such as recreation homes, schools for workers and apprentices, asylums of all kind, union hospitals, chambers for employes and workers, etc. are the most modern and up-to-date, most sanitary and advanced institutions I saw.

I was invited to inspect them, to converse with their directors, medical authorities in charge, their teachers and other officials, and even inmates. I was invited to their classrooms, chorus rehearsals and to have breakfast or lunch with them. I was invited to see and talk to the contractors who build new homes, or converted villas and palaces, formerly owned by rich industrialists, into schools, hospitals, libraries. True, the unions are not one-party institutions, but according to the percentage represented among the members, they are actually Socialist.

Others Indifferent

The other Party did not show me much. Whether they don't care to impress foreigners or whether they don't have much to show is another question. Opponents of thet Socialists explain sluggishness in their own camp by saying: "the others have all the money." So I have to ask: "Why do they have it?" There are a few answers to this question. Anyway, the money seems to be spent reasonably.

On the other hand, the Ministry of Education is controlled by the People's Party and education, as previously reported in this column, is on a very high level in Austria. The same can be said of some other institutions controlled by the People's Party. So it seems that there is a sensible bi-partisan administration that has achieved a lot, especially if one considers that this has been started only a few years ago and was built up out of ruins and destruction, disasters and famine (see the reports of the School Administration of the City of Vienna). This proves again that civilization can be destroyed but culture is immortal. And nobody who knows Austrian history can be doubtful as to her cultural achievements.

P. S. Salzburg, the native town of Mozart, obviously wanted to make up for some crimes committed under the flag of "The Third Reich." The wonderful promenade path up the "Capucine Mountain" is named after one of Austria's great writers, Stefan Zweig, a Jew of world recognition. But who painted in 1960 the Zion star on one of these street signs reading "Stefan Zweig Weg" (weg meaning "way")? H. A. SCHIMMERLING.

Art Historian In Lecture at Albany Hall

The dean of American art historians will speak in Albany on Wednesday, April 12, at 8:30 p. m., at the Albany Institute of History and Art. The program is being opened to the public so that all who wish to hear Dr. Edgar Preston Richardson, Director of the Detroit Insitute of Arts, may do so. Anyone in Albany or surrounding area is welcome.

Dr. Richardson's subject is American painting which he will intersperse with philosophy and comments in the inter-relationship of American novelists and poets especially of the Hudson River Valley. Known the world over in the field of art history, Dr. Richardson is also editor of the Art Quarterly and head of the Archives of American Art, recently granted an award by the Ford Foundation.

The title of his talk will be "The Dream of Antiquity" and one aspect of the illustrated lecture will be to place the kind of portrait style to which Ezra Ames, the Albany painter, belongs in the movement of classicism in America. The historical range of this talk on American painting is from the American attempt to capture Quebec, by Thomas Cole. Dr. Richardson covered these subjects in his book Painting in America—The Story of 450 years, published in 1956 by Crowell, for which Union College gave him an honorary degree. His book is the first comprehensive work of its kind.

Olive Assessors Write a Letter

The following letter has been addressed to this column by three members of the Board of Assessors in the Town of Olive—Homer Markle Jr., chairman; E. Lee Denman and Lorin Barringer.

The letter follows:

"We were a little amused the other day when a madam councilman from Shandaken who runs a local newspaper on the side stated in an editorial that "house-trailers (which families reside in permanently) are not even ASSESSED in the Town of Olive." The editor-councilman then asked, "Who's making up the difference and paying for the education of the children in these trailers, some of which are more costly and more luxurious than highly-as-assessed houses?"

"Quite obviously the madam councilman-editor is neither informed nor has she taken time to check her statements. We're told that a good newspaperman always checks the facts! If she had taken a moment to make one or two telephone calls to any of the three Olive assessors, she would have learned that house-trailers in the Town of Olive ARE ASSESSED. House-trailers in Olive have always been assessed when assessable. May we suggest that the councilman also talk with her own home-town assessors as well as those in Woodstock.

"When a trailer is put on a piece of land, it obviously cannot be on the assessment books between the closing of the books in June and the opening of the assessment books AFTER the tax rolls have been made up. Naturally, these parcels cannot be assessed until the new tax rolls are received by the assessors.

"In the same issue of her newspaper, confusing references and facts are made of a "land-and-homes-developer" who through some sort of a "deal" involving several houses had a "zero" assessment value. Reference in this story was also made to former Onteora Supervising Principal John H. Moehle. As assessors for the Town of Olive, would the editor kindly furnish us with pertinent but clear facts regarding this issue?"

Question Box On Bond Issue

Following is another in a series of questions and answers relating to the forthcoming Onteora Central School District bond issue vote on April 10:

Q. Are bond payments for the Bennett building included in the 1960-61 tax levy?

A. Yes.

Q. Will the 1951-62 tax levy include bond payments for the proposed building program?

A. No. Bond payments will not be included in the tax levy until the 1962-63 school year.

Q. Has the State Education Department approved the plans for the proposed building program?

A. Yes.

Q. What is the date of the special district meeting to vote on the bond issue?

A. The special district meeting to vote on the bond issue will be held on Monday, April 10, from 2 to 9 p. m. at the following polling centers: Town of Shandaken and Lexington at town hall, Shandaken; town of Olive and Marbletown, gymnasium, main building at Boiceville; town of Woodstock, gymnasium, elementary school building; town of Hurley, gymnasium, West Hurley school building.

Phoenicia Hotel Offers Help In Cancer Drive

In order to assist in current Cancer Foundation campaign in Ulster County, Mrs. Louise Cassese, proprietor of the Phoenicia Hotel, has offered to serve a full course roast beef dinner, the price of which will be a contribution in any amount the person wishes to the American Cancer Society.

Servings will be on Saturday, April 8, with dinner between 5 p. m. and 9 p. m. The cost is a tax deductible contribution in your name to the cancer fund.

Mrs. William H. McGrath, chairman of the Town of Shandaken Cancer Committee, points out that doctors and researchers now believe they are on the very brink of discovering a cure for cancer, or possibly even a vaccine to prevent its start. "It may be that the 1961 Cancer Fund drive will raise the necessary funds to make this belief a reality," she said in commending Mrs. Cassese for her generous offer.

Man Who Testified In Murder Trial Is Found Slain

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Police today were investigating the fatal stabbing of a former cab driver who was a prosecution witness in a murder trial here two years ago.

The body of Boris (Tiny) Briskin, 28, of Rochester, was found Tuesday night by his parked automobile on the city's Northwest side. He had been stabbed once, police said.

Briskin testified in Monroe County Court in May 1959 that he saw Eleanor Jo Anne Wilson, 23, leave a downtown tavern with George Fisher, then 46, of North Syracuse on the morning of Dec. 23, 1958.

Fisher, a salesman, later was found unconscious in a motel in suburban Brighton. He died Jan. 13, 1959 of a beating.

Miss Wilson was convicted on a first-degree manslaughter charge and was sentenced to 7 to 15 years in Westfield State Farm at Bedford Hills. Joseph J. Sobb, 22, charged with first-degree murder, was found innocent.

Four Days Lost Because Bolts, Holes Don't Meet

ROUND LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — Those gremlins crept in somewhere along the line between the blueprints and construction of a railroad overpass.

According to the blueprints:

The bolts were embedded correctly in the concrete piers.

The holes were drilled correctly through the eight-inch steel of the two-ton expansion shoes that are to support the beams.

But when they hoisted the shoes into place Tuesday—lo, the gremlins—bolts and holes were off 3 inches.

A tool company was summoned to drill new holes.

The four-hour delay was taken in stride because the contractor had given advance notice that a stretch of Route 9 would be closed for the day's work south of this Saratoga County community.

The State Public Works Department said everything were "normally."

Meat Cutters to Strike Friday Against Upstate Market Chain

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Meat cutters, charging management was out to "destroy our union by refusing to bargain with us," have called a strike Friday against the Loblaw Supermarket chain in much of Upstate New York.

More than 75 stores are affected.

Samuel J. Talarico of Utica, district leader of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters, Butchers, and Affiliated Crafts, announced the decision Tuesday after negotiations broke up between the union and six supermarket chains operating Upstate.

The chains, represented by the Food Employers Association, said the union wanted to "disrupt our solidarity" by insisting on separate negotiations.

Talarico said Loblaw's had rejected a union offer to extend the labor contract for 30 days. Loblaw's contract expired Sunday.

Contracts with the other chains expire between April 9 and 17.

Talarico said the union would decide what action to take against the other chains when their contracts expire.

They are the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., American Stores (Acme), Victory-Johnson, P & C and Harts.

Neither side revealed the wage issues at stake.

A spokesman for the management group accused the union of "repeated refusal to bargain in good faith." He said the management group would file charges of unfair labor pratices with the National Labor Relations Board.

SOME SOVIET REALITIES

Philip E. Mosely, an expert on Russian affairs, has written for Foreign Affairs quarterly an appraisal of what he calls "Soviet Myths and Realities." His effort amounts to a most enlightening examination of current opinions and beliefs commonly held in the West about its chief rival.

He notes, for instance, that observers here have asked whether Khrushchev's power is secure or whether, as has been rumored, he has powerful adversaries in the Kremlin who but wait for him to stumble. In Mosely's opinion, this notion that Khrushchev may be a bit unsteady in the saddle is a clever fabrication advanced by the premier himself. In order to win concessions from the West, says Mosely, Khrushchev pleads for support of demands on the grounds that were he to fall any successor would be much more rigid.

Even more widely accepted is the belief that as the educational and economic level of the Russian people improves, the Soviet political system will be forced to moderate. Mosely doubts this very much, citing evidence to the contrary. Rather as the standard of living goes from little under the Tsars and Stalin himself to much more under Khrushchev, the people have rewarded the latter with almost complete confidence in their leader's aggressive foreign policy.

This expert in Soviet affairs concludes soberly that the West can hardly afford to sit back waiting for the regime to collapse from within, for actually the contrary is indicated. Khrushchev seems to grow stronger. If his policies are to be thwarted, we in the West must get up off haunches of ease and luxury and see to it.

LUXURY HAS APPEAL

The reluctance of American automobile manufacturers a few years back to turn out economy cars may have been grounded in the conviction that most domestic buyers prized luxury above gas mileage. But sales trends indicate that car makers had some reason to be uneasy about the appeal of small cars.

The U. S. consumer has not shunned American compacts. Far from it. They account for some 25 per cent of the market. However, the sales curve indicates that the average buyer is not immune to luxury. He wants more than mere transportation.

The Wall Street Journal quotes one automobile executive as saying that if the appeal were made solely to economy, car makers would go broke. Statistics show that while small cars are selling well and the swing away from long, low, hard-to-park gas eaters continues, the most popular compact is the luxury model. Gear-shift cars use less gas, for instance, but compacts with automatic transmissions are preferred. So are those with power steering, more horsepower, whitewall tires, carpeting and upholstery that matches the exterior.

The U. S. automobile, in short, though not the out-sized status symbol of yore, is not ready to knuckle under to the penny-pincher. More luxurious compacts are on the way. Indications are that unless manufacturers overshoot the mark, the public will not be displeased.

It has been said Kennedy is making the the presidency more of a one-man show than Eisenhower did. What there'll be to show for it is the really important thing.

WELL WORTH REPEATING

Last year 114 people, mostly children, died as the result of misusing the kind of thin plastic film now generally employed in dry cleaning bags.

Alarmed by summary reports of such deaths from 49 to 50 state health officers, the National Safety Council is wisely warning parents again to take extreme care to prevent these mishaps.

In the council's view, plastic film belongs with matches, medicines and knives as things to be kept out of children's reach. They have just one bit of hard counsel which ought to be broadcast far and wide:

"When a plastic bag has served its intended use, tear it up, tie it in a knot, or better yet, destroy it completely."

Men who act as though they're trying to prove they have eternal youth are likely to become infernal bores.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

DO WE HAVE ALLIES?

Step by step, Soviet Russia is proving to the United States that this country has no allies upon whom it can surely and absolutely depend. This is undoubtedly in the nature of the loose alliance which NATO and SEATO have established. It is also in the nature of the conduct of American foreign policy over the years.

For instance, no event that has occurred in recent years has been as damaging to Great Britain and France as Nasser's victory at Suez. Nasser sat tight and watched the United States pull him out of a hole. Then he became a positive neutralist; that is, he supports Soviet Russian policy. Does anyone assume that France has ever forgotten that?

Or is France forgetting that Algeria has been sapping the life blood of France and that the United States is as neutral between France and Algeria as Nasser is between the United States and Soviet Russia?

It was the United States that supported every anti-British movement in Asia; it was the United States which encouraged the natives to drive the Dutch out of Indonesia and the French out of Indo-China. We had adopted a rigid program of doctrinaire anti-colonialism, with the result that we have severely damaged our allies and paved the way for Soviet conquests. With what mien do we now turn to our allies to support our policy in Laos? It is much like the attitude of our allies in the United Nations who are refusing to pay their contributions to the handling of the Congo situation. They wonder why they should pay for our program in the Congo, carried out by Dag Hammarskjold, when there was no logical explanation for pushing the Belgians out of the Congo, just as there is no logical explanation for pushing the Portuguese out of Angola.

In a word, it is becoming very expensive to be an American ally. This was foreseen during the early days of the Marshall Plan and was widely discussed. Herbert Hoover's concept of "Fortress America" which offended all liberals makes more sense today than when it was first proposed.

President Kennedy's approach to the Laos question was correct. Soviet Russia is invading that area with the object of ultimately taking Cambodia, Malaya, and Thailand. Thus, the Soviet Universal State would move swiftly into the Indian Ocean from Southwest China and would thus make it very difficult, if not impossible to defend Formosa, the Philippines and Japan from Red Chinese aggression.

It is too often forgotten that we fought a war, costly in life and wealth, against Japan for seeking to establish a hegemony over precisely this territory. Why was it more evil to do this in 1941 than it is for Soviet Russia to do it in 1961? What happened to the world during these 20 years that makes it so cowardly?

Perhaps the principal event that took the guts out of nations was the Korean War which the United States lost to Red China. As soon as we lost that war, every nation, particularly the small ones, had to review and reconsider its policy because a mighty power had been defeated by a weak and backward one. The very words seem silly but even a silliness can be a reality and the Korean War, fought without logic or logistics, was both silly and a reality. It gave the United States a bad name, particularly in Asia where defeat can never be explained away.

I was once associated with a Chinese Tuchun (Warlord) who was engaged in civil war. His name was Chi Shih-yuan and he was quite a competent man. But his Chief-of-Staff, looking at a new map, mistook a river for a road and he was stuck. That ended Tuchun Chi. He fled to Japan. He had not yet been defeated but he had lost face and what troops would be willing to follow a Warlord who had lost face?

This is characteristic of Asiatic tradition. Therefore when the United States lost face in Korea, we lost the respect of all those peoples. Today, they want guarantees of sincerity, of victory, of no turning back. Theodore Roosevelt believed that we should speak softly but carry a big stick. Since 1945, we have been bellowing through a megaphone but we have been carrying a swagger stick. Perhaps President Kennedy will change that.

Infant Girls Easy Prey For Pyelitis Infections

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the most alarming disturbances in the life of a female infant is the sudden appearance of a high temperature without apparent cause.

A young mother recently wrote to inquire about her baby who would be completely well for a period of weeks or months and then become feverish with temperatures as high as 106 degrees but no other manifestation of illness.

In the vast maorjity of cases of this description, the disturbance is the result of infection of the female urinary tract (pyelitis). Since there are certain precautions a mother can take to avoid this alarming condition, that may have serious consequences in later life, I offer the following explanation of the problem with suggestions for its prevention.

The female urethra is quite short and exceedingly vulnerable to the secretions and excretions of adjacent cavities. In the case of contamination from the rectum a menagerie of bacteria is let loose. And most especially colon bacilli, streptococci and staphylococci.

Now when the baby is tightly diapered, these secretions, excretions and their accompanying menagerie of bacteria may be rubbed into the opening.

Entrance of all this contaminated material also is favored by errors in hygiene. Leaving a soiled diaper on too long. Or cleansing with a back-to-front motion instead of away from the opening.

Here are some of the precautions you may take to prevent attacks of pyelities in the female infant:

Do not apply the diaper too tight. Indeed, if the child has had a previous attack, consider omitting the diaper entirely.

Replace the diaper as soon as it's soiled if it's at all possible.

Cleanse the soiled area AWAY from the urethral opening at all times.

If a specimen is required gently cleanse the meatus with a cotton ball, soaked in previously boiled water, and wait patiently until you can collect a relatively uncontaminated sample in a clean vessel. In most instances, specimens collected in this manner are quite as satisfactory for examination as those obtained by catherization.

And a last word of precaution. If your child has had repeated attacks and your doctor advises a complete examination by a specialist (urologist) don't delay giving your consent.

On many occasions, the tendency to pyelitis is the result of some mechanical difficulty that can be corrected before the kidneys are permanently damaged.

Washington News

BY RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — We are in danger of letting Nikita Khrushchev trick us into losing the defense race.

He has so frightened us with reports of his great progress in missiles, space, submarines and mobile armies, that:

- We are frittering billions of our defense dollars in a wasteful scramble to "catch up."
- We are weakening our defense research programs by rushing into sterile alleys for quick solutions. To get fast results we put missiles, planes and other defense systems into production without waiting for added research that would make them much superior. A little more research always means improvemens and sometimes real breakthroughs.
- We are adopting less-than-the-best in defense weapons and equipment in a hurried fear to get something in place so we add millions to cost, months to programs by contract changes during production and site construction.
- We are likewise wasting millions and slowing the space program by rushing to use equipment in space shots without waiting for it to be sufficiently researched and tested out tested out cheaply on the ground.

THE SAD TRUTH IS THAT if we would go at this defense-space race a little more slowly—spend more time on developing superior systems before putting them into production—we'd end up with a stronger defense system quicker.

This is what Khrushchev's men seem to do—usually.

An extra year in research often can save more than a year in getting a missile produced, improved, the bugs out, a new model devised and the whole system mated to its site, ready to fire. The resulting weapons system will certainly bet much superior.

We rush down every road we hear that K is going d[illegible] he won't be ahead of [illegible] thing. Thus we divert our efforts from what may [illegible] able lines for us. We play his game.

THIS HASTE TO GET INTO production and turn out weapons and equipment has other evils. Frequently the hurriedly-built items have so many weaknesses or bugs they have to be modified after they're built. There have to be continuous and time-consuming changes in the manufacture.

The missile is not quite so accurate or so reliable as it might have been had it been developed along different lines.

The equipment breaks down more frequently than it should. The missiles have to be used for shorter range than would have been possible.

The terrible part of these resultant not-as-good-as-possible weapons is that the failures are often in small component parts. A relatively small amount of extra research and testing on these components could add a great deal to reliability.

There are indications that the Russians do this extra testing.

We hurry over details and these neglected details come back to trip us up.

But the scares that K has thrown into us have convinced the Pentagon that we've got to rush even if it means slower progress in the long run. Because, the Defense men reason, the Reds could attack now. And we've got to have more right now because the Communists just might have more than we calculate they have.

THIS SUPER CAUTION IS BASED on a general policy of overestimating the Russians because we had underestimated them for so long. It is this overestimating based on Khrushchev's missile-space showmanship that is causing us to run so fast that we are slowing ourselves down.

DUNN, N. C. (AP)—William David Lee, 20, pleaded guilty to charges of drunken driving and Judge Woodrow Hill not only revoked his license but said Lee could not even ride in a motor vehicle for five years. Judge Hill said if Lee wanted transportation he could use a horse and buggy or catch a train. Lee also was fined $100 and given a six-month suspended jail term. Court records indicated Lee had been arrested four times for careless or reckless driving, once for speeding, once for public drunkenness and disorderly conduct and once for trespassing—all in a four year span.

Efforts of 'Peace Corps' Seen Dwarfed by Missions

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTN, Apr. 4—Many Americans are puzzled by President Kennedy's proposal to send a "peace corps" of young people abroad. They are puzzled because virtually the same work is already being done by Americans in the mission groups. What will the "peace corps" do that isn't being done now? There is need, of course, for more work in this field, but the new "peace corps" will be doing only a fraction of it.

The Kennedy plan calls for the spending of somewhere between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 a year. Yet the Protestant churches in America are spending approximately $163 million a year, and the Catholic churches of this country, it is estimated, are spending at least $40,000,000 a year on foreign missions. According to the latest figures, there are 26,000 Americans serving as Protestant missionaries abroad and about 6,700 of the Catholic faith. There are also 20,000 more missionaries from other Christian countries.

Do Varied Tasks

These missionaries do not spend most of their time teaching religion. On the contrary, they teach school and also trades. They build hospitals, furnish medical aid, educate doctors and nurses, train native leaders in administratiion work, develop social-welfare programs, and supply technical skills. Many are agricultural experts who show farmers how to handle their farms and increase the yields.

Most of the missionaries are married, but quite a number are young people. The Methodist Board of Missions, for instance, recruits about 125 young people a year to serve for three-year periods, and in this project stresses languages and special skills.

It might be thought that help is extended only to those natives who agree to become members of a certain faith, but this isn't so. This correspondent asked Dr. Darby Fulton, of Nashville, Tenn. — head of the Board of World Missions of the Southern Presbyterian Church — whether any condition was imposed on those given help by the missionaries. He replied:

"Not at all, so far as their religious affiliation is concerned. We take them into our schools and—of course, if we are looking for teachers to come in and instruct people in our schools, we get Christians to do that—but so far as the facilities of the schools are concerned, there is no religious conditions. We take Buddhists, Confucianists, Animists—any religion—or any irreligious group. Many go out without ever confessing any Christian faith, or even showing any signs of being influenced definitely in that direction."

How Money Is Raised

The money for these missions is contributed in the churches throughout the United States, as collections are taken regularly for the benefit of the projects abroad. This has been going on for many decades. In fact, American churches started sending missions to points outside the United States as early as 1809. There are many hundreds of thousands of natives abroad today who learned English and gained their education through the missionary teachers. The work done in China is pointed to as an example of the effectiveness of missions. Before the Red Chinese took over, there were approximately 600,000 Christians, and today, even under Communist rule, many Chinese still attend Christian services regularly.

It is in the field of general education and economic welfare that the work of the American missionaries has been widespread, but apparently it has not been publicized adequately. For today many persons who have been reading about the Kennedy "Peace Corps" are assuming that the idea is new and that nothing like it has ever been set-up before. It is true that no governmental agency has hitherto tried the plan, but it is also true that that American missionaries have always been loyal to the basic doctrines of the governmental system of the United States and the ideals of democracy.

Credit Unions Promoted

The missionary work is a wide variety. Catholic missions, for instance, have developed among their projects the setting up of credit unions. Poor people pool their money and are enabled to purchase equipment such as farm tools or fishing nets. The Evangelical Foreign Mission Association has 5,000 missionaries in 90 countries, 1,500 of whom are women—principally teachers and nurses.

There is talk of expanding the Kennedy "Peace Corps" some day to about 10,000, but this would still be a small part of the ever-growing missionary group of the United States, which is already above 33,000.

There is, to be sure, among some church people today a bit of uneasiness about the Kennedy "Peace Corps." Its objectives are lauded, but there is concern as to whether churchgoers will contribute as generously to mission work hereafter as they have been doing if they begin to feel that the Federal government is taking over this philanthropy. Much of the appeal of the mission groups for funds has been that the work done abroad is not only on the religious side but in humanitarian, social and economic fields irrespective of religious teaching.

The "Peace Corps" idea has many things in its favor, but it may bring new problems for the American missionaries abroad, who, of course, will try to be helpful to their fellow Americans but will have to steer clear of any political entanglements as they render their own kind of humanitarian and economic aid.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There are still imperfections in a national securities exchange which permits Davey Katz-Karr, a former Fuller Brush man and a penny-a-line reporter for the Communist Daily Worker, to run proxy raids against American business firms and to draw $90,000 a year plus lavish expenses from just one job while the stockholders of the company get nothing.

Karr first made himself notorious as a Washington hatchetman in the prewar period, but then worked in the office of facts and figures and the office of war information for the duration of the cruel conflict. Later, he dealt also in publicity and "public relations" for business firms and political movements. He wrote a brazen, expert book vaunting his knowledge of the new business of proxy raiding and rose to wealth with the incredible Leopold Silberstein, born in Germany, who first was Davey's patron in the new racket, then his partner and finally his victim. Suddenly, Katz-Karr, a blade that knows no brother, slashed Silberstein to tatters and sent him in flight to London where he has been moaning piteously while Davey has gone on to more spectacular feats of corporate manipulation.

Last May, as president of Fairbanks Whitney Corp., Katz-Karr stood before a stockholders' meeting as president of Fairbanks Whitney and soothed their anger momentarily with vague prospects of heroic profits to come from a process to extract salt from sea water. The legitimate publicity earned by an experimental plant (not Fairbanks Whitney's) in Israel, one of a dozen hurried efforts in many parts of the world, helped to boost Fairbanks Whitney from 7 to about 12 on the New York Stock Exchange. Meanwhile, Davey, as president, had risen in a few years from $8,000 as press agent to $90,000 as chief executive of a company. He gets a lavish expense account as well.

Meanwhile, Davey's public relations mill grinds out impalpable benefits for a great California bank, one of the greatest American steamship lines and a movie combine. He even sat down with the national executives of a wire service in their New York headquarters and, with superb guile, talked them out of a lavish feature story celebrating his genius. Nobody in that congregation of learning about notorious characters in current circulation had the wit to look up Davey Katz-Karr in the clippings a few feet away and dilute the gullible rapture with a seasoning of sense.

President Jack Kennedy stimulated alarm over the newly discovered fresh water shortage with a cry in his last speech of the '60 campaign. On November 4, in Chicago, he said: "There are two areas of concern: In the spread of nuclear weapons there is a possibility by 1962 that Communist China will have an atomic capacity for the conversion of fresh water from salt water. Can you imagine what that will do for the world? The first country that's able to do that will earn more prestige than we lost by being second in outer space."

The urgency of this water problem is debatable. Nevertheless, a number of ballyhoo firms, notably Tex McCrary, Inc., of New York, got into the campaign as though the morrow otherwise might find the human race gaunt and hollow-eyed in the cartoonists' version of Lost in Death Valley. McCrary kicked out bulletins for a client by the vague name of "Armed Forces Chemical Association Convention." One of these outcries, dated Sept. 16, was a fascinating preview of Kennedy's remark to the great rally on Nov. 4th. It seemed as though McCrary had sold almost the same phrases to Kennedy.

Since then, Davey's experimental dream for Fairbanks Whitney has risen with the rest of the market. Meanwhile, too, envy of Davey's rise from rags to the opulence of a magnate in a chauffeured job on Park Avenue is mollified.

And his first wife, the one who hung around the White House in the Truman reign, holds a petty job with Columbia Broadcasting System. She was one who did the brain work for Egbert Murrow's immortal fraud about the employment of prostitutes to seduce out of town buyers in the Bagdad bazaars of New York. The story of their estrangement has not been revealed, but prosperity passed by Madeleine Katz-Karr in favor of a successor who never shared Davey's hard times on $80 a week in Washington.

SOME SOVIET REALITIES

Philip E. Mosely, an expert on Russian affairs, has written for Foreign Affairs quarterly an appraisal of what he calls "Soviet Myths and Realities." His effort amounts to a most enlightening examination of current opinions and beliefs commonly held in the West about its chief rival.

He notes, for instance, that observers here have asked whether Khrushchev's power is secure or whether, as has been rumored, he has powerful adversaries in the Kremlin who but wait for him to stumble. In Mosely's opinion, this notion that Khrushchev may be a bit unsteady in the saddle is a clever fabrication advanced by the premier himself. In order to win concessions from the West, says Mosely, Khrushchev pleads for support of demands on the grounds that were he to fall any successor would be much more rigid.

Even more widely accepted is the belief that as the educational and economic level of the Russian people improves, the Soviet political system will be forced to moderate. Mosely doubts this very much, citing evidence to the contrary. Rather as the standard of living goes from little under the Tsars and Stalin himself to much more under Khrushchev, the people have rewarded the latter with almost complete confidence in their leader's aggressive foreign policy.

This expert in Soviet affairs concludes soberly that the West can hardly afford to sit back waiting for the regime to collapse from within, for actually the contrary is indicated. Khrushchev seems to grow stronger. If his policies are to be thwarted, we in the West must get up off haunches of ease and luxury and see to it.

LUXURY HAS APPEAL

The reluctance of American automobile manufacturers a few years back to turn out economy cars may have been grounded in the conviction that most domestic buyers prized luxury above gas mileage. But sales trends indicate that car makers had some reason to be uneasy about the appeal of small cars.

The U. S. consumer has not shunned American compacts. Far from it. They account for some 25 per cent of the market. However, the sales curve indicates that the average buyer is not immune to luxury. He wants more than mere transportation.

The Wall Street Journal quotes one automobile executive as saying that if the appeal were made solely to economy, car makers would go broke. Statistics show that while small cars are selling well and the swing away from long, low, hard-to-park gas eaters continues, the most popular compact is the luxury model. Gear-shift cars use less gas, for instance, but compacts with automatic transmissions are preferred. So are those with power steering, more horsepower, whitewall tires, carpeting and upholstery that matches the exterior.

The U. S. automobile, in short, though not the out-sized status symbol of yore, is not ready to knuckle under to the penny-pincher. More luxurious compacts are on the way. Indications are that unless manufacturers overshoot the mark, the public will not be displeased.

It has been said Kennedy is making the the presidency more of a one-man show than Eisenhower did. What there'll be to show for it is the really important thing.

WELL WORTH REPEATING

Last year 114 people, mostly children, died as the result of misusing the kind of thin plastic film now generally employed in dry cleaning bags.

Alarmed by summary reports of such deaths from 49 to 50 state health officers, the National Safety Council is wisely warning parents again to take extreme care to prevent these mishaps.

In the council's view, plastic film belongs with matches, medicines and knives as things to be kept out of children's reach. They have just one bit of hard counsel which ought to be broadcast far and wide:

"When a plastic bag has served its intended use, tear it up, tie it in a knot, or better yet, destroy it completely."

Men who act as though they're trying to prove they have eternal youth are likely to become infernal bores.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

DO WE HAVE ALLIES?

Step by step, Soviet Russia is proving to the United States that this country has no allies upon whom it can surely and absolutely depend. This is undoubtedly in the nature of the loose alliance which NATO and SEATO have established. It is also in the nature of the conduct of American foreign policy over the years.

For instance, no event that has occurred in recent years has been as damaging to Great Britain and France as Nasser's victory at Suez. Nasser sat tight and watched the United States pull him out of a hole. Then he became a positive neutralist; that is, he supports Soviet Russian policy. Does anyone assume that France has ever forgotten that?

Or is France forgetting that Algeria has been sapping the life blood of France and that the United States is as neutral between France and Algeria as Nasser is between the United States and Soviet Russia?

It was the United States that supported every anti-British movement in Asia; it was the United States which encouraged the natives to drive the Dutch out of Indonesia and the French out of Indo-China. We had adopted a rigid program of doctrinaire anti-colonialism, with the result that we have severely damaged our allies and paved the way for Soviet conquests. With what mien do we now turn to our allies to support our policy in Laos? It is much like the attitude of our allies in the United Nations who are refusing to pay their contributions to the handling of the Congo situation. They wonder why they should pay for our program in the Congo, carried out by Dag Hammarskjold, when there was no logical explanation for pushing the Belgians out of the Congo, just as there is no logical explanation for pushing the Portuguese out of Angola.

In a word, it is becoming very expensive to be an American ally. This was foreseen during the early days of the Marshall Plan and was widely discussed. Herbert Hoover's concept of "Fortress America" which offended all liberals makes more sense today than when it was first proposed.

President Kennedy's approach to the Laos question was correct. Soviet Russia is invading that area with the object of ultimately taking Cambodia, Malaya, and Thailand. Thus, the Soviet Universal State would move swiftly into the Indian Ocean from Southwest China and would thus make it very difficult, if not impossible to defend Formosa, the Philippines and Japan from Red Chinese aggression.

It is too often forgotten that we fought a war, costly in life and wealth, against Japan for seeking to establish a hegemony over precisely this territory. Why was it more evil to do this in 1941 than it is for Soviet Russia to do it in 1961? What happened to the world during these 20 years that makes it so cowardly?

Perhaps the principal event that took the guts out of nations was the Korean War which the United States lost to Red China. As soon as we lost that war, every nation, particularly the small ones, had to review and reconsider its policy because a mighty power had been defeated by a weak and backward one. The very words seem silly but even a silliness can be a reality and the Korean War, fought without logic or logistics, was both silly and a reality. It gave the United States a bad name, particularly in Asia where defeat can never be explained away.

I was once associated with a Chinese Tuchun (Warlord) who was engaged in civil war. His name was Chi Shih-yuan and he was quite a competent man. But his Chief-of-Staff, looking at a new map, mistook a river for a road and he was stuck. That ended Tuchun Chi. He fled to Japan. He had not yet been defeated but he had lost face and what troops would be willing to follow a Warlord who had lost face?

This is characteristic of Asiatic tradition. Therefore when the United States lost face in Korea, we lost the respect of all those peoples. Today, they want guarantees of sincerity, of victory, of no turning back. Theodore Roosevelt believed that we should speak softly but carry a big stick. Since 1945, we have been bellowing through a megaphone but we have been carrying a swagger stick. Perhaps President Kennedy will change that.

Infant Girls Easy Prey For Pyelitis Infections

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the most alarming disturbances in the life of a female infant is the sudden appearance of a high temperature without apparent cause.

A young mother recently wrote to inquire about her baby who would be completely well for a period of weeks or months and then become feverish with temperatures as high as 106 degrees but no other manifestation of illness.

In the vast maorjity of cases of this description, the disturbance is the result of infection of the female urinary tract (pyelitis). Since there are certain precautions a mother can take to avoid this alarming condition, that may have serious consequences in later life, I offer the following explanation of the problem with suggestions for its prevention.

The female urethra is quite short and exceedingly vulnerable to the secretions and excretions of adjacent cavities. In the case of contamination from the rectum a menagerie of bacteria is let loose. And most especially colon bacilli, streptococci and staphylococci.

Now when the baby is tightly diapered, these secretions, excretions and their accompanying menagerie of bacteria may be rubbed into the opening.

Entrance of all this contaminated material also is favored by errors in hygiene. Leaving a soiled diaper on too long. Or cleansing with a back-to-front motion instead of away from the opening.

Here are some of the precautions you may take to prevent attacks of pyelities in the female infant:

Do not apply the diaper too tight. Indeed, if the child has had a previous attack, consider omitting the diaper entirely.

Replace the diaper as soon as it's soiled if it's at all possible.

Cleanse the soiled area AWAY from the urethral opening at all times.

If a specimen is required gently cleanse the meatus with a cotton ball, soaked in previously boiled water, and wait patiently until you can collect a relatively uncontaminated sample in a clean vessel. In most instances, specimens collected in this manner are quite as satisfactory for examination as those obtained by catherization.

And a last word of precaution. If your child has had repeated attacks and your doctor advises a complete examination by a specialist (urologist) don't delay giving your consent.

On many occasions, the tendency to pyelitis is the result of some mechanical difficulty that can be corrected before the kidneys are permanently damaged.

DUNN, N. C. (AP)—William David Lee, 20, pleaded guilty to charges of drunken driving and Judge Woodrow Hill not only revoked his license but said Lee could not even ride in a motor vehicle for five years. Judge Hill said if Lee wanted transportation he could use a horse and buggy or catch a train. Lee also was fined $100 and given a six-month suspended jail term. Court records indicated Lee had been arrested four times for careless or reckless driving, once for speeding, once for public drunkenness and disorderly conduct and once for trespassing—all in a four year span.

Efforts of 'Peace Corps' Seen Dwarfed by Missions

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTN, Apr. 4—Many Americans are puzzled by President Kennedy's proposal to send a "peace corps" of young people abroad. They are puzzled because virtually the same work is already being done by Americans in the mission groups. What will the "peace corps" do that isn't being done now? There is need, of course, for more work in this field, but the new "peace corps" will be doing only a fraction of it.

The Kennedy plan calls for the spending of somewhere between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 a year. Yet the Protestant churches in America are spending approximately $163 million a year, and the Catholic churches of this country, it is estimated, are spending at least $40,000,000 a year on foreign missions. According to the latest figures, there are 26,000 Americans serving as Protestant missionaries abroad and about 6,700 of the Catholic faith. There are also 20,000 more missionaries from other Christian countries.

Do Varied Tasks

These missionaries do not spend most of their time teaching religion. On the contrary, they teach school and also trades. They build hospitals, furnish medical aid, educate doctors and nurses, train native leaders in administratiion work, develop social-welfare programs, and supply technical skills. Many are agricultural experts who show farmers how to handle their farms and increase the yields.

Most of the missionaries are married, but quite a number are young people. The Methodist Board of Missions, for instance, recruits about 125 young people a year to serve for three-year periods, and in this project stresses languages and special skills.

It might be thought that help is extended only to those natives who agree to become members of a certain faith, but this isn't so. This correspondent asked Dr. Darby Fulton, of Nashville, Tenn. — head of the Board of World Missions of the Southern Presbyterian Church — whether any condition was imposed on those given help by the missionaries. He replied:

"Not at all, so far as their religious affiliation is concerned. We take them into our schools and—of course, if we are looking for teachers to come in and instruct people in our schools, we get Christians to do that—but so far as the facilities of the schools are concerned, there is no religious conditions. We take Buddhists, Confucianists, Animists—any religion—or any irreligious group. Many go out without ever confessing any Christian faith, or even showing any signs of being influenced definitely in that direction."

How Money Is Raised

The money for these missions is contributed in the churches throughout the United States, as collections are taken regularly for the benefit of the projects abroad. This has been going on for many decades. In fact, American churches started sending missions to points outside the United States as early as 1809. There are many hundreds of thousands of natives abroad today who learned English and gained their education through the missionary teachers. The work done in China is pointed to as an example of the effectiveness of missions. Before the Red Chinese took over, there were approximately 600,000 Christians, and today, even under Communist rule, many Chinese still attend Christian services regularly.

It is in the field of general education and economic welfare that the work of the American missionaries has been widespread, but apparently it has not been publicized adequately. For today many persons who have been reading about the Kennedy "Peace Corps" are assuming that the idea is new and that nothing like it has ever been set-up before. It is true that no governmental agency has hitherto tried the plan, but it is also true that that American missionaries have always been loyal to the basic doctrines of the governmental system of the United States and the ideals of democracy.

Credit Unions Promoted

The missionary work is a wide variety. Catholic missions, for instance, have developed among their projects the setting up of credit unions. Poor people pool their money and are enabled to purchase equipment such as farm tools or fishing nets. The Evangelical Foreign Mission Association has 5,000 missionaries in 90 countries, 1,500 of whom are women—principally teachers and nurses.

There is talk of expanding the Kennedy "Peace Corps" some day to about 10,000, but this would still be a small part of the ever-growing missionary group of the United States, which is already above 33,000.

There is, to be sure, among some church people today a bit of uneasiness about the Kennedy "Peace Corps." Its objectives are lauded, but there is concern as to whether churchgoers will contribute as generously to mission work hereafter as they have been doing if they begin to feel that the Federal government is taking over this philanthropy. Much of the appeal of the mission groups for funds has been that the work done abroad is not only on the religious side but in humanitarian, social and economic fields irrespective of religious teaching.

The "Peace Corps" idea has many things in its favor, but it may bring new problems for the American missionaries abroad, who, of course, will try to be helpful to their fellow Americans but will have to steer clear of any political entanglements as they render their own kind of humanitarian and economic aid.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There are still imperfections in a national securities exchange which permits Davey Katz-Karr, a former Fuller Brush man and a penny-a-line reporter for the Communist Daily Worker, to run proxy raids against American business firms and to draw $90,000 a year plus lavish expenses from just one job while the stockholders of the company get nothing.

Karr first made himself notorious as a Washington hatchetman in the prewar period, but then worked in the office of facts and figures and the office of war information for the duration of the cruel conflict. Later, he dealt also in publicity and "public relations" for business firms and political movements. He wrote a brazen, expert book vaunting his knowledge of the new business of proxy raiding and rose to wealth with the incredible Leopold Silberstein, born in Germany, who first was Davey's patron in the new racket, then his partner and finally his victim. Suddenly, Katz-Karr, a blade that knows no brother, slashed Silberstein to tatters and sent him in flight to London where he has been moaning piteously while Davey has gone on to more spectacular feats of corporate manipulation.

Last May, as president of Fairbanks Whitney Corp., Katz-Karr stood before a stockholders' meeting as president of Fairbanks Whitney and soothed their anger momentarily with vague prospects of heroic profits to come from a process to extract salt from sea water. The legitimate publicity earned by an experimental plant (not Fairbanks Whitney's) in Israel, one of a dozen hurried efforts in many parts of the world, helped to boost Fairbanks Whitney from 7 to about 12 on the New York Stock Exchange. Meanwhile, Davey, as president, had risen in a few years from $8,000 as press agent to $90,000 as chief executive of a company. He gets a lavish expense account as well.

Meanwhile, Davey's public relations mill grinds out impalpable benefits for a great California bank, one of the greatest American steamship lines and a movie combine. He even sat down with the national executives of a wire service in their New York headquarters and, with superb guile, talked them out of a lavish feature story celebrating his genius. Nobody in that congregation of learning about notorious characters in current circulation had the wit to look up Davey Katz-Karr in the clippings a few feet away and dilute the gullible rapture with a seasoning of sense.

President Jack Kennedy stimulated alarm over the newly discovered fresh water shortage with a cry in his last speech of the '60 campaign. On November 4, in Chicago, he said: "There are two areas of concern: In the spread of nuclear weapons there is a possibility by 1962 that Communist China will have an atomic capacity for the conversion of fresh water from salt water. Can you imagine what that will do for the world? The first country that's able to do that will earn more prestige than we lost by being second in outer space."

The urgency of this water problem is debatable. Nevertheless, a number of ballyhoo firms, notably Tex McCrary, Inc., of New York, got into the campaign as though the morrow otherwise might find the human race gaunt and hollow-eyed in the cartoonists' version of Lost in Death Valley. McCrary kicked out bulletins for a client by the vague name of "Armed Forces Chemical Association Convention." One of these outcries, dated Sept. 16, was a fascinating preview of Kennedy's remark to the great rally on Nov. 4th. It seemed as though McCrary had sold almost the same phrases to Kennedy.

Since then, Davey's experimental dream for Fairbanks Whitney has risen with the rest of the market. Meanwhile, too, envy of Davey's rise from rags to the opulence of a magnate in a chauffeured job on Park Avenue is mollified.

And his first wife, the one who hung around the White House in the Truman reign, holds a petty job with Columbia Broadcasting System. She was one who did the brain work for Egbert Murrow's immortal fraud about the employment of prostitutes to seduce out of town buyers in the Bagdad bazaars of New York. The story of their estrangement has not been revealed, but prosperity passed by Madeleine Katz-Karr in favor of a successor who never shared Davey's hard times on $80 a week in Washington.

N. Y. Congressmen Have Introduced Over 1,000 Bills

By Joseph R. Coyne
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York members of Congress have introduced more than 1,000 major bills and resolutions during the first three months of the 87th Congress.

They ranged from proposed amendments to the antitrust laws, to creation of a Youth Conservation Corps.

Rep. Abraham Multer, D-N.Y., introduced more major bills than any of the 43 New York House members.

His total of 157 was 30 more than the number introduced or co-sponsored by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and 58 more than those sponsored or co-sponsored by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y.

Only a small percentage of the total has any chance of passage.

Of the thousands of major bills and resolutions introduced during the 86th Congress, only 800 were signed by President Eisenhower.

Since the House does not permit co-sponsorship of bills, many of the measures introduced by the New Yorkers are identical.

The second highest number of bills introduced during January, February and March by a New York House member is 66 by Chairman Emanuel Celler of the House Judiciary Committee.

New York's two other committee chairmen—Reps. Adam Clayton Powell of the Education and Labor Committee, and Charles A. Buckley of the Public Works Committee, both Democrats — introduced 32 and 7 bills respectively.

Powell, a Negro, introduced a package of seven civil rights bills along his total.

Two bills introduced by Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., are designed as possible substitutes to President Kennedy's aid to education program.

One would require the district director of Internal Revenue in each state to turn over to that state for school aid one per cent of all income taxes he collects each year.

The other would permit states to take over the 10 per cent federal tax on local telephone service and use it for school aid.

Arthur Godfrey Says Avoid Cancer Risks, Stresses Early Detection

EDITOR'S NOTE — If present rates continue, 45 million Americans now living eventually will contract cancer. Arthur Godfrey, who has undergone the ordeal of lung cancer and now is serving as honorary education chairman of the American Cancer Society April crusade, reports in this second of three articles on the danger, the value of early detection, and some promising research.

By ARTHUR GODFREY
Written for The Associated Press

Many of the letters I received after my recovery came from people who were worried about lung cancer. This is the No. 1 cancer killer of American males —and it's on the increase in both males and females. It's the type of cancer I had.

When I began to get well, I asked questions. I talked to the experts. I read leaflets put out by the American Cancer Society for people like me, who never went to medical school. And I read technical brochures that the society puts out for those who did, so that they can keep up with new developments in detection and treatment, and consulted doctor friends.

Killed 37,000 in 1960

Here are some of the things I learned:

Lung cancer, like all cancers, is most curable when treated in the early stages. Again, surgery and radiation are the only cure.

Although doctors are saving more cancer patients than ever before, and although death rates for almost all types of cancer are either leveling off or being sharply cut, the death rate for lung cancer is soaring. It is, in fact, 500 per cent higher than it was 20 years ago. Lung cancer killed 37,000 Americans in 1960.

Why the increase? There are suspects, some of them proved: certain industrial chemicals now happily outlawed; cigarettes, air pollution and possibly other relatively new environmental factors.

Good Risks, His Advice

How can you best guard yourself against lung cancer? By avoiding known risks. Nonsmokers have a low rate of lung cancer.

Don't wait for symptoms. Have a yearly chest X-ray, along with your health checkup. The X-ray can detect early signs of the disease, when the chance of cure is best.

Dr. George N. Papanicolaou has applied to the detection of lung cancer the techniques of cell examination which he developed earlier for detecting uterine cancer. The uterine cancer cell examination has brought into the realm of possibility the eradiction of this form of cancer as a cause of death. I hope that some day this may be the case in lung cancer.

Because of my interest in lung cancer, I wanted to know more about Dr. Papanicolaou's work. This great man spends most of his time in a laboratory which bears his name at Cornell University Medical College. It is here smears are prepared from bronchial washings and sputum and examined under the microscope. This technique can reveal the presence of very early cancer, sometimes before there is pain and the lesion is too small to be detected by any other method.

This technique has helped develop and is based on a whole new branch of science called exfoliative cytology.

Describes Method

This is the way Dr. Papanicolaou describes it:

"Excoliation is a biological principle. Just as trees and plants shed their foliage periodically, so, too, the animals, including man, continuously shed innumerable cells from tissues covering the body's surfaces, from the skin, and also from the membranes lining all body cavities. These cells can be drawn off, preserved, stained and examined under the microscope to see whether the cells are normal or cancerous."

The cytological technique which he developed is also being applied to the detection of abnormalities of the esophagus, stomach and bladder.

Detection is important. Early detection is more important.

Artist Jailed For Taking His Child, State Ward

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP)—A 44-year-old artist from Brewster, N.Y., was in custody at the state jail today to await trial for abducting his 5-year-old daughter, a ward of the state.

The artist, Milton Roland, was arraigned in Superior Court Tuesday. Judge John R. Thim set bond at $2,500, which Roland was unable to supply.

No trial date was announced.

Police said Roland took his daughter, Adrienne, from a Stamford Hospital two weeks ago. She was recovering from serious burns suffered in a fire in her father's apartment in Stamford last year.

The girl was found in New York City in the Greenwich Village apartment of Mrs. Marion Tanner, friend of hard-pressed artists and model for the fictional heroine, "Auntie Mame."

Roland said he acted "impulsively" when the child complained she was homesick.

The father was not put to plea because his court-appointed counsel, Public Defender John James was not present.

Roland is charged with taking or enticing a child for which the maximum penalty is five years in jail.

Dr. Rudolf Diesel, German engineer, invented the diesel engine, building his first model in 1892.

Guatemala Hunting Down Crime Chief

GUATEMALA (AP) — Carlos Marcello, New Orleans underworld chieftain deported from the United States, today faced arrest or deportation again if Guatemalan immigration officials can catch him.

Marcello arrived here Tuesday aboard a U.S. border patrol plane and promptly disappeared in company with Col. Antonio Batres, second in command of the Guatemalan air force.

Immigration officials waiting for Marcello were left empty-handed when his plane landed at a military airport. They angrily vowed to hunt him down.

"If he is a Guatemalan, we are going to arrest him, and if he isn't, we are going to deport him," said Ramon Alvarado, immigration office spokesman.

Marcello's connection with the air force officer was not known. The air force declined comment.

Immigration officials could not explain why the plane landed at the air force base. They said they were unable to find Marcello in the city.

"We have checked all hotels, and he isn't there," said Alvarado.

Marcello, 51, reputedly directed a huge police-protected crime syndicate with headquarters in Louisiana's Jefferson Parish, adjoining New Orleans, and operations in other parts of Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Texas and Arkansas.

9-Year Court Battle

Labeled the No. 1 law violator in the United States by Sen. Estes Kefauver, Marcello conducted a running court battle for nine years against the U.S. government's attempts to deport him because of a narcotics conviction and because he had never become a citizen despite long residence in the United States.

Three times he took his case to the U.S. Supreme Court, losing each time.

Immigration officials in New Orleans clamped handcuffs on Marcello without warning Tuesday when he showed up for his regular tri-monthly reporting visit to the immigration office. He was hustled aboard the airplane without time to pack a toothbrush or say goodbye to his wife.

U.S. authorities said Guatemala had agreed to accept a birth record provided by an informant showing Marcello was a Guatemalan, born Calogers Minacore on Feb. 6, 1910, to an Italian couple in the village of Palo Blanco.

Alvarado's remarks indicated he was not satisfied Marcello is a Guatemalan. Other Guatemalan officials said when Marcello left Guatemala for the United States, he carried an exit permit, not a passport, and identified himself as a businessman named Calogers Minacore.

April 11-15 Event

Lions List New Show Exhibitors

Only six days remain before the opening of the Kingston Lions Club 14th annual Industrial Exposition and Home Show April 11 through 15.

The attendance of this year's show is expected to surpass that of any past Lion's Club Exposition, according to chairman Stephen T. McGrath.

6-Months Planning

McGrath said the enthusiasm of the exhibitors, and the artistic variety planned within the 125 booths, is the sole result of arrangements and planning that was started six months ago by members of the exposition committee.

This year's co-chairmen are Stuart E. Munson and Dr. Saul Goldfarb, coordinative secretary is Karl Pitcock while other committee members are Matthias G. Richardson, Richard Case, David Ennis, Sully Fleming, Thomas Henebery, Peter Keresman, Arthur Moak, Lawrence Jensen, Minford Overfield, Howard Shultis, Frank Simpson, Robert Strickland, Henry Singer, Warren Smith and Walter Kostromitin.

Recent additions to this year's show are La Torres Redecorators, Federal Venetian Blind, Acme Tire Company and the Mid-Hudson Marina, all of the Kingston area. These are in addition to the many exhibitors already announced. Space has also been reserved for displays by the Kingston YMCA, the Cancer Society, Gateway Organization, Girl Scouts, SPCA and the Kingston Police Department. The latter will work closely with the Lions Safety Committee on the campaign for the Driver of the Week.

Shelter to Be Shown

This year's show will feature a colorful variety of exhibits, ranging from a replica of the Crown Jewels of England, insured for $10,000 while here on display, to a full scale family fallout shelter from the New York State Civil Defense Commission.

As an added inducement for the public this year, the Lions Club will award a $500 Savings Bond, a $250 Savings Bond and a $125 Savings Bond, plus a nightly award of a $25 Savings Bond.

Expects Effects Today

DES MOINES (AP) — Three days ago members of the National Farmers Organization (NFO) started holding their cattle, hogs and sheep off the supply markets in the Midwest.

The objective: to close the gap between present prices and what NFO says is the actual cost of production on the farms. Also, to give farmers bargaining power with the processors who turn out the finished meat for the consumer's table.

NFO President Oren Lee Staley said Tuesday night at headquarters at Corning, Iowa, that the holding action will start having its big effect today. It will continue indefinitely, he said.

too late to try to prevent their landing. As the first Skymasters and C119 flying boxcars roared in from the U.N.-occupied Kamina base in west Katanga, Tshombe was in conference with Gen. Sean McKeown of Ireland, the U.N. military commander in the Congo.

Says U. N. Shattered

McKeown flew from Leopoldville to confer with Tshombe about the mob rampage Tuesday against the U.N. troops in Elisabethville. The Katanga radio and Elisabethville's morning newspaper said today—before the Irish arrived—that Tshombe and his government had won a great victory.

"The United Nations is shattered," a broadcast said. "They should go home now."

Tshombe had whipped his people into a frenzy after the Swedish guard at the airport arrested 24 Katanga army troops and a Belgian officer who tried to seize control of the field. The Katanga president made clear in a statement that his purpose was to prevent the arrival of Indian U.N. troops. He opposes them because of Indian Prime Minister Nehru's avowed opposition to Tshombe.

Uneasy Calm

As the mob fever mounted, the U.N. command in Elisabethville agreed to return the airport to the joint control of Katanga police and U.N. troops. But some 4,000 Africans — many of them armed with long-bladed knives—were already on the march to the field.

The airport building was stoned, several Swedes were injured on the road to the airport and about 60 U.N. personnel were arrested, ridiculed and held for periods ranging from 30 minutes to five hours by Katanga troops or police.

An uneasy calm prevailed today in downtown Elisabethville before the Irish took over the airport. Katanga police patrolled streets thronged with thousands of idle Africans.

Jewish congregations in the U. S. have increased from 600 in 1899 to more than 4,000 today.

Chamber Is Seeking Committee Volunteers

A call was issued today by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce for volunteers to serve on various committees for the fiscal year of 1961-62.

President Joseph E. O'Connor is now naming committees to serve for the fiscal year which starts on May 1.

The terms of all standing committees expire with the close of the fiscal year April 30. An effort will be made to assign every member, desiring to serve the Chamber of Commerce in some volunteer capacity, to one of the 14 standing committees.

It is also planned to conduct another one-day drive for new members, similar to the very successful campaign a year ago. Any increase in membership support would make it possible to expand the program of the Chamber of Commerce.

Traffic Fines Run

Lester Wood, 19, Box 85, Kingston, pleaded guilty to passing a red traffic light. He was fined $5.

Commenting on the number of violators summoned to court, Police Chief Robert F. Murphy told The Freeman today the drive against speeders and other violators of traffic and motor vehicle laws is not a temporary campaign.

"It will continue through the summer," the chief said. "The electric speed timer is portable and can be easily moved from place to place in the city at unannounced intervals. The drive is a permanent campaign and motorists are advised to comply with the vehicle and traffic laws."

The chief noted that police have received numerous complaints from residents about speeders.

During the Pontifical Mass, the Most Rev. Edward Maginn, Auxiliary Bishop, will be in the sanctuary.

Msgr. Sellman, who also had charge of St. Patrick's Academy and St. Bridget's Church in Leeds, was elevated to the rank of Domestic Prelate by Pope John XXIII two years ago. He was invested and bestowed with monsignor vestments by Bishop Scully in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, June 25, 1959.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Francis Murphy of Little Falls, and four nieces, Joan, Eileen and Ann Murphy and Clare Sellman.

Msgr. Sellman was ordained to the priesthood May 21, by the Most Rev. Bishop F. Gibbons in the Cathedral in Albany. During his 12 years at St. Patrick's Church he fostered several projects including expansion of school facilities and development of the church basement as Marian Hall, a recreation and meeting area.

Cancer Crusaders Get Briefing on Drive for $35,000

Those attending Tuesday night's briefing meeting for the 1961 Cancer Crusade heard about the three major points of the project—research, education and service.

Guest speaker at the session in the Governor Clinton Hotel was Mrs. Laurence Marble, director of the New York State Division, American Cancer Society.

In emphasizing the desperate need for research and education, Mrs. Marble said that 10 years ago seven out of 10 victims of a certain type cancer met death; now this ratio has been reduced to four out of 10.

Dr. Gerald Gorman, president of Ulster County Chapter presided at the meeting. Mrs. Arthur Freeman, county director, introduced Mrs. Marble.

Clyde Wonderly, general chairman of the Cancer Crusade, explained about workers kits which were handed to all in attendance. In calling attention to the $35,000 goal, he urged workers to knock on doors, collect contributions and pass out the latest cancer educational material.

Big Hog Corraled

A hog weighing between 300 and 500 pounds fell out of a pickup truck on Route 32 near the intersection with Main Street in the village of New Paltz shortly after noon Tuesday and led his pursuers a merry chase before he was captured. The suet-laden porker scrambled to his feet and made off up Main Street, reversed himself and came back toward Route 32. He was reportedly shoo-ed into an area yard and captured after a feverish chase. Numerous telephone calls to residents of the area failed to produce the name of the owner of the boar hog.

Coughlin, Stalter Make Way Through Smoke for Rescue

Rescued by firemen from a smoke-filled room during a Tuesday afternoon fire at 71 East Strand, Arthur Short, 40, of 65 East Strand, was reported in fair condition at Kingston Hospital where he is under treatment for smoke poisoning.

Fire officials said the fire occurred in an overstuffed chair in a first floor room of the three-story brick mercantile and apartment building owned by Robert Ortale.

Casimir Krakowski, of 22 Broadway, was walking along the railroad tracks in the vicinity of Ferry Street and East Strand when he saw smoke pouring from a window of the building. He sounded a general alarm at 3:30 p. m. from Box 2331.

Firemen in command of Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Chief George D. Matthews responded.

Firemen Francis T. Coughlin and Clayton A. Stalter Jr., groped their way through dense smoke and entered the room where the chair was burning. They found Short, who firemen said, was asleep or unconscious.

Coughlin and Stalter passed the man through a side window to other firemen. After Short was revived he was taken to the hospital suffering smoke poisoning.

Firemen said the first floor rooms were heavily charged with smoke. The fire was extinguished with pressurized water pumped from Union Hose Co. and Engine 3 apparatus.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined, but firemen said a lid of a wood stove was tipped and it was possible sparks might have ignited the chair, which was removed from the room by firemen.

Deputy Chief Matthews reported to Building Inspector Joseph Smith at the scene that he observed structural deterioration in the building where the fire occurred.

Responding to the alarm were Engine 1 and Truck 1 from Central Fire Station, Union Hose Co., Cordts Hose Co., Engine 3 and the Salvage truck. Engine 4 covered Central Fire Station until apparatus assigned there returned.

Guatemala Hunting Down Crime Chief

GUATEMALA (AP) — Carlos Marcello, New Orleans underworld chieftain deported from the United States, today faced arrest or deportation again if Guatemalan immigration officials can catch him.

Marcello arrived here Tuesday aboard a U.S. border patrol plane and promptly disappeared in company with Col. Antonio Batres, second in command of the Guatemalan air force.

Immigration officials waiting for Marcello were left empty-handed when his plane landed at a military airport. They angrily vowed to hunt him down.

"If he is a Guatemalan, we are going to arrest him, and if he isn't, we are going to deport him," said Ramon Alvarado, immigration office spokesman.

Marcello's connection with the air force officer was not known. The air force declined comment.

Immigration officials could not explain why the plane landed at the air force base. They said they were unable to find Marcello in the city.

"We have checked all hotels, and he isn't there," said Alvarado.

9-Year Court Battle

Labeled the No. 1 law violator in the United States by Sen. Estes Kefauver, Marcello conducted a running court battle for nine years against the U.S. government's attempts to deport him because of a narcotics conviction and because he had never become a citizen despite long residence in the United States.

Three times he took his case to the U.S. Supreme Court, losing each time.

Immigration officials in New Orleans clamped handcuffs on Marcello without warning Tuesday when he showed up for his regular tri-monthly reporting visit to the immigration office. He was hustled aboard the airplane without time to pack a toothbrush or say goodbye to his wife.

U.S. authorities said Guatemala had agreed to accept a birth record provided by an informant showing Marcello was a Guatemalan, born Calogers Minacore on Feb. 6, 1910, to an Italian couple in the village of Palo Blanco.

Alvarado's remarks indicated he was not satisfied Marcello is a Guatemalan. Other Guatemalan officials said when Marcello left Guatemala for the United States, he carried an exit permit, not a passport, and identified himself as a businessman named Calogers Minacore.

Lions List New Show Exhibitors

Only six days remain before the opening of the Kingston Lions Club 14th annual Industrial Exposition and Home Show April 11 through 15.

The attendance of this year's show is expected to surpass that of any past Lion's Club Exposition, according to chairman Stephen T. McGrath.

6-Months Planning

McGrath said the enthusiasm of the exhibitors, and the artistic variety planned within the 125 booths, is the sole result of arrangements and planning that was started six months ago by members of the exposition committee.

This year's co-chairmen are Stuart E. Munson and Dr. Saul Goldfarb, coordinative secretary is Karl Pitcock while other committee members are Matthias G. Richardson, Richard Case, David Ennis, Sully Fleming, Thomas Henebery, Peter Keresman, Arthur Moak, Lawrence Jensen, Minford Overfield, Howard Shultis, Frank Simpson, Robert Strickland, Henry Singer, Warren Smith and Walter Kostromitin.

Recent additions to this year's show are La Torres Redecorators, Federal Venetian Blind, Acme Tire Company and the Mid-Hudson Marina, all of the Kingston area. These are in addition to the many exhibitors already announced. Space has also been reserved for displays by the Kingston YMCA, the Cancer Society, Gateway Organization, Girl Scouts, SPCA and the Kingston Police Department. The latter will work closely with the Lions Safety Committee on the campaign for the Driver of the Week.

Shelter to Be Shown

This year's show will feature a colorful variety of exhibits, ranging from a replica of the Crown Jewels of England, insured for $10,000 while here on display, to a full scale family fallout shelter from the New York State Civil Defense Commission.

As an added inducement for the public this year, the Lions Club will award a $500 Savings Bond, a $250 Savings Bond and a $125 Savings Bond, plus a nightly award of a $25 Savings Bond.

Expects Effects Today

DES MOINES (AP) — Three days ago members of the National Farmers Organization (NFO) started holding their cattle, hogs and sheep off the supply markets in the Midwest.

The objective: to close the gap between present prices and what NFO says is the actual cost of production on the farms. Also, to give farmers bargaining power with the processors who turn out the finished meat for the consumer's table.

NFO President Oren Lee Staley said Tuesday night at headquarters at Corning, Iowa, that the holding action will start having its big effect today. It will continue indefinitely, he said.

Katanga Offers

too late to try to prevent their landing. As the first Skymasters and C119 flying boxcars roared in from the U.N.-occupied Kamina base in west Katanga, Tshombe was in conference with Gen. Sean McKeown of Ireland, the U.N. military commander in the Congo.

Says U. N. Shattered

McKeown flew from Leopoldville to confer with Tshombe about the mob rampage Tuesday against the U.N. troops in Elisabethville. The Katanga radio and Elisabethville's morning newspaper said today—before the Irish arrived—that Tshombe and his government had won a great victory.

"The United Nations is shattered," a broadcast said. "They should go home now."

Tshombe had whipped his people into a frenzy after the Swedish guard at the airport arrested 24 Katanga army troops and a Belgian officer who tried to seize control of the field. The Katanga president made clear in a statement that his purpose was to prevent the arrival of Indian U.N. troops. He opposes them because of Indian Prime Minister Nehru's avowed opposition to Tshombe.

Uneasy Calm

As the mob fever mounted, the U.N. command in Elisabethville agreed to return the airport to the joint control of Katanga police and U.N. troops. But some 4,000 Africans — many of them armed with long-bladed knives—were already on the march to the field.

The airport building was stoned, several Swedes were injured on the road to the airport and about 60 U.N. personnel were arrested, ridiculed and held for periods ranging from 30 minutes to five hours by Katanga troops or police.

An uneasy calm prevailed today in downtown Elisabethville before the Irish took over the airport. Katanga police patrolled streets thronged with thousands of idle Africans.

Jewish congregations in the U. S. have increased from 600 in 1899 to more than 4,000 today.

Chamber Is Seeking Committee Volunteers

A call was issued today by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce for volunteers to serve on various committees for the fiscal year of 1961-62.

President Joseph E. O'Connor is now naming committees to serve for the fiscal year which starts on May 1.

The terms of all standing committees expire with the close of the fiscal year April 30. An effort will be made to assign every member, desiring to serve the Chamber of Commerce in some volunteer capacity, to one of the 14 standing committees.

It is also planned to conduct another one-day drive for new members, similar to the very successful campaign a year ago. Any increase in membership support would make it possible to expand the program of the Chamber of Commerce.

Commenting on the number of violators summoned to court, Police Chief Robert F. Murphy told The Freeman today the drive against speeders and other violators of traffic and motor vehicle laws is not a temporary campaign.

"It will continue through the summer," the chief said. "The electric speed timer is portable and can be easily moved from place to place in the city at unannounced intervals. The drive is a permanent campaign and motorists are advised to comply with the vehicle and traffic laws."

The chief noted that police have received numerous complaints from residents about speeders.

Msgr. Sellman, who also had charge of St. Patrick's Academy and St. Bridget's Church in Leeds, was elevated to the rank of Domestic Prelate by Pope John XXIII two years ago. He was invested and bestowed with monsignor vestments by Bishop Scully in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, June 25, 1959.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Francis Murphy of Little Falls, and four nieces, Joan, Eileen and Ann Murphy and Clare Sellman.

Cancer Crusaders Get Briefing on Drive for $35,000

Those attending Tuesday night's briefing meeting for the 1961 Cancer Crusade heard about the three major points of the project—research, education and service.

Guest speaker at the session in the Governor Clinton Hotel was Mrs. Laurence Marble, director of the New York State Division, American Cancer Society.

In emphasizing the desperate need for research and education, Mrs. Marble said that 10 years ago seven out of 10 victims of a certain type cancer met death: now this ratio has been reduced to four out of 10.

Dr. Gerald Gorman, president of Ulster County Chapter presided at the meeting. Mrs. Arthur Freeman, county director, introduced Mrs. Marble.

Clyde Wonderly, general chairman of the Cancer Crusade, explained about workers kits which were handed to all in attendance. In calling attention to the $35,000 goal, he urged workers to knock on doors, collect contributions and pass out the latest cancer educational material.

Big Hog Corraled

A hog weighing between 300 and 500 pounds fell out of a pickup truck on Route 32 near the intersection with Main Street in the village of New Paltz shortly after noon Tuesday and led his pursuers a merry chase before he was captured. The suet-laden porker scrambled to his feet and made off up Main Street, reversed himself and came back toward Route 32. He was reportedly shoo-ed into an area yard and captured after a feverish chase. Numerous telephone calls to residents of the area failed to produce the name of the owner of the boar hog.

Coughlin, Stalter Make Way Through Smoke for Rescue

Rescued by firemen from a smoke-filled room during a Tuesday afternoon fire at 71 East Strand, Arthur Short, 40, of 65 East Strand, was reported in fair condition at Kingston Hospital where he is under treatment for smoke poisoning.

Fire officials said the fire occurred in an overstuffed chair in a first floor room of the three-story brick mercantile and apartment building owned by Robert Ortale.

Casimir Krakowski, of 22 Broadway, was walking along the railroad tracks in the vicinity of Ferry Street and East Strand when he saw smoke pouring from a window of the building. He sounded a general alarm at 3:30 p. m. from Box 2331.

Firemen in command of Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Chief George D. Matthews responded.

Firemen Francis T. Coughlin and Clayton A. Stalter Jr., groped their way through dense smoke and entered the room where the chair was burning. They found Short, who firemen said, was asleep or unconscious.

Coughlin and Stalter passed the man through a side window to other firemen. After Short was revived he was taken to the hospital suffering smoke poisoning.

Firemen said the first floor rooms were heavily charged with smoke. The fire was extinguished with pressurized water pumped from Union Hose Co. and Engine 3 apparatus.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined, but firemen said a lid of a wood stove was tipped and it was possible sparks might have ignited the chair, which was removed from the room by firemen.

Deputy Chief Matthews reported to Building Inspector Joseph Smith at the scene that he observed structural deterioration in the building where the fire occurred.

Responding to the alarm were Engine 1 and Truck 1 from Central Fire Station, Union Hose Co., Cordts Hose Co., Engine 3 and the Salvage truck. Engine 4 covered Central Fire Station until apparatus assigned there returned.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband, Vincent Maggiore Sr., who passed away one year ago today, April 5, 1960.

What we would give to see you smile,
And sit with you and talk awhile.
The blow was sudden, the shock severe,
To part with you, so kind and dear.
Day and night we think of you,
The things you used to say and do.
We wonder why you had to die
Without a chance to say goodbye.
God bless and keep you.

Onteora Winners At Science Fair ShowKeenInterest

The interest in, and knowledge of, science of Onteora's elementary students was demonstrated at the school district's three science fairs held during the past week. Pupils in Grades One through Six exhibited over 150 projects illustrating scientific principles in each of the State Education Department's 10 areas of science study.

The Woodstock Fair was held on Friday, March 24, the Bennett and Central buildings' fair was held Saturday, March 25. West Hurley held its fair on Tuesday, March 28 in conjunction with its regular P-TA meeting.

Judges selected from the Onteora high school science and mathematics faculty and the community at large, spent much time in evaluating each project. The students were questioned thoroughly by the judges to determine their knowledge of the science principles they were illustrating.

Each student entrant received a certificate in recognition of his effort in developing his project. The top three winners at each grade level (primary and grades 4, 5, 6) received gift certificates for books from their local P-TA's

Winners at each school were in first, second and third order:

Woodstock School

Grade 6—David Schneider, Jeanne Breitenstein, and Stanley Longyear.

Grade 5—Sandra Merch, Robin Hall and Douglas Dewitt, both second prize, and Elizabeth Majoras.

Grade 4—Kim Hall, Jeanne Goddard, and Janna Adels.

Primary—Lawrence Miller.

West Hurley School

Grade 6—Michael Tulp, Frank Raffaldi, Carey Anderson and Judith Nussbaum, all second prize, and Ellen Kight, Robert Sutton, third prize.

Grade 5—Brenda Berry, David Carr, and Jox Fox.

Grade 4—Brian Martin, Thomas Raffaldi, and Kimberly Hessenauer.

Primary — Kathleen Finke, Emily Smith, and Barbara Lowe.

Bennett and Central Schools

Grade 6—Nancy Ruff, Carol Knight, and Judy Hallenbeck.

Grade 5—Raymond Walsh, Robert Hanigan, and Alexandra Lent.

Grade 4—Helen Turck, Erik Donaldson, Sandra Torre, and Arlene Reffelt, both third prize.

Primary — Dorinda Andrade, Laurel VandeBogart, and Mrs. Fusick's First Grade class collection.

The top winners in each school will represent Onteora at the Mid-Hudson School Study Council Science Fair at the College of Education, New Paltz, Friday, May 12. There, they will be competing against other students from 60 school systems in the Mid-Hudson area.

One of their greatest values, in addition to stimulating interest and knowledge in science, was the community interest they developed. Hundreds of interested adults visited the fairs to view the work being done by our elementary school-age children.

WIN AT BENNETT AND CENTRAL SCHOOL—Winners of the Science Fairs held last week at the Bennett and Central School of Onteora Central School System were announced Friday. The top winners in each school will represent Onteora at the Mid-Hudson School Study Council Science Fair at New Paltz on Friday, May 12. Winners at Bennett and Central School are (l-r) front, Alexandra Lent, Laurel VandeBogart, Dorinda Andrade; second row, Arlene Reffelt, Sandra Torre, Helen Turck, Erik Donaldson, and back row, Robert Hanigan, Nancy Ruff, Judy Hallenbeck, and Raymond Walsh. Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

THE UNDERDEVELOPED COUNTRIES

It is unfortunate that millions live in poverty. But such is the fact and so it has been for thousands of years.

No additional financial blood transfusion from our already overtaxed people can make the world's poor even comfortable. The task of substantially raising the standard of living of four-fifths of the world's population is so colossal that the billions so far spent (except in Europe and Japan, which were already civilized) amount to little more than a hill of beans.

E. F. Hutton

Columbus found people as poverty-stricken as Asians and Africans today. It has taken us 469 years to get where we are. Neither pipe dreams, political oratory, nor sob-sistering built America.

Personal, religious and fraternal charity lent many a helping hand to individuals, but charity did not, and could not, solve mass poverty.

Men in the mass are poor simply because they can't, won't or don't produce enough to be anything else. Higher productivity comes chiefly from mechanization. The invention and accumulation of better tools come only from the investment of capital. But people won't increase mechanization unless capital is protected, contracts enforced and law and order prevail.

If the world's poor learn these simple truths, they will see a brighter future. Private investors will mechanize their countries to produce coffee, oil, iron, wool, copper, etc.

Political "charity" always creates political hostilities. This fact is emerging from the fog of fantasy which gives African tribes equal voting power in the U.N.

Hogan, Kennedy Back Jury Right On Presentments

NEW YORK (AP) — Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan and former Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy say they will support efforts to restore to grand juries the right to make presentments.

They were assured by Lee Thompson Smith, president of the Grand Jury Association of New York County (Manhattan), that the association will seek state legislation in that direction next year.

Hogan said a recent State Court of Appeals ruling that banned presentments — (statements or reports) —on public officials had stripped away a right that had existed since colonial times.

On Monday, Judge Mitchell D. Schweitzer of General Sessions Court told four new grand juries there were to be no more presentments in his court.

Schweitzer said the Court of Appeals ruling meant that if a grand jury did not have enough evidence to indict (make criminal charges), it could not censure anyone either publicly or privately employed.

Blowing Off Steam

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Ever had that feeling during mid-term exams of wanting to bust someone? East Mecklenburg High School students found a good way of letting off steam. During the examination period the school's Hi-Y Club towed an old jalopy onto the grounds and allowed students and teachers to take a swing at it—for a price. A swing with a full-sized sledge hammer costs 15 cents (four swings for four bits); a wallop with a medium-sized sledge hammer cost a dime. For the girls, a solid thump with an ordinary hammer was five cents. The money went for a club project.

Science at Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Slow-growing grass, a carbon life clock, and submarine fishing boats figure in the news of science and technology:

Lifespan

From new measurements, scientists of the National Bureau of Standards conclude that radioactive carbon-14 has a half-life of 5,760 years—not 5,568.

This is important because carbon-14 is one of the most valuable tracer atoms and time clocks on earth for estimating the age of archeological specimens.

The radioactive carbon, created in the air by cosmic rays, gets into every living thing, plants, animals, and man. After death, no more is added through intake of food or air. So a measure of how much radioactive carbon a mummy or a pile of wood ashes contain can tell how old it is. The half-life is the time it takes for half of any given starting amount of the radioactive atoms to break down. With carbon-14, half of all the atoms in a specimen would decay or disappear in 5,760 years, and half of the remainder in the next 5,760 years, and so on.

Fish Story

Someday, the fishing trawler will be a submarine, spotting fish with electronic gear, and using electricity to herd and guide fish into a collecting "net" or open mouth on the sub. The prediction comes from Dr. R. L. McHugh, U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.

The underwater trawler could fish continuously, with no bother from storms, he told the American Chemical Society.

Lazy Mowers

A special compound of hydrazine, a hot-shot rocket fuel, may soon be available in family-sized packages to help slow the growth of grass for men wanting to put in more ham mock time on weekends.

Chemical industry sources say the material already has been used successfully on golf courses and along parkways, reducing the need to cut grass from once or twice a week to two or three times a season.

Side-Kicks

A new use for rockets—to help an airplane pull out of a dangerous spin—has been developed by Air Force scientists. Rocket "packages" are mounted on each wing, and can be fired as an emergency measure to stabilize the plane.

Onteora Winners At Science Fair ShowKeenInterest

The interest in, and knowledge of, science of Onteora's elementary students was demonstrated at the school district's three science fairs held during the past week. Pupils in Grades One through Six exhibited over 150 projects illustrating scientific principles in each of the State Education Department's 10 areas of science study.

The Woodstock Fair was held on Friday, March 24, the Bennett and Central buildings' fair was held Saturday, March 25. West Hurley held its fair on Tuesday, March 28 in conjunction with its regular P-TA meeting.

Judges selected from the Onteora high school science and mathematics faculty and the community at large, spent much time in evaluating each project. The students were questioned thoroughly by the judges to determine their knowledge of the science principles they were illustrating.

Each student entrant received a certificate in recognition of his effort in developing his project. The top three winners at each grade level (primary and grades 4, 5, 6) received gift certificates for books from their local P-TA's

Winners at each school were in first, second and third order:

Woodstock School

Primary—Lawrence Miller.

West Hurley School

Grade 5—Brenda Berry, David Carr, and Jox Fox.

Grade 4—Brian Martin, Thomas Raffaldi, and Kimberly Hessenauer.

Primary — Kathleen Finke, Emily Smith, and Barbara Lowe.

Grade 6—Nancy Ruff, Carol Knight, and Judy Hallenbeck.

Primary — Dorinda Andrade, Laurel VandeBogart, and Mrs. Fusick's First Grade class collection.

The top winners in each school will represent Onteora at the Mid-Hudson School Study Council Science Fair at the College of Education, New Paltz, Friday, May 12. There, they will be competing against other students from 60 school systems in the Mid-Hudson area.

One of their greatest values, in addition to stimulating interest and knowledge in science, was the community interest they developed. Hundreds of interested adults visited the fairs to view the work being done by our elementary school-age children.

WIN AT BENNETT AND CENTRAL SCHOOL—Winners of the Science Fairs held last week at the Bennett and Central School of Onteora Central School System were announced Friday. The top winners in each school will represent Onteora at the Mid-Hudson School Study Council Science Fair at New Paltz on Friday, May 12. Winners at Bennett and Central School are (l-r) front, Alexandra Lent, Laurel VandeBogart, Dorinda Andrade; second row, Arlene Reffelt, Sandra Torre, Helen Turck, Erik Donaldson, and back row, Robert Hanigan, Nancy Ruff, Judy Hallenbeck, and Raymond Walsh. Think It Through

THE UNDERDEVELOPED COUNTRIES

It is unfortunate that millions live in poverty. But such is the fact and so it has been for thousands of years.

No additional financial blood transfusion from our already overtaxed people can make the world's poor even comfortable. The task of substantially raising the standard of living of four-fifths of the world's population is so colossal that the billions so far spent (except in Europe and Japan, which were already civilized) amount to little more than a hill of beans.

E. F. Hutton

Columbus found people as poverty-stricken as Asians and Africans today. It has taken us 469 years to get where we are. Neither pipe dreams, political oratory, nor sob-sistering built America.

Personal, religious and fraternal charity lent many a helping hand to individuals, but charity did not, and could not, solve mass poverty.

Men in the mass are poor simply because they can't, won't or don't produce enough to be anything else. Higher productivity comes chiefly from mechanization. The invention and accumulation of better tools come only from the investment of capital. But people won't increase mechanization unless capital is protected, contracts enforced and law and order prevail.

If the world's poor learn these simple truths, they will see a brighter future. Private investors will mechanize their countries to produce coffee, oil, iron, wool, copper, etc.

Political "charity" always creates political hostilities. This fact is emerging from the fog of fantasy which gives African tribes equal voting power in the U.N.

Science at Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Slow-growing grass, a carbon life clock, and submarine fishing boats figure in the news of science and technology:

Lifespan

From new measurements, scientists of the National Bureau of Standards conclude that radioactive carbon-14 has a half-life of 5,760 years—not 5,568.

This is important because carbon-14 is one of the most valuable tracer atoms and time clocks on earth for estimating the age of archeological specimens.

The radioactive carbon, created in the air by cosmic rays, gets into every living thing, plants, animals, and man. After death, no more is added through intake of food or air. So a measure of how much radioactive carbon a mummy or a pile of wood ashes contain can tell how old it is. The half-life is the time it takes for half of any given starting amount of the radioactive atoms to break down. With carbon-14, half of all the atoms in a specimen would decay or disappear in 5,760 years, and half of the remainder in the next 5,760 years, and so on.

Fish Story

Someday, the fishing trawler will be a submarine, spotting fish with electronic gear, and using electricity to herd and guide fish into a collecting "net" or open mouth on the sub. The prediction comes from Dr. R. L. McHugh, U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.

The underwater trawler could fish continuously, with no bother from storms, he told the American Chemical Society.

Lazy Mowers

A special compound of hydrazine, a hot-shot rocket fuel, may soon be available in family-sized packages to help slow the growth of grass for men wanting to put in more hammock time on weekends.

Chemical industry sources say the material already has been used successfully on golf courses and along parkways, reducing the need to cut grass from once or twice a week to two or three times a season.

Side-Kicks

A new use for rockets—to help an airplane pull out of a dangerous spin—has been developed by Air Force scientists. Rocket "packages" are mounted on each wing, and can be fired as an emergency measure to stabilize the plane.

Hogan, Kennedy Back Jury Right On Presentments

NEW YORK (AP) — Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan and former Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy say they will support efforts to restore to grand juries the right to make presentments.

They were assured by Lee Thompson Smith, president of the Grand Jury Association of New York County (Manhattan), that the association will seek state legislation in that direction next year.

Hogan said a recent State Court of Appeals ruling that banned presentments — (statements or reports) —on public officials had stripped away a right that had existed since colonial times.

On Monday, Judge Mitchell D. Schweitzer of General Sessions Court told four new grand juries there were to be no more presentments in his court.

Schweitzer said the Court of Appeals ruling meant that if a grand jury did not have enough evidence to indict (make criminal charges), it could not censure anyone either publicly or privately employed.

Blowing Off Steam

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Ever had that feeling during mid-term exams of wanting to bust someone? East Mecklenburg High School students found a good way of letting off steam. During the examination period the school's Hi-Y Club towed an old jalopy onto the grounds and allowed students and teachers to take a swing at it—for a price. A swing with a full-sized sledge hammer costs 15 cents (four swings for four bits); a wallop with a medium-sized sledge hammer cost a dime. For the girls, a solid thump with an ordinary hammer was five cents. The money went for a club project.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By JIMMY HATLO

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A new rush of profit and loss statements is on the way. And some of them may shake the optimism of the Wall Street bulls from time to time.

The early reports on industrial earnings in the first months of this year have run strongly to decline from the previous year. This could change as more report.

Banks Join Parade

Even the banks are joining the parade. They have been able until now to chalk up steady increases in profits, contrary to the downward trend that has plagued so many of their industrial customers during the slide in business activity.

But at last declining interest rates have caught up with the banks. And the first reports for the January-March quarter show a majority of the financial institutions making less money than a year ago, despite a modest increase in the volume of loans in many instances.

Interest rates have fallen for two reasons.

First, there has been a drop of over-all demand for loans spread throughout the financial community — for mortgages, instalment credit and long-term debt for corporate expansion, as well as the short-term borrowing of industry from banks. In the banks' case their customers often needed less short-term borrowing to carry reduced stocks or to meet trimmed payrolls.

Second, the money managers in Washington started months ago to ease the money market as a weapon against recession — by whatever name they may have been calling it then. This trend has continued under the new administration which wants long-term interest rates to fall to encourage recovery and economic growth, while short-term rates hold firm.

Big city banks are now scaling their interest charges on business loans from a base of 4½ per cent. A year ago the minimum charge was 5 per cent.

The easy-money policy plus the recession's lessening of demand for long-term funds has sent yields from bonds down, so that banks are getting less from this source of investment. Mortgage rates now are softening, meaning still less income for the various institutions and individuals who are in this financial market.

Eight years later the German scientist Kloproth discovered element 92 and named it Uranium in honor of Herschel, who he thought was a better scientist since Uranium was then thought to be valueless.

Trooper Assault Case in Greene Scheduled Today

Harry Hoyt of Purling, Greene County, charged with assaulting State Trooper Grant Davis in May 1959, was scheduled to face Greene County Judge Roy C. Moon on Monday for a third time but the case was moved over until today in order that an extra panel of trial jurors might be summoned. Only 29 prospective trial jurors reported when court opened Monday. An extra panel of 36 was ordered.

Hoyt's first trial in the fall of 1959 ended in a hung jury. Proceedings for his second trial in March 1960, had gotten under way when Judge Moon granted a motion for a mistrial because of a search going on for Hayward Newcomb who had escaped the Greene County Jail.

It is alleged Hoyt and two other men, Donovan Andrus of Windham and Wilfred Burrows of Hensonville, assaulted Trooper Davis at the Catskill Creek House parking lot in South Cairo when he approached a car in which they were passengers. The other two men seek a separate trial.

Two weeks ago the Appellate Division denied a motion by Hoyt's counsel, Mrs. Rosemary Byron of Athens, who charged the jury was illegally constituted because the master jury list did not contain 1,500 names.

Byrne Chevrolet Takes Agency for Mercedes-Benz

J. H. Byrne Chevrolet Corp., 731 Broadway, announced today it has been appointed sales and service dealer for Mercedes-Benz, DKW and Auto Union Motor cars by the Mercedes-Benz Sales Inc., South Bend, Indiana.

Mr. Byrne has been the Chevrolet dealer at the Broadway address since August, 1957, and will continue under the same firm name. Prior to taking over the Chevrolet dealership here he was located in White Plains, Mt. Kisco and Meriden, Conn.

The firm also operates a used car lot on Albany Avenue Extension, and will continue that business.

Byrne said the Mercedes-Benz Inc., a parts service and sales organization, has all parts available for immediate service by trained mechanics.

Byrne also noted that the firm has several new models of the Mercedes-Benz cars in the Broadway salesroom for display and demonstration purposes. He also stated 1961 is the diamond jubilee of the Mercedes-Benz car.

mail. Police of that city notified the Ulster County sheriff's office.

To Await Grand Jury

Cossaboom waived extradition and was returned to Kingston. Arraignment was before Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky of the town of Rosendale last night, Cossaboom waiving examination. He was committed to the Ulster County jail to await action of the grand jury.

A warrant for Cossaboom's arrest was issued last Friday by Judge Brodsky on a charge of kidnaping his niece, Rosalie Orvis, from the home of her mother, Mrs. Estella Boyer, in Cottekill on the early morning of Wednesday, March 16.

Questioning Girl

The girl spent the night in the woman's section of the jail and is being questioned in the alleged kidnaping, it is reported. No charges have been placed against her.

Cossaboom has a wife and several children in the area, but has been separated from them since January.

A missing person alarm was sent out Thursday but it was later discovered that the girl was in the company of her uncle. A teletype alarm was sent out covering the eastern seaboard.

Macmillan, JFK

the Western powers must brace themselves for a series of cold-war conflicts even though the Southeast Asian Communist threat is brought under control.

Has Busy Night

In preparation for today's meeting with Macmillan, Kennedy met at the State Department for about 2½ hours Tuesday night with Secretary of State Dean Rusk; Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon; Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, David K. E. Bruce, U.S. ambassador to Britain; Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joints Chiefs of staff, and other policy makers and advisers.

The President had gone to the State Department in late afternoon to speak and answer questions off the record at a meeting of 500 radio and television news editors and executives

Without returning to the White House, Kennedy, who had just reached Washington from a long Easter weekend at Palm Beach, Fla., went to Rusk's office for the 2½ hour meeting which lasted until 8:30 p.m.

"We just discussed some of the problems," Kennedy told newsmen after the meeting. "We were getting ready for our discussions with Mr. Macmillan."

Questioned about the prospects for a cease-fire in Laos, he said that "the Russians and the British are in touch" on that problem.

Police Seek Boys

Complaints that boys were setting off firecrackers in the vicinity of Yeoman, Elizabeth and Marius Streets Tuesday were investigated by police.

Hot piston test reveals the ash-free secret of Shell X-100 Premium. Here's how Shell scientists can prove that Shell X-100 Premium leaves no additive ash. A simulated aluminum piston is heated and a few drops of conventional multi-grade motor oil dropped on it. As the picture on left shows, this oil leaves a deposit. This deposit is additive ash. When the test is repeated, as at right, with Shell X-100 Premium, all the oil vaporizes. It leaves no additive ash. This is important, because additive ash can contribute to engine knock and uneven performance.

BREAKTHROUGH:

Suddenly Shell makes every other motor oil obsolete —with a revolutionary new formula which fights the five internal troubles that can shorten engine life

Shell's research on engine behavior discloses five common internal troubles that can shorten the life of your car.

These troubles are additive ash, crankcase dirt, temperature changes, engine acid, and cooling system leaks. They all act silently and unseen.

Read how new Shell X-100® Premium Motor Oil prolongs engine life by fighting all five troubles—and why Shell scientists can make this unique promise.

TODAY, every Shell dealer in America has new Shell X-100 Premium Motor Oil ready for your Spring oil change.

New Shell X-100 Premium is a genuine scientific breakthrough because it is the only motor oil available that helps protect your car simultaneously against these five internal troubles that can shorten engine life.

Do you know what these troubles are? If not, you owe it to your engine to read this advertisement. Ten minutes' time now can save you hours of trouble in the future.

Trouble #1—additive ash

Up to now, even the best premium motor oils were powerless to guard against additive ash—because they actually created it. While endeavoring to keep your crankcase shipshape, some of the ingredients in these oils contributed to the hard crust of ash inside your combustion chamber.

All other premium motor oils still have the same snag.

The trouble stems from the metallic additives used to prevent scuffing, dirt deposits, oxidation and so forth. These additives do what's expected of them, but with each stroke of the piston, they can leave a tiny amount of metallic salts in the combustion chamber where they burn and form additive ash.

This hard crusty ash, when allowed to build up, can seriously affect your car's performance—and can make it knock and run roughly.

New Shell X-100 Premium doesn't add to this problem—because it doesn't contain a single metallic additive.

Trouble #2—crankcase dirt

All engines accumulate crankcase dirt no matter how well they are protected by filters. The problem is to stop this dirt from getting together and forming sticky sludge which can clog your engine.

Most premium oils use a detergent additive to do the job. And they perform well. But, like other additives, most detergents are metallic and cause that old devil—ash.

Shell's solution is to replace detergent with a remarkable new ingredient known as a dispersant. Shell scientists call it Alkadine.*

Alkadine in new Shell X-100 Premium helps keep your engine clean by holding dirt particles apart. Thus they don't form sticky sludge. Some particles can be trapped by the oil filter; most are drained out when you change your oil.

Oddly enough, nobody yet knows exactly how Alkadine works. But the proof of the pudding is in the testing. After 1,200,000 miles of city driving, engines of test cars lubricated with Shell X-100 Premium showed so little sludge that it could hardly be measured.

Trouble #3—temperature changes

Many motor oils tend to become too thick when cold and too thin when hot.

New Shell X-100 Premium is an all-year oil. Here's how it works. Alkadine has a molecular structure that resembles a basket of eels.

This is new Shell X-100 Premium. Look for the white can with red letters. Your Shell service station now has it.

When the oil is cold, Alkadine's eel-like molecules curl up as if for comfort. In effect, they take up less space in the oil—and the oil flows freely through the tightest bearing, even on cold nights.

Conversely, when the Alkadine in new Shell X-100 Premium is hot, its molecules uncurl. They take up more room. And the oil resists thinning.

Thus, new Shell X-100 Premium eliminates trouble from sudden temperature changes. It lubricates just as efficiently in June as it does in January.

Trouble #4—engine acid

All automobile engines manufacture acid. This acid can do far more damage than friction. It can eat away at engine parts in much the way stomach acid can cause ulcers. Then you're really in trouble.

One way to combat engine acid is to make the oil alkaline. Many oils use this method. But here's what happens.

The neutralizing effect of alkaline oil inevitably gets weaker and weaker as engine acid eats up the alkalinity—till it eventually stops working completely. When this happens, your oil no longer gives you anti-acid protection.

Shell tackles this troublesome acid problem in a new and better way.

Shell X-100 Premium actually plates all engine surfaces with a thin chemical film. The metal literally adsorbs some of Shell X-100 Premium's protective qualities. Chemists call this phenomenon "chemisorption."

"Chemisorption" offers a longer-lasting protection against acid attack than any other method yet invented.

Trouble #5—cooling system leaks

Tiny anti-freeze leaks can play nasty tricks with many motor oils.

These oils can react chemically with permanent anti-freeze and form a horrible sludge which can actually bring an otherwise healthy engine to a standstill. Then you're on the way to a major repair bill.

New Shell X-100 Premium sets all such fears at rest. It resists reaction with any sort of anti-freeze. It shrugs it off. (Better get that leak fixed, anyhow, to keep your cooling system working.)

The additives in Shell X-100 Premium resist washing out with water, too. In some oils, additives can be lost to water leaks. In Shell X-100 Premium, they stay in the oil to protect your engine.

Astounding results from 5½ million-mile road test

Professional drivers put Shell X-100 Premium to a brutal test. They took $270,000 worth of automobiles and drove them relentlessly for 5½ million miles. Over highways, up mountain grades, around test tracks, over turnpikes—and through city traffic.

When Shell technicians tore the engines apart for inspection, here's what they found.

1. Wear was incredibly low. One car lubricated with Shell X-100 Premium still revealed the original tool markings on its rings—even after 70,000 miles at speeds of 60 to 100 mph.

The low wear with Shell X-100 Premium was verified over and over. In fact, when nine cars were driven at test track speeds for 70,000 to 100,000 miles, it was found that, from the standpoint of cylinder wear, the engines were good for another 100,000 miles.

2. Cleanliness ratings were tops. Pistons removed from a car lubricated with Shell X-100 Premium scored a rating of 9.5 out of a possible 10. A score of 9 is considered excellent.
3. Sludge was reduced to almost half the amount that lubrication experts consider to be acceptable.
4. Oil consumption records caused cheers. Cars lubricated with Shell X-100 Premium were driven at race track speeds for 100,000 miles, yet used only one quart every 1,800 miles.

On some tests, Shell X-100 Premium even out-performed expensive laboratory "reference oils." Shell X-100 Premium, fortunately, is neither expensive nor a laboratory oddity.

How much does Shell X-100 Premium cost?

If you drive the national average of 10,000 miles per year, the switch to Shell X-100 Premium (with regular oil changes) will cost you only $3.60 more than ordinary oil—give or take a nickel. And probably nothing extra if you already use a premium grade.

Drive to your Shell service station and ask the dealer to change your oil while the engine is still hot. Be sure to ask for Shell X-100 Premium in the white can. It protects your engine from all five internal troubles listed above.

Professional drivers put Shell X-100 Premium to a brutal test. They took $270,000 worth of automobiles and drove them relentlessly for 5½ million miles. Over highways, up mountain grades, around test tracks, over turnpikes—and through city traffic.

When Shell technicians tore the engines apart for inspection, here's what they found.

1. Wear was incredibly low. One car lubricated with Shell X-100 Premium still revealed the original tool markings on its rings—even after 70,000 miles at speeds of 60 to 100 mph.

The low wear with Shell X-100 Premium was verified over and over. In fact, when nine cars were driven at test track speeds for 70,000 to 100,000 miles, it was found that, from the standpoint of cylinder wear, the engines were good for another 100,000 miles.

2. Cleanliness ratings were tops. Pistons removed from a car lubricated with Shell X-100 Premium scored a rating of 9.5 out of a possible 10. A score of 9 is considered excellent.
3. Sludge was reduced to almost half the amount that lubrication experts consider to be acceptable.
4. Oil consumption records caused cheers. Cars lubricated with Shell X-100 Premium were driven at race track speeds for 100,000 miles, yet used only one quart every 1,800 miles.

On some tests, Shell X-100 Premium even out-performed expensive laboratory "reference oils." Shell X-100 Premium, fortunately, is neither expensive nor a laboratory oddity.

How much does Shell X-100 Premium cost?

If you drive the national average of 10,000 miles per year, the switch to Shell X-100 Premium (with regular oil changes) will cost you only $3.60 more than ordinary oil—give or take a nickel. And probably nothing extra if you already use a premium grade.

Drive to your Shell service station and ask the dealer to change your oil while the engine is still hot. Be sure to ask for Shell X-100 Premium in the white can. It protects your engine from all five internal troubles listed above.

Lower Electric Rate Is Approved

NEW YORK (AP) — The State Power Authority has approved reduced electric service rates for the city of Salamanca and the village of Arcade and Fairport.

The communities are scheduled to begin receiving power from the Authority's Niagara power project toward the end of April.

Most of the savings will be passed on to consumers. Savings for the first year were estimated at $30,000 for Salamanca, $24,000 for Arcade and $36,000 for Fairport.

The savings were announced by the Authority Tuesday at the same time that it earmarked Niagara project power for two private industrial operations in the Buffalo area.

The metals processing division of the Curtiss-Wright Corp. got an allocation of 6,000 kilowatts. The division operates a Buffalo plant where it makes steel and titanium products for military and civilian uses.

The other allocation was 400 kilowatts to the Graphite Specialties Corp., which is building a new plant in the Town of Wheatfield near Buffalo.

Rent Control Ends In Albany on Order

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Rent control ended in Albany today, by order of Robert E. Herman, state rent administrator.

Housing subject to control had a vacancy rate of 6 per cent. Lifting of controls is permissible when vacancies exceed 5 per cent.

The Albany office of the Temporary State Housing Rent Commission will be closed May 1 and business from communities in the Albany area will be handled by the Syracuse office, Herman said.

Direct, Wide-Open Approach Offered as Best Bet for JFK

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and his secretary of state, Dean Rusk, for two days have been attempting to inform the American public on their foreign problems—by remote control.

They did the informing on an off-the-record basis. Whether this is half so effective or informative as talking to the public directly —say through nationwide TV—is open to big dispute.

Two Rules Apply

Rusk and other high State Department officials spoke here to about 500 radio-TV executives commentators and newsmen who came from around the country at their own expense. Tuesday Kennedy talked to them, too.

But, since it was all off-the-record, two rules apply:

1. When these people return home, if they want to talk on the air or in print about what they learned, none of it can be presented as coming from Kennedy, Rusk or others in the administration.

2. They must present what they learned, if they wish to discuss it at all, as their own views, in one way or another. They were told no secrets, of course, because none could be divulged without violating national security.

For several weeks now, other officials of the Kennedy administration have been talking off-the-record with newsmen and TV commentators at luncheons and dinners.

Dull and Barren

Here, too, nothing reported later can be presented as coming from them, directly or indirectly, or as reflecting the views of the administration. Some of these off-the-record sessions can be extraordinarily dull and barren.

Officials in the administrations of Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower held similar off-the-record sessions but with small groups of newsmen and commentators.

Eisenhower himself had a series of such meetings with newsmen he invited to the White House for dinners.

The trouble with all this—from the standpoint of public information—is that the public is not being told and in fact, by the rules laid down, is prevented from being told the true origin of this information.

There is one situation in which the public can have no doubt Kennedy is talking. That is at his wide open news conferences, because then he can be quoted directly in all he says.

But time alone in these 30-minute sessions must often prevent him from going into all the detail an answer to a question may require.

Direct TV Talk Urged

And, since his statements are answers to questions, he does not have a chance to go into problems he may consider more important and worthy of discussion than what is asked him.

He could do a real educational job with the public by talking to it directly on TV about national problems. For some reason he hasn't tried this yet.

Eisenhower started doing it early in his administration, making his first such TV talk on April 16, 1953. His secretary of state, the late John Foster Dulles made a TV talk on foreign policy Jan. 27, 1953, seven days after taking office.

True, Rusk is less talkative than Dulles. But that doesn't answer this question: Why take the long way around, staying out of sight, to inform the public when the direct, wide-open approach would be simpler, easier and more effective?

Over Half of 21,927 Letters on School Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., received more mail in March than any other senator, his aides claim.

Of the 21,927 pieces of mail delivered, more than half dealt with federal aid to education, the aides reported Tuesday.

Constituents who favored aid to parochial schools wrote 8,061 letters; opposed aid to parochial schools, 3,009; opposed aid to education in general, 527, and favored President Kennedys' program of aid to public schools only, 524.

GOP Is Readying Blame on Demos If Laos Falls

WASHINGTON (AP) —Republican congressional leaders appear to be constructing a record aimed at putting the blame on the Kennedy administration if Laos eventually falls into Communist hands.

Their strategy, not publicly admitted, seems directed at countering Democratic contentions that President Kennedy inherited from the previous Republican administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower an almost insoluble crisis in Laos.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois fired another round Tuesday in behalf of the GOP at an informal news conference. He contended that formation of a coalition government in the Southeast Asian country would only "postpone the evil day" of a Communist takeover.

Dirksen said he was "greatly distressed" by a suggestion of roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman that neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma will have to have a place in any coalition government that might be established.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is expected to be questioned about this point at a scheduled confidential briefing of members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee next Tuesday.

It was Dirksen's theme that if Communists win a place in the kind of neutralist government Kennedy has said he favors in Laos, the result will be that they will win command of the country. He said "the history books show that's what always happens."

Several Republican leaders have pursued Dirksen's course.

Council Acts

that it will not spread or crop up in other sections of the city."

Enforcement of ordinances is essential, he stressed, and involved are housing codes, zoning laws and activities of such inspection agencies as the plumbing, building and fire departments and others.

Outlines Desired Regulations

The mayor forwarded a copy of zoning regulations sought to facilitate urban renewal procedure.

The amendment deals with structural and environmental conditions to be met as the urban renewal program proceeds, such as off-street parking, building standards and other details.

The mayor noted it is subject to revision by the aldermen before a public hearing is held. Elmore C. Yallum, planning board chairman, he said, "has indicated a desire to meet with the laws and rules committee, and any other interested alderman on this matter, at your convenience." The amendment, he noted, would figure as "an integral part of the Kingston Master Plan."

Would Hold Consultations

"Other such documents," he advised, "will be submitted from time to time, as we near the termination of the two-year contract in August." He and planning board members would, if requested, he said, consult with the aldermen on the proposed changes.

The recertification measure was adopted after favorable reports by the council's special seven-member urban renewal committee and the five-member laws and rules committee.

Easter Egg Hunt To Be Held Saturday

The Saugerties Jaycee annual Easter Egg Hunt, planned for last Saturday when bad weather forced postponement, will be held Saturday, April 8 at Cantine Memorial Field beginning at 11 a. m.

The hunt is open to all area children from one to 10 years of age. Awards will be made in each of three age groups, one to three, four to seven, and eight to 10 years old. Winners will be determined by the number of eggs collected during the hunt.

Anthony Restivo, project chairman, stated that parents are invited as spectators but will not be allowed on the field during the hunt.

As many as 100 million eggs a season are produced by a single oyster.

N. Front, High Road Traffic . . .

Chiefs Conference June 4 through June 7 at Lido Beach, N. Y. One requesting attendance at the Conference of the International Association of Fire Chiefs at Las Vegas, Nev., was not approved apparently because of the reported policy of limiting such trips to the eastern border of the Mississippi. The latter session is slated for September.

60-Day Test Planned

Mayor Radel, in a letter dealing with the North Front Street traffic proposal, suggested trial of two-way traffic for 60 days. Alderman Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward, as traffic committee chairman said 90 days had been mentioned in the committee, but indicated this point could be decided upon one way or the other.

The test, said the letter, had been asked for by the Uptown Businessmen's Association, and more particularly those on North Front Street, which for some time has had one-way travel between Fair and Crown Streets. The street was made one-way for its full length when the uptown one-way system became effective in the administration of former Mayor Frederick H. Stang.

Two-way travel was re-established some time ago between Washington Avenue and Crown Street.

Mayor Radel wrote that he "would not like to sacrifice any parking, at least during the early part of this trial to determine if any adjustments in this area would be required." He indicated that April 6 had been set as the starting date for preparing plans to make the change.

Two Complain

Alderman Samuel J. Perry (R) Fifth Ward, minority leader, and Joseph Tomaszewki (D) Sixth Ward, recalled that efforts to get something done on the High Road, have been under way for three years without satisfactory results, and Perry said he backed Tomaszewski in his demand for immediate action.

Review of conditions on the High Road came after the reading of a letter from Attorney Richard W. Griggs, who in behalf of a client, proposed elimination of a dangerous condition on the street by making it dead-end with a turn-around area at a certain point.

Griggs, as counsel for Leroy H. Wells Sr., of the White Star Transfer Co., 48 Hasbrouck Avenue, said the street was the only means of travel to the rear of his client's warehouse property.

Three-Year Condition

Three years ago, he noted, a section involving a wall caved in and barricades were placed His client, he said, has been deprived of access to the third floor of a warehouse. Through talks with the mayor, and others, he said, he learned that effective repair would cost $30,000 which is considered prohibitive.

Griggs proposed that the street be made one of two-way travel with a dead-end and turn-around area near the rear of the client's property.

Tomaszewski, said he had been watching the situation for three years and has had repeated demands for action from residents of his ward, and "they want action now." City employes, he said, "have checked the situation 17 different times and noting was done." He asked that at least something temporary be done so that the street could be traveled its full length in safety.

Favor Through Travel

Both Tomaszewski and Perry indicated they favored continued through travel over the street, rather than the dead end proposal, but the council decided on recommendation of Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward, traffic committee chairman, to request a study dealing with the feasibility of the Griggs proposal.

Perry said the people of his ward use the street a lot and he believed it had been so used before he was born. He held that if the mayor had taken his advice three years ago broken wall and caved in area would not be in such bad repair today.

Letters read by Deputy City Clerk Walter S. Foster, as requested by Alderman Lawrence E. Woerner (D) Fourth Ward, however, listed several reasons why City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan considered full repair of the road impracticable.

The letters had been sent to Aldermen Woerner and Tomaszewski in late 1960. They indicated generally that safe and lasting repair would be costly and that the walls would be apt to collapse in the future.

Not Safe, He Says

The route, said Hallinan, is a narrow and dangerous one, which had been built specifically to serve vehicles of the Newark Lime and Cement Co., many years ago. Stones in the wall are not suitable for the purpose used, erosion has been under way and "subsidence is well along."

Undermining, he said, was "almost uniformly" in progress, and wall stones were out "at points of maximum pressure." The road, he said, "cannot serve modern traffic efficiently, safely nor economically." It duplicates traffic use of East Strand and Delaware Avenue, he noted.

Claims Filed

The claim of $175,000 was filed by Alton North as guardian of Madeline North, of 65 West Union Street. Of the total, $150,000 is for a leg fracture and other injuries suffered by Madeline last Dec. 16 because of an alleged snow and ice condition on a West Union Street sidewalk. The $25,000 is filed by Alton North as guardian.

The one of $80,000, filed by Charles Naccarato Jr., of 75 First Avenue in behalf of Charles J. Naccarato Jr., 10, and is for and other injuries suffered by a broken leg bone, head, back the boy last Jan. 2 in a Kingman Park skating rink mishap. Of the total $50,000 is filed for the injuries and $30,000 by the father for loss of services and medical care.

A claim of $20,000 was filed by Alfred and Johanna Stoff, RD Box 250, East Kingston, to collect for injuries resulting from a collision last Dec. 21 with a city snow plow at First Avenue and Kingston Street. Johanna seeks $15,000 for head, neck, back and shoulder injuries, and $5,000 is filed by Alton. The claim was filed through Flanagan & Ortale.

Leo and Margaret Stauble, of Sawkill, filed a claim of $6,000 against the city and Board of Water Commissioners for "trespass and ejectment" resulting of the alleged laying of a water line over the claimants' property without easement or right-of-way. Robert A. MacKinnon is the attorney.

Mae F. and John J. Connors, of 26 Boulder Avenue, through Attorney Thomas F. Saccoman, filed a claim of $350 for damage attributed to a street condition during the winter, which resulted in a cave-in of a section of blacktop sidewalk and lawn on the claimants' property.

Mayor Radel, in a letter, said he had been requested by the Civil Service Employes Association to ask for action that would permit deductions from payrolls of certain dues, and the request was left with the laws and rules committee.

The general municipal law now provides for deduction of membership dues for civil service employes organizations by a municipality when payrolls are computed for each period.

Notes Railroad Change

Stephen J. Keating, trainmaster of the West Shore division, New York Central Railroad, informed the aldermen that a shifting of yard switching operations from an eastern to western sector began March 8 and it relieved congestion at the Flatbush Avenue crossing. Hastings asked that a letter of thanks be sent to him.

To Study Dog Ordinance

Alderman-at-large Harold L. Kaye named as a special committee to study the feasibility of enactment of a local dog ordinance; John P. Heitzman (D), 12th Ward; Francis R. Koenig (D). Ninth Ward and Edward J. Schrowang (R), First Ward.

Alderman Heitzman, who noted he had been critical of a previously offered dog ordinance proposal, said he had not done so without intending to act in offering an alternate proposal. Through the mayor's office, he said, he had obtained material from the State Mayors Conference on the subject, and indicated he would have suggestions to make.

Dr. Herbert Derman, local laboratory director, and Dr. James Kelly, associate director, were authorized to attend sessions April 13, 14 and 15, of the Association of Chemical Scientists in Philadelphia.

Assessor James D. Devine was granted permission to attend the New York State Assessors' training school in Albany April 16 through 19 and Ben Silverman, local sealer of weights and measures was authorized to attend the spring business meeting April 4 of the Southeastern Group of weights and measures officials at Baldwin, L. I.

Man Hitching Ride Held on Gun Charge

A 21-year-old Pennsylvania man hitchhiking on Route 9W was picked up by Kingston state police Tuesday on a charge of illegal possession of a firearm.

Trooper Edward Whalen arrested Robert G. Lloyd of Colver, Pa., for possession of a revolver. Lloyd had the revolver in a suitcase as he was hitchhiking in the Town of Ulster.

Investigation by Trooper Charles Teelon and Cpl. Edward Shannon, both BCI, disclosed that the man was en route to Hillsdale at the time.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur Reilly of the Town of Ulster, waived examination and was committed to the Ulster County jail to await action of the grand jury.

Suggests 5 Growth Stocks Priced Under $40 a Share

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "You've recommended good growth stocks fairly often in your column, but most of them seem pretty high-priced for my pocketbook. How about some "cheaper" growth stocks for me, preferably selling for less than 40?" H. F.

A) In today's strong market, this isn't too easy. But here are five situations, selling in the 20's and 30's, which appear to have substantial growth ahead of them.

The first is Lytton Financial (OTC), a West Coast savings and loan holding company which is forging ahead nicely. The shares have acted well and should sell higher.

Green Shoe (NYSE), recommended here Dec. 2 at around 22, has come up sharply but has plenty of headroom, in my opinion.

Ginn and Company (OTC), a newcomer to the stock market, is one of the oldest textbook publishers. Earnings have risen substantially, and the company has a strong competitive position in its field.

Avery Adhesive Products (OTC) is the leading maker of self-adhering labels and similar products. Sales, profit margins, and earnings have moved up steadily.

Spartans Industries (NYSE) is an aggressively-managed producer and merchandiser of family wearing apparel. Its prospects have been bettered by a recent entry into the growing discount store business.

Q) "Last year I bought 100 shares of Texas Instruments at 225. Why does this company show increases in sales and earnings year after year, and yet the stock acts poorly? Should I take a loss?" W. Y.

A) Don't give up the ship. Texas Instruments (NYSE) has been temporarily affected by price-cutting and increased competition in semi-conductors. Shares were simply bid up to unrealistic heights last year. Long-term prospects seem very favorable, and I would hold this stock.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in this column.

Laos Drops 300 To Curb Rebels

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The royal Laotian government took swift steps today to counter pro-Communist rebel threats around Muong Kassy. Western military sources said 300 government paratroopers were dropped there.

The troopers would outflank about 300 Pathet Lao rebels reported to have parachuted Tuesday on the highway from Soviet transport planes 20 miles south of Muong Kassy, the sources said.

The sudden upsurge in military activity appeared to represent efforts by each side to consolidate its position as international diplomatic maneuvers increased the possibility of a cease-fire.

Muong Kassy lies about 100 miles north of here on the main highway connecting Luang Prabang and Vientiane. The town itself is occupied by neither side. The rebels cut the highway last month.

The government's quick reply to Pathet Lao threat came against a background of feverish diplomatic activity. The British indicated they expect to join with the Soviet Union in an appeal for a cease-fire in the next two days.

The two countries, co-chairmen of the Geneva Indochina armistice conference of 1954, are expected to issue an order that both sides stop fighting and remain where they are.

To Vote on Stock

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — In a proxy statement issued today, Studebaker-Packard Corporation requested shareholder approval to increase its authorized second preferred stock by 250,000 shares and its authorized common stock by 5,000,000 additional shares. If this increase is adopted at the annual shareholders meeting April 27 in South Bend, Studebaker will have 470,000 shares of second preferred stock ($47,000,000 par value) and nearly 10,000,000 shares of common stock available for acquisition purposes. Approval of the proposal requires the votes of a majority of the outstanding second preferred stock and a majority of the outstanding shares of common stock, as well as the consent of the holders of two-thirds of the out-standing first preferred stock.

Two Quit Buffer Duty

BRUSSELS (AP) — Two Belgian members of the U.N. truce Commission in Palestine have been withdrawn from service in the buffer zones between Israel and the United Arab Republic, Belgian sources said today.

The sources said the U.A.R. requested the withdrawal on the ground diplomatic relations have been broken off between the two nations.

Firemen Laud Krom, Tell About Exposition Booth

Uniformed Fire Fighters Association Local 461 AFL-CIO in announcements today complimented Benson Krom of the Kingston (Consolidated) District Board of Education for his stand relative to installation of sprinkler systems in rural and city schools, and reported plans for a booth at the Lions Exposition.

The association expressed hope that other Board of Education members will support a plan for installation of approved automatic sprinkler systems in the schools, and pledged to continue efforts in support of a mandatory automatic sprinkler bill passed in the State Legislature.

The firemen's booth at the Lions Exposition will feature some of the fire department equipment, and literature on fire prevention, which will be distributed. Two short films entitled "I'm No Fool With Fire" starring Jimney Crickett will be shown.

A booklet listing fire alarm locations in the city will be distributed, and a fire alarm box will be set up to instruct the public how to sound an alarm of fire.

GOP Leads . . .

eight. Paul Egan lost his bid for a third term as mayor.

Egan — who left public assistance rolls to become mayor — was defeated by Jay L. Hunter, 70, realtor and retired school teacher.

Had Goldwater Backing

The defeat ended eight stormy years of firing police chiefs and feuding with the city council. On one occasion, Egan named a parrot as police chief.

Tower, 35, former college government professor, campaigned against President Kennedy's New Frontier with the support of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Goldwater, leader of the Republican conservatives, campaigned for Tower throughout Texas.

Blakley, a wealthy Dallas businessman, also is a conservative. He also is opposed to much of the administration program.

Wright is classified as a political moderate.

If he wins in the runoff, Tower would be the first Republican elected to the U.S. Senate from Texas since Reconstruction days.

GOP Is Readying Blame on Demos If Laos Falls

WASHINGTON (AP) —Republican congressional leaders appear to be constructing a record aimed at putting the blame on the Kennedy administration if Laos eventually falls into Communist hands.

Their strategy, not publicly admitted, seems directed at countering Democratic contentions that President Kennedy inherited from the previous Republican administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower an almost insoluble crisis in Laos.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois fired another round Tuesday in behalf of the GOP at an informal news conference. He contended that formation of a coalition government in the Southeast Asian country would only "postpone the evil day" of a Communist takeover.

Dirksen said he was "greatly distressed" by a suggestion of roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman that neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma will have to have a place in any coalition government that might be established.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is expected to be questioned about this point at a scheduled confidential briefing of members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee next Tuesday.

It was Dirksen's theme that if Communists win a place in the kind of neutralist government Kennedy has said he favors in Laos, the result will be that they will win command of the country. He said "the history books show that's what always happens."

Several Republican leaders have pursued Dirksen's course.

Council Acts

that it will not spread or crop up in other sections of the city."

Enforcement of ordinances is essential, he stressed, and involved are housing codes, zoning laws and activities of such inspection agencies as the plumbing, building and fire departments and others.

Outlines Desired Regulations

The mayor forwarded a copy of zoning regulations sought to facilitate urban renewal procedure.

The amendment deals with structural and environmental conditions to be met as the urban renewal program proceeds, such as off-street parking, building standards and other details.

The mayor noted it is subject to revision by the aldermen before a public hearing is held. Elmore C. Yallum, planning board chairman, he said, "has indicated a desire to meet with the laws and rules committee, and any other interested alderman on this matter, at your convenience." The amendment, he noted, would figure as "an integral part of the Kingston Master Plan."

Would Hold Consultations

"Other such documents," he advised, "will be submitted from time to time, as we near the termination of the two-year contract in August." He and planning board members would, if requested, he said, consult with the aldermen on the proposed changes.

The recertification measure was adopted after favorable reports by the council's special seven-member urban renewal committee and the five-member laws and rules committee.

Easter Egg Hunt To Be Held Saturday

The Saugerties Jaycee annual Easter Egg Hunt, planned for last Saturday when bad weather forced postponement, will be held Saturday, April 8 at Cantine Memorial Field beginning at 11 a. m.

The hunt is open to all area children from one to 10 years of age. Awards will be made in each of three age groups, one to three, four to seven, and eight to 10 years old. Winners will be determined by the number of eggs collected during the hunt.

Anthony Restivo, project chairman, stated that parents are invited as spectators but will not be allowed on the field during the hunt.

As many as 100 million eggs a season are produced by a single oyster.

N. Front, High Road Traffic . . .

Chiefs Conference June 4 through June 7 at Lido Beach, N. Y. One requesting attendance at the Conference of the International Association of Fire Chiefs at Las Vegas, Nev., was not approved apparently because of the reported policy of limiting such trips to the eastern border of the Mississippi. The latter session is slated for September.

60-Day Test Planned

Mayor Radel, in a letter dealing with the North Front Street traffic proposal, suggested trial of two-way traffic for 60 days. Alderman Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward, as traffic committee chairman said 90 days had been mentioned in the committee, but indicated this point could be decided upon one way or the other.

The test, said the letter, had been asked for by the Uptown Businessmen's Association, and more particularly those on North Front Street, which for some time has had one-way travel between Fair and Crown Streets. The street was made one-way for its full length when the uptown one-way system became effective in the administration of former Mayor Frederick H. Stang.

Two-way travel was re-established some time ago between Washington Avenue and Crown Street.

Mayor Radel wrote that he "would not like to sacrifice any parking, at least during the early part of this trial to determine if any adjustments in this area would be required." He indicated that April 6 had been set as the starting date for preparing plans to make the change.

Two Complain

Alderman Samuel J. Perry (R) Fifth Ward, minority leader, and Joseph Tomaszewki (D) Sixth Ward, recalled that efforts to get something done on the High Road, have been under way for three years without satisfactory results, and Perry said he backed Tomaszewski in his demand for immediate action.

Review of conditions on the High Road came after the reading of a letter from Attorney Richard W. Griggs, who in behalf of a client, proposed elimination of a dangerous condition on the street by making it dead-end with a turn-around area at a certain point.

Griggs, as counsel for Leroy H. Wells Sr., of the White Star Transfer Co., 48 Hasbrouck Avenue, said the street was the only means of travel to the rear of his client's warehouse property.

Three-Year Condition

Three years ago, he noted, a section involving a wall caved in and barricades were placed His client, he said, has been deprived of access to the third floor of a warehouse. Through talks with the mayor, and others, he said, he learned that effective repair would cost $30,000 which is considered prohibitive.

Griggs proposed that the street be made one of two-way travel with a dead-end and turn-around area near the rear of the client's property.

Tomaszewski, said he had been watching the situation for three years and has had repeated demands for action from residents of his ward, and "they want action now." City employes, he said, "have checked the situation 17 different times and noting was done." He asked that at least something temporary be done so that the street could be traveled its full length in safety.

Favor Through Travel

Both Tomaszewski and Perry indicated they favored continued through travel over the street, rather than the dead end proposal, but the council decided on recommendation of Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward, traffic committee chairman, to request a study dealing with the feasibility of the Griggs proposal.

Perry said the people of his ward use the street a lot and he believed it had been so used before he was born. He held that if the mayor had taken his advice three years ago broken wall and caved in area would not be in such bad repair today.

Letters read by Deputy City Clerk Walter S. Foster, as requested by Alderman Lawrence E. Woerner (D) Fourth Ward, however, listed several reasons why City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan considered full repair of the road impracticable.

The letters had been sent to Aldermen Woerner and Tomaszewski in late 1960. They indicated generally that safe and lasting repair would be costly and that the walls would be apt to collapse in the future.

Not Safe, He Says

The route, said Hallinan, is a narrow and dangerous one, which had been built specifically to serve vehicles of the Newark Lime and Cement Co., many years ago. Stones in the wall are not suitable for the purpose used, erosion has been under way and "subsidence is well along."

Undermining, he said, was "almost uniformly" in progress, and wall stones were out "at points of maximum pressure." The road, he said, "cannot serve modern traffic efficiently, safely nor economically." It duplicates traffic use of East Strand and Delaware Avenue, he noted.

Claims Filed

The claim of $175,000 was filed by Alton North as guardian of Madeline North, of 65 West Union Street. Of the total, $150,000 is for a leg fracture and other injuries suffered by Madeline last Dec. 16 because of an alleged snow and ice condition on a West Union Street sidewalk. The $25,000 is filed by Alton North as guardian.

The one of $80,000, filed by Charles Naccarato Jr., of 75 First Avenue in behalf of Charles J. Naccarato Jr., 10, and is for and other injuries suffered by a broken leg bone, head, back the boy last Jan. 2 in a Kingman Park skating rink mishap. Of the total $50,000 is filed for the injuries and $30,000 by the father for loss of services and medical care.

A claim of $20,000 was filed by Alfred and Johanna Stoff, RD Box 250, East Kingston, to collect for injuries resulting from a collision last Dec. 21 with a city snow plow at First Avenue and Kingston Street. Johanna seeks $15,000 for head, neck, back and shoulder injuries, and $5,000 is filed by Alton. The claim was filed through Flanagan & Ortale.

Leo and Margaret Stauble, of Sawkill, filed a claim of $6,000 against the city and Board of Water Commissioners for "trespass and ejectment" resulting of the alleged laying of a water line over the claimants' property without easement or right-of-way. Robert A. MacKinnon is the attorney.

Mae F. and John J. Connors, of 26 Boulder Avenue, through Attorney Thomas F. Saccoman, filed a claim of $350 for damage attributed to a street condition during the winter, which resulted in a cave-in of a section of blacktop sidewalk and lawn on the claimants' property.

Mayor Radel, in a letter, said he had been requested by the Civil Service Employes Association to ask for action that would permit deductions from payrolls of certain dues, and the request was left with the laws and rules committee.

The general municipal law now provides for deduction of membership dues for civil service employes organizations by a municipality when payrolls are computed for each period.

Notes Railroad Change

Stephen J. Keating, trainmaster of the West Shore division, New York Central Railroad, informed the aldermen that a shifting of yard switching operations from an eastern to western sector began March 8 and it relieved congestion at the Flatbush Avenue crossing. Hastings asked that a letter of thanks be sent to him.

To Study Dog Ordinance

Alderman-at-large Harold L. Kaye named as a special committee to study the feasibility of enactment of a local dog ordinance; John P. Heitzman (D), 12th Ward; Francis R. Koenig (D). Ninth Ward and Edward J. Schrowang (R), First Ward.

Alderman Heitzman, who noted he had been critical of a previously offered dog ordinance proposal, said he had not done so without intending to act in offering an alternate proposal. Through the mayor's office, he said, he had obtained material from the State Mayors Conference on the subject, and indicated he would have suggestions to make.

Dr. Herbert Derman, local laboratory director, and Dr. James Kelly, associate director, were authorized to attend sessions April 13, 14 and 15, of the Association of Chemical Scientists in Philadelphia.

Assessor James D. Devine was granted permission to attend the New York State Assessors' training school in Albany April 16 through 19 and Ben Silverman, local sealer of weights and measures was authorized to attend the spring business meeting April 4 of the Southeastern Group of weights and measures officials at Baldwin, L. I.

Man Hitching Ride Held on Gun Charge

A 21-year-old Pennsylvania man hitchhiking on Route 9W was picked up by Kingston state police Tuesday on a charge of illegal possession of a firearm.

Trooper Edward Whalen arrested Robert G. Lloyd of Colver, Pa., for possession of a revolver, Lloyd had the revolver in a suitcase as he was hitchhiking in the Town of Ulster.

Investigation by Trooper Charles Teelon and Cpl. Edward Shannon, both BCI, disclosed that the man was en route to Hillsdale at the time.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur Reilly of the Town of Ulster, waived examination and was committed to the Ulster County jail to await action of the grand jury.

Suggests 5 Growth Stocks Priced Under $40 a Share

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "You've recommended good growth stocks fairly often in your column, but most of them seem pretty high-priced for my pocketbook. How about some "cheaper" growth stocks for me, preferably selling for less than 40?" H. F.

A) In today's strong market, this isn't too easy. But here are five situations, selling in the 20's and 30's, which appear to have substantial growth ahead of them.

The first is Lytton Financial (OTC), a West Coast savings and loan holding company which is forging ahead nicely. The shares have acted well and should sell higher.

Green Shoe (NYSE), recommended here Dec. 2 at around 22, has come up sharply but has plenty of headroom, in my opinion.

Ginn and Company (OTC), a newcomer to the stock market, is one of the oldest textbook publishers. Earnings have risen substantially, and the company has a strong competitive position in its field.

Avery Adhesive Products (OTC) is the leading maker of self-adhering labels and similar products. Sales, profit margins, and earnings have moved up steadily.

Spartans Industries (NYSE) is an aggressively-managed producer and merchandiser of family wearing apparel. Its prospects have been bettered by a recent entry into the growing discount store business.

Q) "Last year I bought 100 shares of Texas Instruments at 225. Why does this company show increases in sales and earnings year after year, and yet the stock acts poorly? Should I take a loss?" W. Y.

A) Don't give up the ship. Texas Instruments (NYSE) has been temporarily affected by price-cutting and increased competition in semi-conductors. Shares were simply bid up to unrealistic heights last year. Long-term prospects seem very favorable, and I would hold this stock.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in this column.

Laos Drops 300 To Curb Rebels

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The royal Laotian government took swift steps today to counter pro-Communist rebel threats around Muong Kassy. Western military sources said 300 government paratroopers were dropped there.

The troopers would outflank about 300 Pathet Lao rebels reported to have parachuted Tuesday on the highway from Soviet transport planes 20 miles south of Muong Kassy, the sources said.

The sudden upsurge in military activity appeared to represent efforts by each side to consolidate its position as international diplomatic maneuvers increased the possibility of a cease-fire.

Muong Kassy lies about 100 miles north of here on the main highway connecting Luang Prabang and Vientiane. The town itself is occupied by neither side. The rebels cut the highway last month.

The government's quick reply to Pathet Lao threat came against a background of feverish diplomatic activity. The British indicated they expect to join with the Soviet Union in an appeal for a cease-fire in the next two days.

The two countries, co-chairmen of the Geneva Indochina armistice conference of 1954, are expected to issue an order that both sides stop fighting and remain where they are.

To Vote on Stock

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — In a proxy statement issued today, Studebaker-Packard Corporation requested shareholder approval to increase its authorized second preferred stock by 250,000 shares and its authorized common stock by 5,000,000 additional shares. If this increase is adopted at the annual shareholders meeting April 27 in South Bend, Studebaker will have 470,000 shares of second preferred stock ($47,000,000 par value) and nearly 10,000,000 shares of common stock available for acquisition purposes. Approval of the proposal requires the votes of a majority of the outstanding second preferred stock and a majority of the outstanding shares of common stock, as well as the consent of the holders of two-thirds of the out-standing first preferred stock.

Two Quit Buffer Duty

BRUSSELS (AP) — Two Belgian members of the U.N. truce Commission in Palestine have been withdrawn from service in the buffer zones between Israel and the United Arab Republic, Belgian sources said today.

The sources said the U.A.R. requested the withdrawal on the ground diplomatic relations have been broken off between the two nations.

Firemen Laud Krom, Tell About Exposition Booth

Uniformed Fire Fighters Association Local 461 AFL-CIO in announcements today complimented Benson Krom of the Kingston (Consolidated) District Board of Education for his stand relative to installation of sprinkler systems in rural and city schools, and reported plans for a booth at the Lions Exposition.

The association expressed hope that other Board of Education members will support a plan for installation of approved automatic sprinkler systems in the schools, and pledged to continue efforts in support of a mandatory automatic sprinkler bill passed in the State Legislature.

The firemen's booth at the Lions Exposition will feature some of the fire department equipment, and literature on fire prevention which will be distributed. Two short films entitled "I'm No Fool With Fire" starring Jimney Crickett will be shown.

A booklet listing fire alarm locations in the city will be distributed, and a fire alarm box will be set up to instruct the public how to sound an alarm of fire.

GOP Leads . . .

eight, Paul Egan lost his bid for a third term as mayor.

Egan — who left public assistance rolls to become mayor — was defeated by Jay L. Hunter, 70, realtor and retired school teacher.

Had Goldwater Backing

The defeat ended eight stormy years of firing police chiefs and feuding with the city council. On one occasion, Egan named a parrot as police chief.

Tower, 35, former college government professor, campaigned against President Kennedy's New Frontier with the support of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Goldwater, leader of the Republican conservatives, campaigned for Tower throughout Texas.

Blakley, a wealthy Dallas businessman, also is a conservative. He also is opposed to much of the administration program.

Wright is classified as a political moderate.

If he wins in the runoff, Tower would be the first Republican elected to the U.S. Senate from Texas since Reconstruction days.

Junior League of Kingston Presents Panel On Contributions to The Arts at Luncheon

Newly elected officers of the Junior League of Kingston for the years 1961-1962 were presented at the annual luncheon Monday at the Skytop Restaurant.

They are:

Mrs. Robert A. MacKinnon, president; Mrs. Burton W. Johnson, first vice president; Mrs. Glifford R. Beal, second vice president; Mrs. John R. Shults Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Michael J. Larkin, corresponding secretary and Mrs. William K. Darling, treasurer.

The new board members will include the Mmes. George P. Vogel, admissions; Roger W. Mabie, arts; Clyde E. Wonderly Jr., education; G. Robert Numrich Jr., thrift shop; Ronald G. Drowns, news sheet; Alan P. McCorkle nominating; J. Collins Troy, placement; Arthur W. Hazenbush, provisional; Robert B. O'Reilly, public relations, and William H. Hopps, III and Roger Baer Schwartz, sustainers.

Mrs. MacKinnon appointed the following committee chairmen for the coming year:

The Mmes. Gifford R. Beal, by-laws; Charles E. Meyer, children's theatre; Robert E. Weber, hospitality; Warren H. Knaust, library; Andrew J. Cook Jr., loan closet; Robert J. Ryan, AJIA Magazine and publicity.

Introduced as provisionals were the Mmes. James C. Embree; Ward Ingalsbe Jr., John Josephs, Kurken V. Kirk, George Reid, and Mary Darling Short.

A report on the Fabulous Follies was given by Mrs. Gifford Beal and Mrs. Robert O'Reilly reminded the membership of the talent party Tuesday 8 p. m. at the Twaalfskill Club. The purpose of the follies is to raise money which will be used by the league to continue its community projects.

Following the business meeting a panel discussion on Our Contribution in the Community in the Arts Field was heard. Mrs. Brooks Barvoets, representing the Junior League of Albany; Mrs. Lawrence Heaton, representing the Junior League of Poughkeepsie; and Mrs. Roger W. Mabie, representing the Junior League of Kingston were the participants and Mrs. Alan P. McCorkle, education chairman of the Junior League of Kingston acted as moderator.

Mrs. Barvoets spoke of the Albany League work in the art field which included a choral group, a marionette group, assisting with the Tri-City Symphony Orchestra, assisting in refurnishing the Ten Broeck mansion and formerly conducting a children's theatre group. At this time the Albany League is investigating other areas in the arts field to support such as an arts scholarship or a children's museum.

Mrs. Heaton related the activities of her league which included piloting a children's theatre group which later became a community children's theatre, and the establishing of a Junior Museum. The Junior Museum began as a one-hour weekly program in the library with such things as a folk singer, a talk on art or music. Since its beginning it has expanded into a story hour, clubs such as a button club and a stamp club, workshops in art and puppet making, a music workshop and classes in French.

Mrs. Mabie of Kingston reviewed the projects of the local league and reminded the membership of the newness of the Committee. The Kingston League was responsible for the presentation of an authenic reproduction of a 17th century well house to the Senate House, for starting the children's room in the library and maintaining weekly story hours there.

The local league has expanded the library program to include a mobile library which visits the outlying libraries monthly with displays and a weekly radio program, Adventure, which is heard on Sunday morning. Town series of in-school concerts under the direction of Claude Monteux were sponsored by the local league during the past year.

BRINGING CANDY TO THE HOSTESS

Q: When a guest brings a box of candy to the hostess, shouldn't it be handed to her directly and not put down on a nearby table without comment? Many people have a habit of doing the latter and the hostess has no way of knowing for certain whether it is intended for her or not and places her in the embarrassing position of having to ask, "is this for me?" I would appreciate your answering this in your column.

A: The box should be handed to the hostess and not put down without comment.

More Ushers Than Bridesmaids

Q: My fiance would like to have four of his friends as ushers at our wedding, whereas I expect to have only two bridesmaids. Will this be proper or will I have to ask two additional friends so that the number will be even? Or if I have only two and he does have four, should two of the men simply usher and not walk in the procession?

A: It is not at all necessary that the number of bridesmaids and ushers be even, and it will be entirely proper for you to have two bridesmaids and the groom four ushers. They all walk in the procession regardless of number.

A Young Woman's Stationery

Q: I am a young umarried woman in my early thirties. I would like to order some stationery for general use but am not sure how it should be marked. Would it be proper to have my name printed in full across the top of the paper? If not, will you please tell me how it should correctly be marked?

A: For general use, Miss Mary Anne Smith with your full address beneath would be entirely proper. But for invitations, acceptances and regrets and other social notes, having your paper marked M. A. S. would be in good taste. Or if you prefer, it would be in equally good taste to use neither name nor initials but only your street address, without the city.

Ray's Tackle Shop, Bombardiers Gain Finals in Cage Tourney

Reub's, McLean's Are Overpowered In Semi-Finals

Title Contest Slated Sunday Night, 8:30 At The Auditorium

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Reacting to a challenge with the aplomb of pros, Ray's Tackle Shop players turned what was supposed to be a close game into a ridiculous rout last night at the auditorium as they walloped youthful Reub's Five, 84-56, in a semi-final game of the eighth annual Kingston Basketball tournament.

The local club will meet the Pine Plains Bombardiers in what promises to be a rousing final on Sunday night. George Stuetzle's powerhouse socked the McLean Well Drillers of Germantown, 93-50, in the second game.

Coach Ward Dunham had only seven players suited up for last night's game and one of them—Champ Holstein—wasn't feeling too well. As things turned out, he wasn't needed. This well balanced squad, possibly the best tournament team ever to represent this city, was at its very best against the young and energetic opponents.

Close at the Start

The game was close for only the first two minutes. After George Carpouzis had swished one of his patented jumpers to start the proceedings and Bob Bondar had connected with a free throw, the losers knotted the count when Joe Uhl hit with a jumper from the right side and then Don Longobardi sank a foul shot. That was the last time Reub's cagers were in serious contention.

Ronnie Scheffel (and what a standout he was) caged a driving layup, Carpouzis hit from the left side with a jump shot, Joe Klonowski tapped in a missed rebound and Marty Kaye made a charity toss. This zoomed the margin to seven points, 10-3, and wrote finish to the upset hopes of the losers.

The five starters for the Tackle Shop shared in the heroics. Scheffel, who like whiskey gets better with age, had 25 points, a countless number of assists and several steals. Carpouzis, one of the greatest shooters ever to come out of the city, swished 20 points and Klonowski, the jumping jack with springs in his legs, chipped in with 20. Bondar did a bangup job all the way and he added 12 points. Kaye only scored six markers but he covered Uhl like a blanket, limiting the star forward to 10 points while playing him.

Joe Gets 16

Uhl finished with 16 to pace the losers, six of them coming while Kaye was taking a well earned rest. Jimmy Gordon, the ex-PHS athlete, added 10 points but the others were continuously bothered by the excellent defense thrown up by the Tackle Shop.

The Bombardiers won their game in a breeze. Stuetzle imported a player he called Lou Brown and this 6-9 beanpole canned 17 points though he played only a little more than a half. Billy Smith, Jack Curry and Charlie Johnson were also in double figures for the defending champions while Bill Foster and Joe McCrudden were the best scorers for the Germantown five.

This one was decided in the second period. While the Bombardiers scored 18 points, the losers were held to four, all of them coming on foul shots.

The stage is now set for the title test on Sunday. The third place game between Reub's and McLean's will begin at 7:15 and the championship tussle is listed to start at 8:30. It should be a good one.

Case to Handle BRL Position After 3 Years at Local 'Y'

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Dick Case and the Babe Ruth League, Inc. are going places at the same time and they're both headed in the same direction—towards the top.

On Saturday night, Dick Case will finish more than three years as the energetic and popular physical director of the Kingston YMCA. On Monday he will assume his new duties with the International Babe Ruth League, duties that will take him to many countries of the world, which will keep him busy twelve months a year and which will find him as the overseer of the world wide Babe Ruth League tournament, being held this year at Glendive, Montana.

This all started back in 1950-51, when Case was still a resident of Amsterdam and manager of a clothing store there. He and several other townspeople formed a Babe Ruth League and it was only one of four in the entire state. The others were at Syracuse, Mt. Kisco and Harlem Valley in Dutchess County. The Babe Ruth League movement in the country was still in its infant stages and Case was starting with it, almost from the beginning.

A Big Growth

Now, more than ten years later, there are 221 leagues in the state and more than 17,000 in the country as well as leagues in Germany, Italy and Spain. Case will run the tournament from among the champions of those leagues and this year, for the first time, a team from one of the foreign countries will be represented in the ten club, double elimination tourney.

After getting the Amsterdam Babe Ruth League started, Case resigned from the clothing store and went to work at the Amsterdam YMCA. He was there for a year and then came to Kingston. Since Sept. 1957, when he started as physical director here, Case has produced many new innovations.

They include the YMCA cage tournament, now in its second year; the annual basketball dinner for the winter and fall leagues; the popular Boy of the Month contest; the YMCA Leaders' club; the annual gymerama and the game between the Collegians and the YMCA stars. The fourth annual gymerama will be staged Saturday and it will mark the farewell appearance of Case as a Kingston "Y" physical director.

"I shall miss the many friends and acquaintances I have made in Kingston and I shall miss working with all the boys at the YMCA but I know that my new position will bring me even closer to kids all across the world," Case declared. He feels the pivotal age of a boy is in the 13-15 bracket and the Babe Ruth League encompasses those years.

A Big Future

He predicts an even bigger future for Babe Ruth ball. "With clubs from all over the world now joining the organization, it can't help but grow," he said.

Dick Case, his wife Barbara and their two daughters, Laurie Ann, 4, and Pamela Jean, 7, will be moving to their new residence in Trenton, New Jersey in the near future. They have lived in Port Ewen since Case started his work at the Kingston "Y".

While living here, he was a member of the Kingston Lions Club and belonged to the Port Ewen Methodist Church and he taught Sunday School at the church.

One thing can be said for certain. Kingston's loss is the Babe Ruth League's gain. Of that we are sure.

CLEANUP TIME—Eyeing the ball and bat on top of his desk, YMCA physical director Dick Case, gets the desk in order for his successor. Case will start a new position with the Babe Ruth League at Trenton, New Jersey on Monday after more than three years at the local "Y." (Freeman photo).

Tackle Shop Has Semi-Final Cage Tilt Scheduled Tonight

Ray's Tackle Shop of Kingston will attempt to take another big step towards the championship of the 18th annual Hudson Valley Basketball tournament when it plays top seeded White Plains at 7:15 tonight at the Poughkeepsie YMCA court. The second contest will match Nyack against VanVoorhis Lumber of Fishkill in another semi-final match.

White Plains has tripped Wiley's Texaco of Poughkeepsie and the powerful Pine Plains Bombardiers in its tussles to date. Clarence Davenport, a 6-2 jumping jack and a good outside shooter, is the main threat for the Ricci Pipers.

The Tickle Shop, always a crowd pleaser in the Bridge City, has turned back challenges of the Pine Plains A.A. and Morgan Fuel in rather easy fashion. The local entry is well balanced but good shooting nights from George Carpouzis and Ronnie Scheffel are necessary if the White Plains team is to be beaten.

In the second attraction, VanVoorhis rules a slight favorite over Nyack. The Lumberjacks from Fishkill spilled Castro's defending champions on Monday night with Jim Hubble and Gus Westerhuis leading the way. The team beat Main Grill of Poughkeepsie in its opening contest. Nyack has trimmed Newburgh and Dover Plains, two weak teams, on its march to the semi-finals.

The losers of tonight's games will play at 7:15 on Friday for third place with the championship tussle listed to begin at 8:30.

Saugerties Fish and Game Club Debates State's New 'Trout for the Creel' Plan

The State Conservation Department's current policy of stocking trout "for the creel" was a topic of lively discussion at the March meeting of the Saugerties Fish and Game Club.

The discussion followed a report by Carleton B. King, chairman of the trout committee. King said that more than 1700 brook trout had been received from the Conservation Department and stocked in the Plattekill creek from the bridge in Fish Creek on up into West Saugerties. Not wishing to place brook trout in the lower stretches of the Plattekill, the chairman promised heavy stocking of that area when the next shipment of fish arrives around the middle of April.

The next shipment will consist exclusively of brown trout and will be followed by a final shipment around the first of May.

King reported that the trout stocked prior to opening day averaged 7 inches in length with no two-year-old fish mixed in.

In the discussion after King's report several shades of opinion were expressed. Some members felt the current policy made trout catching too easy, others favored it. Some prefer to have the trout stocked prior to opening date so that the fish can deploy themselves to natural habitats in the streams. Trout fishing made too easy does not offer the thrill it used to, some members felt.

Two Boys to De Bruce

The club voted to send two junior members to the conservation camp at DeBruce in August. They are Gary Schmidt and Charles DuBois Jr. Both attend club meetings regularly.

Some discussion also ensued on the question of whether or not the club should purchase trout this year as in past years. One suggestion was to purchase as many trout as possible financed through a special fundraising program and stock them in the tributary streams of the area which are not stocked by the state. No action was taken on the proposal.

Plan Banquet

Co-chairman Bert Pettinger of the banquet committee said he was trying to get a Dr. Meng as guest speaker. Dr. Meng has a hobby of raising and training hawks (falcons) as birds of prey. Having seen and heard Dr. Meng's lecture, Pettinger recommended it highly. The dinner was tentatively scheduled for April 26 at the Flamingo on 9-W and it will be a stag affair.

Building Committee Chairman Art Sperl reported on his investigation of a property in which the club was interested, but said the price on the West Shore railroad station and grounds in the village was more than the club could afford to invest at this time. He promised more definite information by the April meeting.

Members were alerted to a letter in the Federation news written by a member of the Wawarsing Club requesting County Judge Raymond Mino to make it easier for sportsmen to obtain pistol permits. The letter charged that former County Judge Bruhn made it practically impossible to obtain these permits, when in neighboring counties residents could obtain them quite easily and carry them afield unrestricted in Ulster County.

The club had no definite proposal for spending the Enabling Act funds and decided to go along with other member clubs. In the past, the Saugerties club recommended a stream improvement projects which was not carried out as originally intended. As a result many member clubs are reluctant to approve another similar project. However, most Saugerties members would favor some sort of stream or habitat improvement project over that of stocking pheasants or trout.

Award winners at the meeting were Vice President Art Sperl and Rudy Blissner. Refreshments were served by Vic Wood and Cal Hackett. Club president, Vincent Berzal, presided at the meeting in R. A. Snyder Hose rooms on Partition Street.

Player Seeking Win in Masters

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — South Africa's Gary Player, the year's leading money winner, conceded today he was all cranked up to become the first foreigner to win the Masters gold tourney which starts Thursday.

"I've really been working hard for this tournament," said the perky 25-year-old Player. He has earned $25,217 and is the only pro who has finished in the money in all 12 PGA circuit events played thus far in 1961.

Only Arnold Palmer, everybody's choice to become the first repeating champion in the 25-year Masters history, ever took a bigger winter bankroll into this elite show over the Augusta National course.

Palmer, who has won $22,042 in 10 meets this year, had a record $26,757 banked before he stormed to a birdie-birdie finish to win his second Masters title and a swag of $17,500 in 1960.

"I've only had practice rounds of 72 and 71, but I've been conserving as much energy as possible," said Player. He has shot in the 60s in no fewer than 30 of his 49 competitive rounds to date.

However, the Masters' 90-player charge for Palmer's coveted crown will come from every side in the 72-hole medal play chase over Augusta National's blooming acres.

Practice sessions regularly have produced rounds under the standard 36-36—72 figures despite vigorous winds.

Ray's Tackle Shop, Bombardiers Gain Finals in Cage Tourney

Reub's, McLean's Are Overpowered In Semi-Finals

Title Contest Slated Sunday Night, 8:30 At The Auditorium

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Reacting to a challenge with the aplomb of pros, Ray's Tackle Shop players turned what was supposed to be a close game into a ridiculous rout last night at the auditorium as they walloped youthful Reub's Five, 84-56, in a semi-final game of the eighth annual Kingston Basketball tournament.

The local club will meet the Pine Plains Bombardiers in what promises to be a rousing final on Sunday night. George Stuetzle's powerhouse socked the McLean Well Drillers of Germantown, 93-50, in the second game.

Coach Ward Dunham had only seven players suited up for last night's game and one of them—Champ Holstein—wasn't feeling too well. As things turned out, he wasn't needed. This well balanced squad, possibly the best tournament team ever to represent this city, was at its very best against the young and energetic opponents.

Close at the Start

The game was close for only the first two minutes. After George Carpouzis had swished one of his patented jumpers to start the proceedings and Bob Bondar had connected with a free throw, the losers knotted the count when Joe Uhl hit with a jumper from the right side and then Don Longobardi sank a foul shot. That was the last time Reub's cagers were in serious contention.

Ronnie Scheffel (and what a standout he was) caged a driving layup, Carpouzis hit from the left side with a jump shot, Joe Klonowski tapped in a missed rebound and Marty Kaye made a charity toss. This zoomed the margin to seven points, 10-3, and wrote finish to the upset hopes of the losers.

The five starters for the Tackle Shop shared in the heroics. Scheffel, who like whiskey gets better with age, had 25 points, a countless number of assists and several steals. Carpouzis, one of the greatest shooters ever to come out of the city, swished 20 points and Klonowski, the jumping jack with springs in his legs, chipped in with 20. Bondar did a bangup job all the way and he added 12 points. Kaye only scored six markers but he covered Uhl like a blanket, limiting the star forward to 10 points while playing him.

Joe Gets 16

Uhl finished with 16 to pace the losers, six of them coming while Kaye was taking a well earned rest. Jimmy Gordon, the ex-PHS athlete, added 10 points but the others were continuously bothered by the excellent defense thrown up by the Tackle Shop.

The Bombardiers won their game in a breeze. Stuetzle imported a player he called Lou Brown and this 6-9 beanpole canned 17 points though he played only a little more than a half. Billy Smith, Jack Curry and Charlie Johnson were also in double figures for the defending champions while Bill Foster and Joe McCrudden were the best scorers for the Germantown five.

This one was decided in the second period. While the Bombardiers scored 18 points, the losers were held to four, all of them coming on foul shots.

The stage is now set for the title test on Sunday. The third place game between Reub's and McLean's will begin at 7:15 and the championship tussle is listed to start at 8:30. It should be a good one.

Case to Handle BRL Position After 3 Years at Local 'Y'

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Dick Case and the Babe Ruth League, Inc. are going places at the same time and they're both headed in the same direction—towards the top.

On Saturday night, Dick Case will finish more than three years as the energetic and popular physical director of the Kingston YMCA. On Monday he will assume his new duties with the International Babe Ruth League, duties that will take him to many countries of the world, which will keep him busy twelve months a year and which will find him as the overseer of the world wide Babe Ruth League tournament, being held this year at Glendive, Montana.

This all started back in 1950-51, when Case was still a resident of Amsterdam and manager of a clothing store there. He and several other townspeople formed a Babe Ruth League and it was only one of four in the entire state. The others were at Syracuse, Mt. Kisco and Harlem Valley in Dutchess County. The Babe Ruth League movement in the country was still in its infant stages and Case was starting with it, almost from the beginning.

A Big Growth

Now, more than ten years later, there are 221 leagues in the state and more than 17,000 in the country as well as leagues in Germany, Italy and Spain. Case will run the tournament from among the champions of those leagues and this year, for the first time, a team from one of the foreign countries will be represented in the ten club, double elimination tourney.

After getting the Amsterdam Babe Ruth League started, Case resigned from the clothing store and went to work at the Amsterdam YMCA. He was there for a year and then came to Kingston. Since Sept. 1957, when he started as physical director here, Case has produced many new innovations.

They include the YMCA cage tournament, now in its second year; the annual basketball dinner for the winter and fall leagues; the popular Boy of the Month contest; the YMCA Leaders' club; the annual gymerama and the game between the Collegians and the YMCA stars. The fourth annual gymerama will be staged Saturday and it will mark the farewell appearance of Case as a Kingston "Y" physical director.

"I shall miss the many friends and acquaintances I have made in Kingston and I shall miss working with all the boys at the YMCA but I know that my new position will bring me even closer to kids all across the world," Case declared. He feels the pivotal age of a boy is in the 13-15 bracket and the Babe Ruth League encompasses those years.

A Big Future

He predicts an even bigger future for Babe Ruth ball. "With clubs from all over the world now joining the organization, it can't help but grow," he said.

Dick Case, his wife Barbara and their two daughters, Laurie Ann, 4, and Pamela Jean, 7, will be moving to their new residence in Trenton, New Jersey in the near future. They have lived in Port Ewen since Case started his work at the Kingston "Y".

While living here, he was a member of the Kingston Lions Club and belonged to the Port Ewen Methodist Church and he taught Sunday School at the church.

One thing can be said for certain. Kingston's loss is the Babe Ruth League's gain. Of that we are sure.

CLEANUP TIME—Eyeing the ball and bat on top of his desk, YMCA physical director Dick Case, gets the desk in order for his successor. Case will start a new position with the Babe Ruth League at Trenton, New Jersey on Monday after more than three years at the local "Y." (Freeman photo).

Tackle Shop Has Semi-Final Cage Tilt Scheduled Tonight

Ray's Tackle Shop of Kingston will attempt to take another big step towards the championship of the 18th annual Hudson Valley Basketball tournament when it plays top seeded White Plains at 7:15 tonight at the Poughkeepsie YMCA court. The second contest will match Nyack against VanVoorhis Lumber of Fishkill in another semi-final match.

White Plains has tripped Wiley's Texaco of Poughkeepsie and the powerful Pine Plains Bombardiers in its tussles to date. Clarence Davenport, a 6-2 jumping jack and a good outside shooter, is the main threat for the Ricci Pipers.

The Tickle Shop, always a crowd pleaser in the Bridge City, has turned back challenges of the Pine Plains A.A. and Morgan Fuel in rather easy fashion. The local entry is well balanced but good shooting nights from George Carpouzis and Ronnie Scheffel are necessary if the White Plains team is to be beaten.

In the second attraction, VanVoorhis rules a slight favorite over Nyack. The Lumberjacks from Fishkill spilled Castro's defending champions on Monday night with Jim Hubble and Gus Westerhuis leading the way. The team beat Main Grill of Poughkeepsie in its opening contest. Nyack has trimmed Newburgh and Dover Plains, two weak teams, on its march to the semi-finals.

The losers of tonight's games will play at 7:15 on Friday for third place with the championship tussle listed to begin at 8:30.

Saugerties Fish and Game Club Debates State's New 'Trout for the Creel' Plan

The State Conservation Department's current policy of stocking trout "for the creel" was a topic of lively discussion at the March meeting of the Saugerties Fish and Game Club.

The discussion followed a report by Carleton B. King, chairman of the trout committee. King said that more than 1700 brook trout had been received from the Conservation Department and stocked in the Plattekill creek from the bridge in Fish Creek on up into West Saugerties. Not wishing to place brook trout in the lower stretches of the Plattekill, the chairman promised heavy stocking of that area when the next shipment of fish arrives around the middle of April.

The next shipment will consist exclusively of brown trout and will be followed by a final shipment around the first of May.

King reported that the trout stocked prior to opening day averaged 7 inches in length with no two-year-old fish mixed in.

In the discussion after King's report several shades of opinion were expressed. Some members felt the current policy made trout catching too easy, others favored it. Some prefer to have the trout stocked prior to opening date so that the fish can deploy themselves to natural habitats in the streams. Trout fishing made too easy does not offer the thrill it used to, some members felt.

Two Boys to De Bruce

The club voted to send two junior members to the conservation camp at DeBruce in August. They are Gary Schmidt and Charles DuBois Jr. Both attend club meetings regularly.

Some discussion also ensued on the question of whether or not the club should purchase trout this year as in past years. One suggestion was to purchase as many trout as possible financed through a special fund-raising program and stock them in the tributary streams of the area which are not stocked by the state. No action was taken on the proposal.

Plan Banquet

Co-chairman Bert Pettinger of the banquet committee said he was trying to get a Dr. Meng as guest speaker. Dr. Meng has a hobby of raising and training hawks (falcons) as birds of prey. Having seen and heard Dr. Meng's lecture, Pettinger recommended it highly. The dinner was tentatively scheduled for April 26 at the Flamingo on 9-W and it will be a stag affair.

Building Committee Chairman Art Sperl reported on his investigation of a property in which the club was interested, but said the price on the West Shore railroad station and grounds in the village was more than the club could afford to invest at this time. He promised more definite information by the April meeting.

Members were alerted to a letter in the Federation news written by a member of the Wawarsing Club requesting County Judge Raymond Mino to make it easier for sportsmen to obtain pistol permits. The letter charged that former County Judge Bruhn made it practically impossible to obtain these permits, when in neighboring counties residents could obtain them quite easily and carry them afield unrestricted in Ulster County.

The club had no definite proposal for spending the Enabling Act funds and decided to go along with other member clubs. In the past, the Saugerties club recommended a stream improvement projects which was not carried out as originally intended. As a result many member clubs are reluctant to approve another similar project. However, most Saugerties members would favor some sort of stream or habitat improvement project over that of stocking pheasants or trout.

Award winners at the meeting were Vice President Art Sperl and Rudy Blissner. Refreshments were served by Vic Wood and Cal Hackett. Club president, Vincent Berzal, presided at the meeting in R. A. Snyder Hose rooms on Partition Street.

Player Seeking Win in Masters

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — South Africa's Gary Player, the year's leading money winner, conceded today he was all cranked up to become the first foreigner to win the Masters gold tourney which starts Thursday.

"I've really been working hard for this tournament," said the perky 25-year-old Player. He has earned $25,217 and is the only pro who has finished in the money in all 12 PGA circuit events played thus far in 1961.

Only Arnold Palmer, everybody's choice to become the first repeating champion in the 25-year Masters history, ever took a bigger winter bankroll into this elite show over the Augusta National course.

Palmer, who has won $22,042 in 10 meets this year, had a record $26,757 banked before he stormed to a birdie-birdie finish to win his second Masters title and a swag of $17,500 in 1960.

"I've only had practice rounds of 72 and 71, but I've been conserving as much energy as possible," said Player. He has shot in the 60s in no fewer than 30 of his 49 competitive rounds to date.

However, the Masters' 90-player charge for Palmer's coveted crown will come from every side in the 72-hole medal play chase over Augusta National's blooming acres.

Practice sessions regularly have produced rounds under the standard 36-36—72 figures despite vigorous winds.

Along The Tenpin Trail: The bowling expansion seems without end these days. Announcement of plans for new lanes on Route 28 in the Boiceville area are followed by the recurring rumors that the former Ruzzo Bowlatorium will again house alleys. A new 16-alley layout will be built at Hyde Park opposite The Kitchen and will be a $250,000 promotion. . . . Woodstock Lanes, closing out a fabulous first year, will add four more lanes for the 1961-62 season. Let us hope the population boom continues.

• Splits and Misses:

Nifty Nick Leoce, one-time bellwether of the crack Cy's Diners of Newburgh, racked up a whopping 1995 all-events in the Hilly City championships. Sam Taylor of Middletown posted 1992 and teamed with Phil Versace for a 1345 doubles. Jim Torrelli copped the net singles with 661. . . . Joseph Ponessi, a Newburgh milkman, has hit the $5,000 jackpot with the first sanctioned 300 game at Campi-Tarsio Lanes in Newburgh. He will receive the $5,000 War Bond from Lou Campi and Pat Tarsio and a $350 wrist watch from AMF Pinspotters. George (The Ace) Chiarmonte will present Ponessi with a $50 bond and a new Ace ball. John Martin missed the first sanctioned 300 at Campi-Tarsio by one pin earlier in the season. . . . Phil Versace and Frank Bandiero have extended their 600 series skein to nine straight in the Mid-Hudson Major at Newburgh. . . . Jack Ferraro edged youthful Dewey Blair of Poughkeepsie by 72 pins in their hectic race for individual average honors in the Hudson Valley League. But Jack is the first to tell you that Blair is destined to become one of the all-time Hudson Valley greats. The kid has everything, style, ball enthusiasm and courage.

• The Eleventh Frame:

Billy G. (Golembiewski) heading for Kingston and the Lions Club exposition under the sponsorship of Brunswick, according to Jerry Kaplan. . . . Clifton Quick, the walking bowling encyclopedia, and Jake Chichelsky are doing some research on the "700 Club" roster in Kingston over the past 25 years. Their last tally showed more than 65 local keglers with 700 keglers in ABC sanctioned leagues. . . . Bowling champions Don Carter, Bill Tucker and Therm Gibson have been invited to join the lineup of competitors in the third annual Ruppert-Brunswick Tournament of Champions. The trio will challenge defending champion Billy Golembiewski in the June 1 event to be held at Madison Square Garden. . . . Rose Schatzel and Hilda Murphy look like a natural combination for the upcoming national women's doubles championships at the Latham Center near Albany in mid-May. The newly organized National Bowling League will swing into action on Oct. 13, Dick Charles, president of the loop, has announced. Jake Charter of Poughkeepsie is slated to see duty with the New York entry. Joining Joltin' Jake on the firing line for the Gothams will be Chuck Pezzano, Ralph Engan, James Santoro, Jimmy Carmen, Andy McBride and Teata Semiz. Ten teams — Kansas City, Omaha, Dallas, Detroit, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Los Angeles, Fort Worth, Fresno, San Antonio and New York will make up the league in its 132-night schedule that runs until April 25 next year. Big name stars in the league are Joe Joseph, Buzz Fazio, Ed Lubanski, Stan Gifford, Steve Nagy, Bob Strampe and Billy G.

• Late Season Bouquets:

How about that elevator series Art DiNapoli recently tossed at Woodstock Lanes? He did it with 118-235-154. . . . New admissions to the 400 Club: Anna Cousins, 422, Woodstock; Ann Yonta, 410, New Drop; Beverly Kelder, 401, Suburban; Ruth Davis, 415, Matinee. . . . Myrtle Overbagh rolled first 200 and 500's — 203-553 — in IBM Home Engineers League. . . . Claire Uhler had her first 500, right on the nose, in the same circuit. . . . Kudos to Ray Corcoran for cleaning up the double pinochle split — 4-6-7-10. . . . Fewer bowlers get that one than the 7-10. . . . Andre Neher bagged that first 500, with 516 at Woodstock Lanes. . . . Up and down guys: Frank Ferrendino, International, 135-224-150; Andy Gilday, Catholic AA, 135-213-143. Up the ladder of success: George Magley, Bowlero Major, 155-213-234; down the ladder, Joe Napoli, City Minor, 231-178-127. . . . Man making the grade: Bob Enright, 150-222-268, in the Catholic AA. . . . Gene Smith first 500 with 505. The tired season is at hand — three teams in the 12-team Independent Tavern circuit failed to list sponsor's name.

NEAR MISS: Dave Getchen, 17-year-old Detroit high school student, rolled 826, second highest series in history by high school keglers. Dick Hoover set the record at 847 as 16-year-old in 1946 in Akron, Ohio. Getchen shot games of 278, 258, 290. What's the kid going to do for bowling kicks now?

Pick Celts By 9 Points

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics ruled a nine point favorite to beat St. Louis Wednesday night and take a two-up lead over the Hawks in their best-of-seven playoff for the National Basketball Association title.

If history is any criterion, however, the bookmakers are all wrong in their doping of the key second game. Three times before these two teams have met in the final playoffs, and each time the first two games were in Boston. Each time the Hawks and Celtics split.

Celtics Tommy Heinsohn and Bob Cousy see Wednesday night's game as a crucial one, possibly determining whether the series goes seven games.

"If we win this one, we might take it in five or six," Heinsohn said. "If we lose, it probably will go seven games."

Seymour Disagrees

St. Louis Coach Paul Seymour didn't agree.

"Actually, we are the underdogs in both games," Seymour said. "So, even if we drop both, there is no reason to believe that we can't about face and win the next two at home."

The third and fourth games are scheduled in St. Louis Saturday and Sunday.

Seymour got some good news Tuesday in the report big Clyde Lovellette has started working out and may be available for Saturday's game in St. Louis. Lovellette, one of St. Louis' top scorers, missed the first playoff game because of a back injury.

Seymour put his Hawks through a secret drill Tuesday — "the first practice we've had since Christmas. We've been either playing or traveling every day since."

Boston's Red Auerbach said he'll play it by ear "just like the others. I'll make changes and adjustments as the game goes along and just hope the moves are rght. That's about all you can do."

3 Giant Stars Are Arrested After a Dispute

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Three members of the San Francisco Giants baseball team were arrested and charged with drunk and disorderly conduct Tuesday night.

The charges stemmed from a dispute with two youths outside the Giants' headquarters at the downtown Hotel Adams.

Arrested were infielder-outfielder Harvey Kuenn, catcher Bob Schmidt and third baseman Jim Davenport.

The arrests, only 20 minutes before the players' midnight curfew, drew this comment from Manager Alvin Dark:

"This is not the first time hoodlums have driven past the hotel, where they know the ballplayers are headquartered, and thrown taunts at them.

"The ballplayers are innocent. Definitely, there will be no fine."

He said the three ballplayers were arguing with a youth identified as Lester Gray, 20, of Phoenix. He said he saw no blows struck.

Gray had not been seen drinking and was not held, Dull said.

A Giant spokesman said Gray and an unidentified youth drove by in a car and yelled insults at Schmidt, who later was joined by Kuenn and Davenport. The spokesman said the other youth remained in the car.

Early today, the three players were released on $30 bond each. A preliminary hearing was set for April 18 — 11 days after the Giants are due to leave town.

Presumably, the players will forfeit their bond. They were not immediately available for comment.

Billy Short Sent To Richmond By the Yankees

Billy Short, the Port Ewen native and now a resident of Newburgh, was farmed out by the New York Yankees yesterday to Richmond, the Bombers' Triple A club of the International league.

The lefthander had seen little action with the Yankees during spring training. The several times he threw, the former NFA ace didn't pitch too hard and it's hoped that he will regain his form in the minors. Two years ago he was named the "Minor league pitcher of the year" and it earned him a promotion to the Yankees last season.

McDaniel Cards Ace For the Run

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Talk about the St. Louis Cardinals' pennant chances and you talk about the power of Ken Boyer and Bill White, the defensive help of Julian Javier and starting pitchers Ernie Broglio, Larry Jackson and Bob Miller. But you start the talk with the ace who's always in a hole—Lindy McDaniel.

It was Lindy once again Tuesday, following Broglio to the mound as the Cardinals made it four in a row over the American League champion New York Yankees, winning 2-1 in 11 innings at St. Petersburg, Fla. Broglio blanked the Yanks on three hits for seven innings. McDaniel, after giving up his first earned run in 13 innings this spring, resumed his shutout spell over the last four frames for the decision.

Elsewhere, the Washington Senators, leading American League clubs with a 13-8 exhibition record, ripped the Chicago White Sox 12-3; the Detroit Tigers walloped the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, still tops in the exhibition standings, 10-2; the Minnesota Twins defeated Milwaukee 9-6; Cincinnati beat Philadelphia 6-5; Kansas City outlasted Baltimore 11-10 in 10 innings; the Chicago Cubs nudged the Los Angeles Angels 4-3; the Los Angeles Dodgers breezed past Cleveland 8-5, and the San Francisco Giants beat Tacoma, their Pacific Coast farm club, 7-5.

Coates Takes Loss

A single by Alex Grammas drove in the tie-breaking run for the Cardinals and hung the loss on Jim Coates, who worked the last four innings for the Yanks.

Willie Tasby jolted across half a dozen runs for the Senators with a pair of homers, one a grand slam and both off lefty Juan Pizarro. Cal McLish started for the White Sox in the game at Sarasota, leaving with a 3-2 lead after allowing five hits in seven innings and driving in two runs with a single.

The Tigers decked two of the Pirates' aces — Vern Law and Face—as the champs closed their Fort Myers schedule with a 17-8 record. Detroit belted 14 hits, one a home run by Al Kaline. Bob Bruce went all the way with a six-hitter, giving up the Bucs' runs on a homer by Bob Skinner in the third inning.

The Twins took similar liberties with another National League ace, cracking all but one of their 17 hits off Lew Burdette of the Braves at Orlando. Earl Battey and Bob Allison each hit two-run triples for the Twins. John Demerit hit two homers and a pair of singles for the Braves.

Snider Hits Homer

A pinch triple by Jerry Lynch and a balk by Phils' rookie Dwight Siebler did it for the Reds in the ninth after right-hander Joey Jay Grew tired and blew a four-run lead in the eighth. Marv Throneberry's first home run of the spring put it away for the A's, who tied it on Andy Carey's homer in the ninth.

A two-run homer by Duke Snider triggered a four-run first inning for the Dodgers, who coasted in behind the six-hit pitching of Roger Craig for seven innings.

Rookie Billy Williams, who homered for the Cubs' first run, capped a three-run ninth with an infield hit against Tex Clevenger of the Angels. The Giants took care of Tacoma, after dedicating their $2 million minor league camp at Casa Grande, Ariz., with Willie Mays hitting a home run in support of right-hander Jack Sanford.

Michigan Kegler Hits 300 in ABC

DETROIT (AP)—Robert (Corky) DeGraff's perfect game at the American Bowling Congress Tournament Tuesday was a family affair.

The crew-cut Grand Rapids, Mich., photographer reeled off 12 straight strikes as he rolled with his father-in-law, Marshall Robbins, in the third game of the doubles.

DeGraff, at 24 the youngest 300 bowler in 58 ABC tournaments, rolled 194 and 205 in his first two games.

"Marsh told me to keep throwing the same way. We didn't seem to be going anywhere so I fgured I had nothing to lose," he said.

DeGraff's 699 and Robbins' 615 game them 1,314 for second place in the classic doubles.

Richards Is Hoping Orioles Can Win Pennant Race in AL

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP) —Baltimore's bold bid for the American League pennant, halted only by the Yankees' climactic 15-game winning streak, took everybody by surprise last year. A similar Oriole effort won't astonish anybody this year.

Manager Paul Richards thinks his young Birds are capable of winning their first major league pennant since John McGraw's Orioles captured the National League championship in 1896. Cautiously, he adds a couple of "ifs".

"We're good enough to win under certain conditions," Richards said. "First, we have to have good luck.

"Second, you hope for the normal development of your young talented players. I look for Ron Hansen, Jim Gentile, Marv Breeding, Steve Barber and Chuck Estrada to be better because of the year's experience.

"I think our new outfielders, Whitey Herzog, Russ Snyder, Earl Robinson and Chuck Essegian, will help us. I think Brooks Robinson is not only the best third baseman in the league, but one of the greatest all-around players in baseball."

The Orioles' biggest weakeness last year was in the outfield where their only punch came from Gene Woodling and Jackie Brandt. Woodling has since been drafted by the new Washington club.

Have Taken Up Slack

"I feel we have more than taken up the slack by Woodling's departure," said Richards. "I feel Herzog and Snyder will help us more than people realize. They're good hitters. Herzog was a rough hitter last year until he got hurt and he has a chance to be better."

Richards plans to two-platoon his outfield, using Brandt, Herzog and either Snyder or Gene Stephens against right-handed pitching, and team up Earl Robinson and Essegian with Brandt against left-handed pitching.

The Baltimore infield is set with Robinson at third, Hansen at short, Breeding at second and Gentile alternating with veteran Walt Dropo at first. Jerry Adair, who has been impressive this spring, is sure to be kept, along with utility infielder Ronnie Samford.

Richards plans to keep 10 pitchers and three catchers. Gus Triandos again will handle the brunt of the catching, with Hank Foiles and rookie Frank Zupo assisting.

The pitching staff which Richards calls "the best I ever managed," consists of six starters — Estrada (18-11), Barber (10-7), Milt Pappas (15-11), Jack Fisher (12-11), Hector Brown (12-5) and Jerry Walker (3-4). Hoyt Wilhelm (11-8) will be in charge of the bullpen.

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Transporter and Shadydale Colonel combined Tuesday night to produce the season's largest double at Yonkers Raceway.

Transporter, driven by Fred Bradbury, returned $10.10 in the first race for its third win in five starts.

Shadydale Colonel, driven by George Phalen, returned $65.50, the highest single race payoff this season, for its first win in three starts. The daily double was worth $220.90.

Rexall Boy, driven by Del Insko, outfought two horses in the stretch to capture the $8,900 Valhalla Trot by a nose over Demon Damsel and another nose over Hoot Dolmont before 20,382.

Time for the mile was 2:05 4-5.

The winner, an eight-year-old son of Rodney, owned by Roger, Harry and Robert Ivey of Mineral Pt., Wis., returned $4.00 as the favorite for its second win in three starts. Hoot Dolmont, which finished third, was a length and a quarter in front of Carlton.

Along The Tenpin Trail: The bowling expansion seems without end these days. Announcement of plans for new lanes on Route 28 in the Boiceville area are followed by the recurring rumors that the former Ruzzo Bowlatorium will again house alleys. A new 16-alley layout will be built at Hyde Park opposite The Kitchen and will be a $250,000 promotion. . . . Woodstock Lanes, closing out a fabulous first year, will add four more lanes for the 1961-62 season. Let us hope the population boom continues.

• Splits and Misses:

Nifty Nick Leoce, one-time bellwether of the crack Cy's Diners of Newburgh, racked up a whopping 1995 all-events in the Hilly City championships. Sam Taylor of Middletown posted 1992 and teamed with Phil Versace for a 1345 doubles. Jim Torrelli copped the net singles with 661. . . . Joseph Ponessi, a Newburgh milkman, has hit the $5,000 jackpot with the first sanctioned 300 game at Campi-Tarsio Lanes in Newburgh. He will receive the $5,000 War Bond from Lou Campi and Pat Tarsio and a $350 wrist watch from AMF Pinspotters. George (The Ace) Chiarmonte will present Ponessi with a $50 bond and a new Ace ball. John Martin missed the first sanctioned 300 at Campi-Tarsio by one pin earlier in the season. . . . Phil Versace and Frank Bandiero have extended their 600 series skein to nine straight in the Mid-Hudson Major at Newburgh. . . . Jack Ferraro edged youthful Dewey Blair of Poughkeepsie by 72 pins in their hectic race for individual average honors in the Hudson Valley League. But Jack is the first to tell you that Blair is destined to become one of the all-time Hudson Valley greats. The kid has everything, style, ball enthusiasm and courage.

• The Eleventh Frame:

Billy G. (Golembiewski) heading for Kingston and the Lions Club exposition under the sponsorship of Brunswick, according to Jerry Kaplan. . . . Clifton Quick, the walking bowling encyclopedia, and Jake Chichelsky are doing some research on the "700 Club" roster in Kingston over the past 25 years. Their last tally showed more than 65 local keglers with 700 keglers in ABC sanctioned leagues. . . . Bowling champions Don Carter, Bill Tucker and Therm Gibson have been invited to join the lineup of competitors in the third annual Ruppert-Brunswick Tournament of Champions. The trio will challenge defending champion Billy Golembiewski in the June 1 event to be held at Madison Square Garden. . . . Rose Schatzel and Hilda Murphy look like a natural combination for the upcoming national women's doubles championships at the Latham Center near Albany in mid-May. The newly organized National Bowling League will swing into action on Oct. 13, Dick Charles, president of the loop, has announced. Jake Charter of Poughkeepsie is slated to see duty with the New York entry. Joining Joltin' Jake on the firing line for the Gothams will be Chuck Pezzano, Ralph Engan, James Santoro, Jimmy Carmen, Andy McBride and Teata Semiz. Ten teams — Kansas City, Omaha, Dallas, Detroit, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Los Angeles, Fort Worth, Fresno, San Antonio and New York will make up the league in its 132-night schedule that runs until April 25 next year. Big name stars in the league are Joe Joseph, Buzz Fazio, Ed Lubanski, Stan Gifford, Steve Nagy, Bob Strampe and Billy G.

• Late Season Bouquets:

How about that elevator series Art DiNapoli recently tossed at Woodstock Lanes? He did it with 118-235-154. . . . New admissions to the 400 Club: Anna Cousins, 422, Woodstock; Ann Yonta, 410, New Drop; Beverly Kelder, 401, Suburban; Ruth Davis, 415, Matinee. . . . Myrtle Overbagh rolled first 200 and 500's — 203-553 — in IBM Home Engineers League. . . . Claire Uhler had her first 500, right on the nose, in the same circuit. . . . Kudos to Ray Corcoran for cleaning up the double pinochle split — 4-6-7-10. . . . Fewer bowlers get that one than the 7-10. . . . Andre Neher bagged that first 500, with 516 at Woodstock Lanes. . . . Up and down guys: Frank Ferrendino, International, 135-224-150; Andy Gilday, Catholic AA, 135-213-143. Up the ladder of success: George Magley, Bowlero Major, 155-213-234; down the ladder, Joe Napoli, City Minor, 231-178-127. . . . Man making the grade: Bob Enright, 150-222-268, in the Catholic AA. . . . Gene Smith first 500 with 505. The tired season is at hand — three teams in the 12-team Independent Tavern circuit failed to list sponsor's name.

NEAR MISS: Dave Getchen, 17-year-old Detroit high school student, rolled 826, second highest series in history by high school keglers. Dick Hoover set the record at 847 as 16-year-old in 1946 in Akron, Ohio. Getchen shot games of 278, 258, 290. What's the kid going to do for bowling kicks now?

Pick Celts By 9 Points

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics ruled a nine point favorite to beat St. Louis Wednesday night and take a two-up lead over the Hawks in their best-of-seven playoff for the National Basketball Association title.

If history is any criterion, however, the bookmakers are all wrong in their doping of the key second game. Three times before these two teams have met in the final playoffs, and each time the first two games were in Boston. Each time the Hawks and Celtics split.

Celtics Tommy Heinsohn and Bob Cousy see Wednesday night's game as a crucial one, possibly determining whether the series goes seven games.

"If we win this one, we might take it in five or six," Heinsohn said. "If we lose, it probably will go seven games."

Seymour Disagrees

St. Louis Coach Paul Seymour didn't agree.

"Actually, we are the underdogs in both games," Seymour said. "So, even if we drop both, there is no reason to believe that we can't about face and win the next two at home."

The third and fourth games are scheduled in St. Louis Saturday and Sunday.

Seymour got some good news Tuesday in the report big Clyde Lovellette has started working out and may be available for Saturday's game in St. Louis. Lovellette, one of St. Louis' top scorers, missed the first playoff game because of a back injury.

Seymour put his Hawks through a secret drill Tuesday — "the first practice we've had since Christmas. We've been either playing or traveling every day since."

Boston's Red Auerbach said he'll play it by ear "just like the others. I'll make changes and adjustments as the game goes along and just hope the moves are rght. That's about all you can do."

3 Giant Stars Are Arrested After a Dispute

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Three members of the San Francisco Giants baseball team were arrested and charged with drunk and disorderly conduct Tuesday night.

The charges stemmed from a dispute with two youths outside the Giants' headquarters at the downtown Hotel Adams.

Arrested were infielder-outfielder Harvey Kuenn, catcher Bob Schmidt and third baseman Jim Davenport.

The arrests, only 20 minutes before the players' midnight curfew, drew this comment from Manager Alvin Dark:

"This is not the first time hoodlums have driven past the hotel, where they know the ballplayers are headquartered, and thrown taunts at them.

"The ballplayers are innocent. Definitely, there will be no fine."

Police Officer Gary Dull, who made the arrests, said the players "smelled strongly of alcohol."

He said the three ballplayers were arguing with a youth identified as Lester Gray, 20, of Phoenix. He said he saw no blows struck.

Gray had not been seen drinking and was not held, Dull said.

A Giant spokesman said Gray and an unidentified youth drove by in a car and yelled insults at Schmidt, who later was joined by Kuenn and Davenport. The spokesman said the other youth remained in the car.

Early today, the three players were released on $30 bond each. A preliminary hearing was set for April 18 — 11 days after the Giants are due to leave town.

Presumably, the players will forfeit their bond. They were not immediately available for comment.

Billy Short Sent To Richmond By the Yankees

Billy Short, the Port Ewen native and now a resident of Newburgh, was farmed out by the New York Yankees yesterday to Richmond, the Bombers' Triple A club of the International league.

The lefthander had seen little action with the Yankees during spring training. The several times he threw, the former NFA ace didn't pitch too hard and it's hoped that he will regain his form in the minors. Two years ago he was named the "Minor league pitcher of the year" and it earned him a promotion to the Yankees last season.

McDaniel Cards Ace For the Run

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Talk about the St. Louis Cardinals' pennant chances and you talk about the power of Ken Boyer and Bill White, the defensive help of Julian Javier and starting pitchers Ernie Broglio, Larry Jackson and Bob Miller. But you start the talk with the ace who's always in a hole—Lindy McDaniel.

Lanky Lindy proved himself the best relief pitcher in the business last season.

It was Lindy once again Tuesday, following Broglio to the mound as the Cardinals made it four in a row over the American League champion New York Yankees, winning 2-1 in 11 innings at St. Petersburg, Fla. Broglio blanked the Yanks on three hits for seven innings. McDaniel, after giving up his first earned run in 13 innings this spring, resumed his shutout spell over the last four frames for the decision.

Elsewhere, the Washington Senators, leading American League clubs with a 13-8 exhibition record, ripped the Chicago White Sox 12-3; the Detroit Tigers walloped the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, still tops in the exhibition standings, 10-2; the Minnesota Twins defeated Milwaukee 9-6; Cincinnati beat Philadelphia 6-5; Kansas City outlasted Baltimore 11-10 in 10 innings; the Chicago Cubs nudged the Los Angeles Angels 4-3; the Los Angeles Dodgers breezed past Cleveland 8-5, and the San Francisco Giants beat Tacoma, their Pacific Coast farm club, 7-5.

Coates Takes Loss

A single by Alex Grammas drove in the tie-breaking run for the Cardinals and hung the loss on Jim Coates, who worked the last four innings for the Yanks.

Willie Tasby jolted across half a dozen runs for the Senators with a pair of homers, one a grand slam and both off lefty Juan Pizarro. Cal McLish started for the White Sox in the game at Sarasota, leaving with a 3-2 lead after allowing five hits in seven innings and driving in two runs with a single.

The Tigers decked two of the Pirates' aces — Vern Law and Face—as the champs closed their Fort Myers schedule with a 17-8 record. Detroit belted 14 hits, one a home run by Al Kaline. Bob Bruce went all the way with a six-hitter, giving up the Bucs' runs on a homer by Bob Skinner in the third inning.

The Twins took similar liberties with another National League ace, cracking all but one of their 17 hits off Lew Burdette of the Braves at Orlando. Earl Battey and Bob Allison each hit two-run triples for the Twins. John Demerit hit two homers and a pair of singles for the Braves.

Snider Hits Homer

A pinch triple by Jerry Lynch and a balk by Phils' rookie Dwight Siebler did it for the Reds in the ninth after right-hander Joey Jay Grew tired and blew a four-run lead in the eighth. Marv Throneberry's first home run of the spring put it away for the A's, who tied it on Andy Carey's homer in the ninth.

A two-run homer by Duke Snider triggered a four-run first inning for the Dodgers, who coasted in behind the six-hit pitching of Roger Craig for seven innings.

Rookie Billy Williams, who homered for the Cubs' first run, capped a three-run ninth with an infield hit against Tex Clevenger of the Angels. The Giants took care of Tacoma, after dedicating their $2 million minor league camp at Casa Grande, Ariz., with Willie Mays hitting a home run in support of right-hander Jack Sanford.

Michigan Kegler Hits 300 in ABC

DETROIT (AP)—Robert (Corky) DeGraff's perfect game at the Amercan Bowling Congress Tournament Tuesday was a family affair.

The crew-cut Grand Rapids, Mich., photographer reeled off 12 straight strikes as he rolled with his father-in-law, Marshall Robbins, in the third game of the doubles.

DeGraff, at 24 the youngest 300 bowler in 58 ABC tournaments, rolled 194 and 205 in his first two games.

"Marsh told me to keep throwing the same way. We didn't seem to be going anywhere so I fgured I had nothing to lose," he said.

DeGraff's 699 and Robbins' 615 game them 1,314 for second place in the classic doubles.

Richards Is Hoping Orioles Can Win Pennant Race in AL

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP) —Baltimore's bold bid for the American League pennant, halted only by the Yankees' climactic 15-game winning streak, took everybody by surprise last year. A similar Oriole effort won't astonish anybody this year.

Manager Paul Richards thinks his young Birds are capable of winning their first major league pennant since John McGraw's Orioles captured the National League championship in 1896. Cautiously, he adds a couple of "ifs".

"We're good enough to win under certain conditions," Richards said. "First, we have to have good luck.

"Second, you hope for the normal development of your young talented players. I look for Ron Hansen, Jim Gentile, Marv Breeding, Steve Barber and Chuck Estrada to be better because of the year's experience.

"I think our new outfielders, Whitey Herzog, Russ Snyder, Earl Robinson and Chuck Essegian, will help us. I think Brooks Robinson is not only the best third baseman in the league, but one of the greatest all-around players in baseball."

The Orioles' biggest weakeness last year was in the outfield where their only punch came from Gene Woodling and Jackie Brandt. Woodling has since been drafted by the new Washington club.

Have Taken Up Slack

"I feel we have more than taken up the slack by Woodling's departure," said Richards. "I feel Herzog and Snyder will help us more than people realize. They're good hitters. Herzog was a rough hitter last year until he got hurt and he has a chance to be better."

Richards plans to two-platoon his outfield, using Brandt, Herzog and either Snyder or Gene Stephens against right-handed pitching, and team up Earl Robinson and Essegian with Brandt against left-handed pitching.

The Baltimore infield is set with Robinson at third, Hansen at short, Breeding at second and Gentile alternating with veteran Walt Dropo at first. Jerry Adair, who has been impressive this spring, is sure to be kept, along with utility infielder Ronnie Samford.

Richards plans to keep 10 pitchers and three catchers. Gus Triandos again will handle the brunt of the catching, with Hank Foiles and rookie Frank Zupo assisting.

The pitching staff which Richards calls "the best I ever managed," consists of six starters — Estrada (18-11), Barber (10-7), Milt Pappas (15-11), Jack Fisher (12-11), Hector Brown (12-5) and Jerry Walker (3-4). Hoyt Wilhelm (11-8) will be in charge of the bullpen.

Daily Double Returns $220 At Yonkers

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Transporter and Shadydale Colonel combined Tuesday night to produce the season's largest double at Yonkers Raceway.

Transporter, driven by Fred Bradbury, returned $10.10 in the first race for its third win in five starts.

Shadydale Colonel, driven by George Phalen, returned $65.50, the highest single race payoff this season, for its first win in three starts. The daily double was worth $220.90.

Rexall Boy, driven by Del Insko, outfought two horses in the stretch to capture the $8,900 Valhalla Trot by a nose over Demon Damsel and another nose over Hoot Dolmont before 20,382.

Time for the mile was 2:05 4-5.

The winner, an eight-year-old son of Rodney, owned by Roger, Harry and Robert Ivey of Mineral Pt., Wis., returned $4.00 as the favorite for its second win in three starts. Hoot Dolmont, which finished third, was a length and a quarter in front of Carlton.

The Hawks Eliminate Canadiens

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks, finally having avenged their playoff pitfalls by eliminating the mighty Montreal Canadiens, are aiming for the Stanley Cup championship.

The Hawks knocked off the champion Canadiens 3-0 Tuesday night to grab their semifinal cup playoff from the Canadiens 4-2 in their best-of-seven series and open the championship with Detroit in Chicago Stadium Thursday night.

Chicago defeated the Canadiens in convincing fashion with a pair of 3-0 shutouts after the two teams were deadlocked at two games each.

It was the third successive year in which the Canadiens had won the National Hockey League championship and the Hawks had finished third to draw Montreal as a semifinal opponent. The last two years Montreal won handily and went on to take the Stanley Cup.

But it was different this time. The Hawks, with goalie Glenn Hall scoring successive shutouts against the Canadiens, played tremendous hockey, and enter their first Stanley Cup finals since 1944. They also are seeking their first cup championship since 1938.

Sealed in Second

While Hall was blanking the Canadiens, who were out after their sixth straight cup title, Red Hay, Bobby Hull and Eric Nesterenko whipped in second period goals to seal the triumph.

A crowd of 16,666 cheered the Hawks for a full three minutes after the final gun sounded and filled the ice with hats, streamers and anything dispensable which happened to be within reach.

Montreal Coach Toe Blake seemed to sum up the loss to the Hawks:

"They were hungrier and they outhustled us."

Blake respectfully gave the Hawks credit for their victory but added that injuries hampered his team. The Canadiens played much of the series without Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, the league's leading scorer, who injured his left knee in the third game.

Geoffrion saw limited service Tuesday night but was virtually useless.

Blake wouldn't pick a winner between Chicago and Detroit but said "the Hawks have better balance. Detroit has been good and will be rough."

Springfield in Hockey Finals

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Indians of Springfield, a breed that is fast, rugged and hard to stop on a hockey rink, captured a berth in the finals of the American Hockey League Calder Cup playoffs with four straight victories over Cleveland.

The Indians wound up the best-with a 3-1 victory. Now they face the winner of the Buffalo-Hershey semifinals.

That series could be decided tonight when Hershey, leading 3-0, plays at Buffalo.

The final Springfield victory over Cleveland could prove an expensive one. Marcel Paille, the brilliant goalie, went out in the third period with a wrenched knee. It was not known immediately whether the injury would keep him out of the finals. George Wood, the Indians spare goalie, played the last 14 minutes.

The Indians won, as they have frequently this season, with a whirlwind flurry early in the last period. Going into the final session, they trailed 0-1. But in the space of 11 seconds the Indians clicked for two goals and a few minutes later, Bill Sweeney, top scorer in the AHL, flipped the puck into the Cleveland net unassisted for the third counter.

Machen, Cooper Tabbed as Next Foe for Floyd

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson will face either England's Henry Cooper or Eddie Machen next while Sonny Liston settles for Sweden's Ingemar Johansson.

That appeared to be the picture for boxing's big boys today with both bouts ticketed for September. The title go probably will be held in New York's Yankee Stadium and the Liston-Johansson international special in Ingemar's home town of Goteborg, Sweden.

Cooper, the British and British Empire heavyweight king from London, has the inside track for Patterson, it is understood, although Machen's hopes were raised by a promoter's statement Tuesday.

Tom Bolan, recently appointed executive director of Feature Sports Inc., said the contenders' field for the Patterson plum had narrowed down to Machen and Cooper. That leaves out Liston, the No. 1 contender from Philadelphia.

Meets DeJohn

Machen, the No. 2 contender from Portland, Ore., will have to show impressively against Mike DeJohn, No. 6 contender from Syracuse, N.Y., in their Monday night clash at San Francisco to merit a look-in.

"Patterson told me he will fight in September against a top challenger," said Bolan. "He asked me to talk with two or three proposed challengers. He said he felt Machen, because of his high ranking, should be given serious consideration. So it looks like either Machen or Cooper in September."

Johansson himself passed on the latest word on the proposed fight with Liston. Visiting Oslo where the movie of the March 13th fight was being shown. Ingo said negotiations were under way for the fight with Liston in Goteborg.

Grand Jury Busy With Cage Scandal

NEW YORK (AP) —A grand jury will continue taking testimony this afternoon in its investigation of the new college basketball scandals.

Several unidentified witnesses appeared before the grand jury Tuesday as the probe, headed by Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan, began. No details were revealed by Hogan but there were reports that one of the two New York men charged with bribing three college players might be turning state's evidence.

Gilbert Rated Very Promising Before His Death

NEW YORK (AP)—At 22, Roy L. Gilbert was one of the most promising young jockeys in the country.

He had been riding only three and a half years but he had compiled an imposing total of 174 winners. Within a space of two weeks last month, he had won four stakes races.

It all ended Tuesday in the fourth race at Aqueduct. Gilbert was killed when his mount, a 39-to-1 outsider named Plenty Papaya, bolted into the rail.

Gilbert, from London, Ky., apparently managed to jump from the 2-year-old filly at the last second, but she was so far behind the field that the patrol films of the race failed to show the spill.

Forestry Station Asked by Wilm of U. S. Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York's Conservation Commissioner thinks the government should set up a forestry research station at Syracuse, N.Y.

Harold G. Wilm recently urged a House appropriations subcommittee to increase by $8 million the $23,278,000 requested by the Agriculture Department for forest research during the year which begins July 1.

His testimony was made public today by the subcommittee.

He said there is need in New York for research in watershed management, in timber-growing and market problems of small forest owners, to improve the state's timber states and to find better processing and marketing methods for small timber operators.

He suggested a research station could be established at the State University's College of Forestry at Syracuse.

Strain Obvious On Finch Jury

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There was obvious strain among the Finch trial jurors going into the third round of their life-or-death deliberations.

But there was no evidence the jury was approaching the point of hopeless deadlock in trying to decide what penalty Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 43, and Carole Tregoff, will pay for the murder of the doctor's wife.

Finch was convicted last week of first-degree murder and conspiracy—both capital offenses — and Miss Tregoff was convicted of conspiracy and second-degree murder. Each could get the death penalty, or each could get life imprisonment, or one could get one penalty and one another. Seven years would be the earliest either could leave prison on parole should life terms be imposed.

The Hawks Eliminate Canadiens

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks, finally having avenged their playoff pitfalls by eliminating the mighty Montreal Canadiens, are aiming for the Stanley Cup championship.

The Hawks knocked off the champion Canadiens 3-0 Tuesday night to grab their semifinal cup playoff from the Canadiens 4-2 in their best-of-seven series and open the championship with Detroit in Chicago Stadium Thursday night.

Chicago defeated the Canadiens in convincing fashion with a pair of 3-0 shutouts after the two teams were deadlocked at two games each.

It was the third successive year in which the Canadiens had won the National Hockey League championship and the Hawks had finished third to draw Montreal as a semifinal opponent. The last two years Montreal won handily and went on to take the Stanley Cup.

But it was different this time. The Hawks, with goalie Glenn Hall scoring successive shutouts against the Canadiens, played tremendous hockey, and enter their first Stanley Cup finals since 1944. They also are seeking their first cup championship since 1938.

Sealed in Second

While Hall was blanking the Canadiens, who were out after their sixth straight cup title, Red Hay, Bobby Hull and Eric Nesterenko whipped in second period goals to seal the triumph.

A crowd of 16,666 cheered the Hawks for a full three minutes after the final gun sounded and filled the ice with hats, streamers and anything dispensable which happened to be within reach.

Montreal Coach Toe Blake seemed to sum up the loss to the Hawks:

"They were hungrier and they outhustled us."

Blake respectfully gave the Hawks credit for their victory but added that injuries hampered his team. The Canadiens played much of the series without Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, the league's leading scorer, who injured his left knee in the third game.

Geoffrion saw limited service Tuesday night but was virtually useless.

Blake wouldn't pick a winner between Chicago and Detroit but said "the Hawks have better balance. Detroit has been good and will be rough."

Springfield in Hockey Finals

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Indians of Springfield, a breed that is fast, rugged and hard to stop on a hockey rink, captured a berth in the finals of the American Hockey League Calder Cup playoffs with four straight victories over Cleveland.

The Indians wound up the best-with a 3-1 victory. Now they face the winner of the Buffalo-Hershey semifinals.

That series could be decided tonight when Hershey, leading 3-0, plays at Buffalo.

The final Springfield victory over Cleveland could prove an expensive one. Marcel Paille, the brilliant goalie, went out in the third period with a wrenched knee. It was not known immediately whether the injury would keep him out of the finals. George Wood, the Indians spare goalie, played the last 14 minutes.

The Indians won, as they have frequently this season, with a whirlwind flurry early in the last period. Going into the final session, they trailed 0-1. But in the space of 11 seconds the Indians clicked for two goals and a few minutes later, Bill Sweeney, top scorer in the AHL, flipped the puck into the Cleveland net unassisted for the third counter.

Machen, Cooper Tabbed as Next Foe for Floyd

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson will face either England's Henry Cooper or Eddie Machen next while Sonny Liston settles for Sweden's Ingemar Johansson.

That appeared to be the picture for boxing's big boys today with both bouts ticketed for September. The title go probably will be held in New York's Yankee Stadium and the Liston-Johansson international special in Ingemar's home town of Goteborg, Sweden.

Cooper, the British and British Empire heavyweight king from London, has the inside track for Patterson, it is understood, although Machen's hopes were raised by a promoter's statement Tuesday.

Tom Bolan, recently appointed executive director of Feature Sports Inc., said the contenders' field for the Patterson plum had narrowed down to Machen and Cooper. That leaves out Liston, the No. 1 contender from Philadelphia.

Meets DeJohn

Machen, the No. 2 contender from Portland, Ore., will have to show impressively against Mike DeJohn, No. 6 contender from Syracuse, N.Y., in their Monday night clash at San Francisco to merit a look-in.

"Patterson told me he will fight in September against a top challenger," said Bolan. "He asked me to talk with two or three proposed challengers. He said he felt Machen, because of his high ranking, should be given serious consideration. So it looks like either Machen or Cooper in September."

Johansson himself passed on the latest word on the proposed fight with Liston. Visiting Oslo where the movie of the March 13th fight was being shown. Ingo said negotiations were under way for the fight with Liston in Gotebong.

Grand Jury Busy With Cage Scandal

NEW YORK (AP) —A grand jury will continue taking testimony this afternoon in its investigation of the new college basketball scandals.

Several unidentified witnesses appeared before the grand jury Tuesday as the probe, headed by Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan, began. No details were revealed by Hogan but there were reports that one of the two New York men charged with bribing three college players might be turning state's evidence.

Gilbert Rated Very Promising Before His Death

NEW YORK (AP)—At 22, Roy L. Gilbert was one of the most promising young jockeys in the country.

He had been riding only three and a half years but he had compiled an imposing total of 174 winners. Within a space of two weeks last month, he had won four stakes races.

It all ended Tuesday in the fourth race at Aqueduct. Gilbert was killed when his mount, a 39-to-1 outsider named Plenty Papaya, bolted into the rail.

Gilbert, from London, Ky., apparently managed to jump from the 2-year-old filly at the last second, but she was so far behind the field that the patrol films of the race failed to show the spill.

Forestry Station Asked by Wilm of U. S. Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York's Conservation Commissioner thinks the government should set up a forestry research station at Syracuse, N.Y.

Harold G. Wilm recently urged a House appropriations subcommittee to increase by $8 million the $23,278,000 requested by the Agriculture Department for forest research during the year which begins July 1.

His testimony was made public today by the subcommittee.

Wilm said lack of a forest research station in New York represents a serious gap in the national program.

He said there is need in New York for research in watershed management, in timber-growing and market problems of small forest owners, to improve the state's timber states and to find better processing and marketing methods for small timber operators.

He suggested a research station could be established at the State University's College of Forestry at Syracuse.

Strain Obvious On Finch Jury

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There was obvious strain among the Finch trial jurors going into the third round of their life-or-death deliberations.

But there was no evidence the jury was approaching the point of hopeless deadlock in trying to decide what penalty Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 43, and Carole Tregoff, will pay for the murder of the doctor's wife.

Finch was convicted last week of first-degree murder and conspiracy—both capital offenses — and Miss Tregoff was convicted of conspiracy and second-degree murder. Each could get the death penalty, or each could get life imprisonment, or one could get one penalty and one another. Seven years would be the earliest either could leave prison on parole should life terms be imposed.

Johnson Pledges U. S. Backing for Senegal's Plan

DAKAR, Senegal (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson assured Premier Mamadou Dia today the United States will help finance Senegal's four-year economic plan.

Smiling broadly after their meeting, Johnson and Dia told newsmen a technical assistance agreement between Senegal and the United States will be signed soon.

Dia stressed that the U.S. financial help primarily will be loans and not grants.

Dia outlined the Senegal program to the National Assembly Tuesday. The text of the speech was in Johnson's pocket as he left today for Geneva.

As Johnson walked out of the government building after meeting Dia, government employes in the corridors applauded him.

No specific amount of financial assistance was mentioned by Johnson or Dia. The total cost of the four-year plan is about $8 billion. France is expected to furnish its former colony a major part of the amount.

Study CP at Sea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Kennedy administration concern for insuring the survival and unbroken control by the U.S. military leadership in event of a nuclear attack has raised the possibility that a command post might be established afloat.

Mentioned in speculation about such a possible seagoing command post are the nuclear cruiser Long Beach, the Northampton, a command ship for the Atlantic Fleet, and the giant nuclear submarine Triton.

In his budget message to Congress, President Kennedy asked for $16 million in new contract authority to be used for "invulnerable and continuous command posts and communications centers."

Debate Enthusiasm Cools

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Cuba today appeared reluctant to bring before the United Nations her perennial charge that the United States is planning aggression against Fidel Castro's regime.

The assembly's political committee is marking time during a lull in its aid-to-Africa debate and the Cuban complaint is next on the agenda. But the Cuban delegation made no move to air the issue.

Informed sources said Cuba's enthusiasm for a debate cooled after the Soviet Union hinted it was not anxious to get embroiled in such a wrangle at this time.

Snowslides Kill 23

TOKYO (AP)—Heavy rains set off two separate snowslides on the northern island of Hokkaido today, killing 23 workers building an electric power dam, and injuring 11. Another 11 men were missing.

One avalanche buried workers' barracks at the dam site. The other occurred at a work site nearby.

3 Bomarcs Fired

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Three Bomarc-A missiles, one of which failed, were launched here Tuesday by Air Force crews from Santa Rosa Island, Fla.

The Air Force said the three separate launchings were successful, but one of the ground-to-air missiles malfunctioned and fell into the Gulf. There was no further explanation of the malfunctioning.

12 Killed in Angola

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Twelve soldiers were killed and seven wounded Tuesday in a battle with natives in Portugal's West African colony of Angola, the news agency Lusitania said today.

Portugal's soldiers have been mopping up native bands in Angola since an outbreak of anti-white violence last month.

Praise McNamara Views

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate veterans today credited Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara with stout and logical arguments for major changes in this nation's military might.

McNamara said a study of the general position brought the decision "to reduce our dependence on deterrent forces which are highly vulnerable to ballistic missile attack or which rely for their survival on a hair-trigger response to the first indications of such an attack."

"Secretary McNamara has acquired an amazing knowledge of our defense problems in a relatively few months," Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Tuesday after nearly six hours of closed-door testimony.

Johnson Pledges U. S. Backing for Senegal's Plan

DAKAR, Senegal (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson assured Premier Mamadou Dia today the United States will help finance Senegal's four-year economic plan.

Smiling broadly after their meeting, Johnson and Dia told newsmen a technical assistance agreement between Senegal and the United States will be signed soon.

Dia stressed that the U.S. financial help primarily will be loans and not grants.

Dia outlined the Senegal program to the National Assembly Tuesday. The text of the speech was in Johnson's pocket as he left today for Geneva.

The cordial final meeting capped a successful trip for Johnson who came here as President Kennedy's representative to celebrations marking Senegal's first Independence Day.

Johnson's reception so far overshadowed that of Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob Malik that a Paris correspondent cabled his newspaper "Johnson an easy winner in the charm battle."

As Johnson walked out of the government building after meeting Dia, government employes in the corridors applauded him.

No specific amount of financial assistance was mentioned by Johnson or Dia. The total cost of the four-year plan is about $8 billion. France is expected to furnish its former colony a major part of the amount.

Study CP at Sea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Kennedy administration concern for insuring the survival and unbroken control by the U.S. military leadership in event of a nuclear attack has raised the possibility that a command post might be established afloat.

Mentioned in speculation about such a possible seagoing command post are the nuclear cruiser Long Beach, the Northampton, a command ship for the Atlantic Fleet, and the giant nuclear submarine Triton.

In his budget message to Congress, President Kennedy asked for $16 million in new contract authority to be used for "invulnerable and continuous command posts and communications centers."

Debate Enthusiasm Cools

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Cuba today appeared reluctant to bring before the United Nations her perennial charge that the United States is planning aggression against Fidel Castro's regime.

The assembly's political committee is marking time during a lull in its aid-to-Africa debate and the Cuban complaint is next on the agenda. But the Cuban delegation made no move to air the issue.

Informed sources said Cuba's enthusiasm for a debate cooled after the Soviet Union hinted it was not anxious to get embroiled in such a wrangle at this time.

Snowslides Kill 23

TOKYO (AP)—Heavy rains set off two separate snowslides on the northern island of Hokkaido today, killing 23 workers building an electric power dam, and injuring 11. Another 11 men were missing.

One avalanche buried workers' barracks at the dam site. The other occurred at a work site nearby.

3 Bomarcs Fired

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Three Bomarc-A missiles, one of which failed, were launched here Tuesday by Air Force crews from Santa Rosa Island, Fla.

The Air Force said the three separate launchings were successful, but one of the ground-to-air missiles malfunctioned and fell into the Gulf. There was no further explanation of the malfunctioning.

12 Killed in Angola

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Twelve soldiers were killed and seven wounded Tuesday in a battle with natives in Portugal's West African colony of Angola, the news agency Lusitania said today.

Portugal's soldiers have been mopping up native bands in Angola since an outbreak of anti-white violence last month.

Praise McNamara Views

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate veterans today credited Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara with stout and logical arguments for major changes in this nation's military might.

McNamara said a study of the general position brought the decision "to reduce our dependence on deterrent forces which are highly vulnerable to ballistic missile attack or which rely for their survival on a hair-trigger response to the first indications of such an attack."

"Secretary McNamara has acquired an amazing knowledge of our defense problems in a relatively few months," Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Tuesday after nearly six hours of closed-door testimony.

Dies Under Tractor

SCHUYLER LAKE, N.Y. (AP) —A farm tractor riding over a rock overturned Tuesday, killing James Franklin, 17.

Franklin, the son of Clifton H. Franklin, had been hauling logs on his father's farm near this Otsego County community.

Cooley Is Accused Of Wife's Murder

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Spade Cooley, 50, who coasted to fame on the strains of Western music, sat glumly in a jail cell today—accused of the brutal murder of his estranged wife, Ella Mae.

The ex-musician, who had turned to real estate development in recent years, was arrested after summoning an ambulance to his rambling home in the foothills of the Tehachapi Mountains late Monday night.

The ambulance crew rushed Mrs. Cooley, 37, nude except for a blanket around her, to Tehachapi Valley Hospital. A physician pronounced her dead at 12:20 a.m. Tuesday.

Sheriff's officers said Mrs. Cooley evidently was beaten or choked to death. The officers said the couple's daughter, Melody, 14, told of seeing the frightening scene—or part of it—before running from the house. The couple's son, 12, was not at home.

Cooley, former radio-TV fiddler and bandleader and winner of two Emmy awards in the early days of television, was booked on suspicion of murder. Investigators said he admitted slapping his wife but didn't elaborate.

Although he had filed for divorce last March 17, charging incompatibility, Cooley and his wife of 15 years had returned to their hillside ranch, 80 miles northeast of Los Angeles, over the weekend. In his divorce suit, Cooley had sought custody of their two children.

Orthodox Faith Plans Services

Solemn Holy Week services will be observed this week by members of the Eastern Orthodox faith.

Holy Week in this faith always follows the Jewish passover, as did the original occurrences at the time of Christ's crucifixion.

This year the local Greek Orthodox community has completed plans for the observance of Holy Week with religious services in Kingston.

Through the cooperation of Archbishop Iakovos and through the generosity of the Holy Cross Church on Pine Grove Avenue, this city, members of the Eastern Orthodox faith will be able to worship during Holy Week in their own community for the first time.

The Greek Orthodox community of Kingston cordially invites all Orthodox Christians, whether members of the local group or not, to attend services at Holy Cross Church, as follows:

Maundy Thursday at 8 p. m., April 6; Good Friday, 8 p. m., April 7; Saturday Holy Communion, 9 a. m. April 8, and midnight services Easter, 11 p. m., Saturday, April 8.

Background Is Given of Winners In Science Fair

Today's article is the first in a series of 13 about the first prize winners in the third annual Kingston (Consolidated) Schools Science Fair. In total, some 51 students of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will represent the district at the third annual Mid-Hudson School Study Council Science Fair at the College of Education in New Paltz, May 12.

This series will review, school by school, the first place winners, touching on various backgrounds and interesting aspects of the winning projects.

The first article deals with the three prize winners at the Port Ewen School:

Robert C. Courtney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Courtney; Donna Miraldi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Miraldi and Diane Freese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Freese.

The fourth grade winner at Port Ewen School, Robert C. Courtney, combined an interest in electricity and summer camp experience into a blue ribbon. Robert, was declared the winner with a project that dealt with flowing electricity. The idea for the winning exhibit grew out of some experiments with electricity that he conducted last summer as a Boy Scout at Camp Tri-Mount.

The fifth grade blue ribbon was awarded to 10-year-old Donna Miraldi for a project featuring the earth and sky. Donna credits the idea for her winning display to a resource book she read. After first planning the display Donna reported she obtained the materials necessary for her project from her own back yard, magazines, and other sources close to home.

Diane Freese captured the sixth grade blue ribbon with a project that involved a simple battery. The idea for Diane's display originated with a laboratory experiment she saw while reading an electronics book. Diane, who wants to be a teacher, said she was able to gather the needed materials for her project from around the house.

Grand prizes at the New Paltz Fair include United states Savings Bonds.

The second article in this current series on the Science Fair winners will be on the winners at Hurley School.

Nixon to Open Up Next Month

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—"The five-month honeymoon is over," says Richard M. Nixon.

The former vice president told a news conference Tuesday he will begin public appraisal of the Kennedy administration next month, starting with a May 5 speech in Chicago.

Due at Lions Show

World Monies Now AtBroadwayBank

A colorful exhibit of monies used by member countries of the United Nations will be on display at the Central Branch of the Kingston Trust Company, 518 Broadway, beginning today. The exhibit also will be on display next week at the Kingston Trust Company booth at the Lions Club Exposition.

The exhibit is loaned to the Trust Company from the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York. It is part of that bank's vast Museum of Money of the World consisting of approximately 75,000 specimens.

Wide Divergence

This display graphically shows the wide divergence in types of money now being used in the world. To Americans familiar only with the United States dollars, the different sizes and shapes and varied designs of the display may come as a surprise. Many of the notes have what appear to be blank spaces, but which contain a water-mark to make counterfeiting more difficult.

Few countries, however, use the same paper money. Liberia and the Republic of Panama both use the United States dollar. The Ukranian Soviet Socialist Republic and Byelorussia, each a separate member of the UN, use the ruble of the Russian Union of Socialist Soviet Republics.

Women on Some

Pictures of women are featured in the currency design of many nations. Luxemberg bills display a likeness of that tiny country's Grand Duchess and an Indian girl graces the money of Nicaragua. The goddess of Liberty and Justice, which once appeared on American bills, still are depicted on the paper money currencies of many lands, notably those of Latin America.

Kings, presidents and patriots are portrayed on notes of several countries. Venezuelan currency shows the likeness of Simon Bolivar, the "George Washington" of South America and its currency unit is named in his honor.

Somebody Erred; Who Was It?

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

South has a rather normal preemptive three heart opening and needless to say North can afford the raise to game. At least both North-South pairs bid to game by that method.

Both West players led the eight of clubs. Both South's called for the ace from dummy and both South players proceeded to do a lot of thinking before making their next plays.

The first South player took a prosaic method. He led ace of diamonds; ruffed a diamond; finessed the heart; cashed dummy's ace of hearts; led a spade and eventually lost one heart, one spade and two clubs for down one.

The second South was more of a gambler. He started by leading a spade. East rose with the ace and returned the suit. South took his king, finessed the heart, cashed dummy's ace of hearts, ruffed dummy's last spade, finessed dummy's queen of diamonds, discarded one club on dummy's ace of diamonds and made his contract.

Of course, East could have beaten the hand. All East had to do after cashing his ace of spades would have been to lead king and another club. West would ruff and still be able to make a trump trick.

Did East make an error? The answer is "Yes."

Although he had filed for divorce last March 17, charging incompatibility, Cooley and his wife of 15 years had returned to their hillside ranch, 80 miles northeast of Los Angeles, over the weekend. In his divorce suit, Cooley had sought custody of their two children.

Orthodox Faith Plans Services

Solemn Holy Week services will be observed this week by members of the Eastern Orthodox faith.

Holy Week in this faith always follows the Jewish passover, as did the original occurrences at the time of Christ's crucifixion.

This year the local Greek Orthodox community has completed plans for the observance of Holy Week with religious services in Kingston.

Through the cooperation of Archbishop Iakovos and through the generosity of the Holy Cross Church on Pine Grove Avenue, this city, members of the Eastern Orthodox faith will be able to worship during Holy Week in their own community for the first time.

The Greek Orthodox community of Kingston cordially invites all Orthodox Christians, whether members of the local group or not, to attend services at Holy Cross Church, as follows:

Maundy Thursday at 8 p. m., April 6; Good Friday, 8 p. m., April 7; Saturday Holy Communion, 9 a. m. April 8, and midnight services Easter, 11 p. m., Saturday, April 8.

Background Is Given of Winners In Science Fair

Today's article is the first in a series of 13 about the first prize winners in the third annual Kingston (Consolidated) Schools Science Fair. In total, some 51 students of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will represent the district at the third annual Mid-Hudson School Study Council Science Fair at the College of Education in New Paltz, May 12.

This series will review, school by school, the first place winners, touching on various backgrounds and interesting aspects of the winning projects.

The first article deals with the three prize winners at the Port Ewen School:

Robert C. Courtney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Courtney; Donna Miraldi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Miraldi and Diane Freese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Freese.

The fourth grade winner at Port Ewen School, Robert C. Courtney, combined an interest in electricity and summer camp experience into a blue ribbon. Robert, was declared the winner with a project that dealt with flowing electricity. The idea for the winning exhibit grew out of some experiments with electricity that he conducted last summer as a Boy Scout at Camp Tri-Mount.

The fifth grade blue ribbon was awarded to 10-year-old Donna Miraldi for a project featuring the earth and sky. Donna credits the idea for her winning display to a resource book she read. After first planning the display Donna reported she obtained the materials necessary for her project from her own back yard, magazines, and other sources close to home.

Diane Freese captured the sixth grade blue ribbon with a project that involved a simple battery. The idea for Diane's display originated with a laboratory experiment she saw while reading an electronics book. Diane, who wants to be a teacher, said she was able to gather the needed materials for her project from around the house.

Grand prizes at the New Paltz Fair include United states Savings Bonds.

The second article in this current series on the Science Fair winners will be on the winners at Hurley School.

World Monies Now At Broadway Bank

A colorful exhibit of monies used by member countries of the United Nations will be on display at the Central Branch of the Kingston Trust Company, 518 Broadway, beginning today. The exhibit also will be on display next week at the Kingston Trust Company booth at the Lions Club Exposition.

The exhibit is loaned to the Trust Company from the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York. It is part of that bank's vast Museum of Money of the World consisting of approximately 75,000 specimens.

Wide Divergence

This display graphically shows the wide divergence in types of money now being used in the world. To Americans familiar only with the United States dollars, the different sizes and shapes and varied designs of the display may come as a surprise. Many of the notes have what appear to be blank spaces, but which contain a water-mark to make counterfeiting more difficult.

Few countries, however, use the same paper money. Liberia and the Republic of Panama both use the United States dollar. The Ukranian Soviet Socialist Republic and Byelorussia, each a separate member of the UN, use the ruble of the Russian Union of Socialist Soviet Republics.

Women on Some

Pictures of women are featured in the currency design of many nations. Luxemberg bills display a likeness of that tiny country's Grand Duchess and an Indian girl graces the money of Nicaragua. The goddess of Liberty and Justice, which once appeared on American bills, still are depicted on the paper money currencies of many lands, notably those of Latin America.

Kings, presidents and patriots are portrayed on notes of several countries. Venezuelan currency shows the likeness of Simon Bolivar, the "George Washington" of South America and its currency unit is named in his honor.

Somebody Erred; Who Was It?

South has a rather normal preemptive three heart opening and needless to say North can afford the raise to game. At least both North-South pairs bid to game by that method.

Both West players led the eight of clubs. Both South's called for the ace from dummy and both South players proceeded to do a lot of thinking before making their next plays.

The first South player took a prosaic method. He led ace of diamonds; ruffed a diamond; finessed the heart; cashed dummy's ace of hearts; led a spade and eventually lost one heart, one spade and two clubs for down one.

The second South was more of a gambler. He started by leading a spade. East rose with the ace and returned the suit. South took his king, finessed the heart, cashed dummy's ace of hearts, ruffed dummy's last spade, finessed dummy's queen of diamonds, discarded one club on dummy's ace of diamonds and made his contract.

Of course, East could have beaten the hand. All East had to do after cashing his ace of spades would have been to lead king and another club. West would ruff and still be able to make a trump trick.

Did East make an error? The answer is "Yes."
